DUCE TO CONFER WITH M'DONALD OVER WEEK-END

British Foreign Office's Head Also Invited to Rome.

MUSSOLINI TO URGE QUICK DISARMAMENT

Italian Deputies Denounce "Mad Arming" of Jugoslavia and Roumania.

Rome, March 15 (A.P.).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, his foreign secretary, will meet Premier Mussolini in Rome Saturday to discuss means of salvaging the disarmament conference, it was officially announced tonight.

A statement issued at the foreign office said the British statesmen were coming at the express invitation of Premier Mussolini. They are to leave Geneva, where they are at present, Friday night. They stay in Rome is expected to be limited to the week-end, with one conference held Saturday and perhaps another Sunday.

The official statement merely said that the presence of the British statesmen in Geneva suggested to Premier Mussolini an opportunity for a meeting before their return to England.

"Mad Arming" Assailed.

The communique did not enter into any detail on the subject of the conversations, but it is expected Premier Mussolini, in line with his insistent policy, will urge combined backing for a demand for quick and effective disarmament or at least a prolonged truce.

During a discussion of the military budget in the Chamber of Deputies today a parliamentary broadside was delivered against the alleged "mad arming" of Jugoslavia and Roumania.

Deputies charged that France and Czechoslovakia are aiding in this "aggressive preparation" which not only is a threat to the disarmament conference, they said, but also to the peace of Europe.

Other Conferees Rumored.

Before the official communique was issued it was reported that the meeting of the statesmen this week-end would be secret, with Mr. MacDonald, Premier Mussolini, Premier Edouard Daladier of France and possibly Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany attending. France has agreed to be present, it was reported, but she desires to have the little entente, composed of Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Roumania, represented. Italy objects to this as enlarging the circle too much.

This would be the first time Premier Mussolini had taken part in an international conference since the Locarno pact was negotiated in 1925.

DAVIS TO ATTEMPT NEW DEAL ON ARMS

Discusses With Secretary Hull Plan to Be Tried at Conference.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Roosevelt's gospel of the "new deal" will be brought to the disarmament conference by that apostle of diplomatic conciliation, Norman H. Davis, in a hitherto untried approach to the problem of international armament, it became known here last night. Mr. Davis conferred with the President at some length yesterday and spent the major part of the afternoon in consultation with Secretary of State Cordell Hull working on the details of the new American plan for saving the Geneva Conference from disruption and perhaps disaster.

All is not lost at Geneva, it is believed here in authoritative circles. The sudden flare-up in international politics stoked by Nazi electoral successes and fed by Polish military activity along the Corridor has just as suddenly subsided. The fact that relations between the nations of Europe are at such a tense moment, is adduced as the very argument required for definite salvation of the disarmament conversations or the

WALL STREET PRICES SPURT ON REOPENING

GRAIN AND COTTON QUOTATIONS FIRMER

Reforestation, Public Works and Farm Aid Pushed by Roosevelt.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Shell-shocked Wall street got its first open look at the new deal yesterday and when debits and credits were struck late last night on an epoch-making session the money changers in the temple called it good.

Authoritative estimates placed the day's increment of share values on the New York Stock Exchange at approximately $2,500,000,000; another $1,000,000,000, in round numbers, was added to the bond list, and millions more were realized in swiftly reflated curb issues.

Gains were practically universal throughout the stock list on the big board, and United States Governments led the gala day in bonds.

As buying orders flooded in from all directions the tickers, which at first rasped after their eleven-day paralysis, began to click rythmically about noon, and gradually speeded up to a happy-days hum for the closing gong.

Transactions Near Peak.

Share transactions on the stock exchange totaled 3,061,287, a figure perilously approaching the norm of the late lamented new economic era, and the Standard Statistics 90-stock composite price showed an increase for the day of 7.7 points, one of the sharpest advances for a single session since this weighted index was devised back in 1926.

The national bank holiday, if one may judge by prices and values, was something out of the ordinary in the way of outstanding successes. The American temperament once more appears to be veered definitely toward the conviction that things are fundamentally sound, if not better.

As compared with closing prices on the last previous trading day, March 3, yesterday's composite index showed an appreciation of more than 16 per cent in stock values. Last prices virtually wiped out in most cases the whole range of February losses occasioned by the then wobbling banking situation.

While the principal American commodity exchanges were closed, grain and cotton prices abroad reflected this

Japanese Army Adopts "Wait-and-See" Policy

Tokyo (Thursday), March 16 (U.P.). Japan's Kwantung army is following a "wait and see" policy with regard to Chinese counterattacks at the Great Wall, the newspaper Jiji said today. The paper's Changchun correspondent said many officers are in favor of an immediate Japanese drive into China proper.

In an official statement, the war office today declared that if the counterattacks continue, Japan will be forced to begin a general offensive directed at China, for which, the statement said, Chinese will be entirely responsible.

Pecora Delays Inquiry Of Commercial Banks

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Ferdinand Pecora, counsel to the Senate subcommittee investigating banks and stock exchange practices, said today that further inquiry into commercial banks would be deferred "until the banking situation composes itself."

The committee will move immediately, however, to investigate private banks, investment houses and investment trusts, Pecora asserted in an interview. No date has been set for the next public hearing.

Dr. Goebbels Outlines Paper Criticism Rule

Berlin, March 15 (A.P.).—Dr. Joseph Goebbels, the new propaganda chief for the German government, laid down a rule today that German newspapers may criticize the administration providing their criticism can not be used by oppositionists to the government's detriment.

He announced this regulation at a conference at which he introduced himself to the German press. Newspapers, he asserted, must inform the people what the governmnt is doing and why.

Rump Rout

Austrian Troops Disperse Parliament Session Opposing Dollfuss.

Vienna, March 15 (A.P.).—Members of the Austrian Parliament opposed to the Dollfuss dictatorship conducted a rump session lasting a few seconds this afternoon and were forcibly cleared out of the hall by police immediately after adopting a resolution for adjournment.

Rumors circulated that the Heimwehr, the Fascist army, was about to be sworn in to serve as emergency police. Members of the Heimwehr in uniform occupied the building formerly used by the ministry of agriculture, and attempts were made to keep the public ignorant of all troop concentrations.

Meanwhile Vienna was stirred by all sorts of reports concerning developments in Germany. Indicative of the tension was a great demonstration near the opera house, resulting from the displaying by a news vendor of a poster reading "The Germans Are Coming." The poster turned out to be nothing more than an advertising leaflet, but the excited crowds thought Hitler's Brownshirts were pouring over the border from Germany.

Police have mounted machine guns on the top of the Burgtor, the great gate leading from the Ringstrasse to Heldenplatz, and armored cars were being held in readiness tonight in Heldenplatz.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, who assumed dictatorial powers more than a week ago, and President Miklas had ordered that no session of Parliament be held, and police were stationed in the meeting hall this afternoon when opposition leaders announced they would attempt to convene a rump session.

D. C. BANK DEPOSITS CONTINUE BIG GAINS

Roosevelt Is Commended by Manufacturers Society for Strong Action.

The wave of confidence which came in the wake of the banking holiday continued unabated yesterday, with depositors inquiring at all local licensed banks in a torrent of new accounts and redeposited currency.

Wearied clerks were met with a rush of depositors when the banks opened, and this continued throughout the day. There was no accurate estimate available of money deposited, although informed bankers estimated that the number of new accounts would equal, and perhaps surpass, the number opened on Tuesday.

The great bulk of depositors was made of Government workers, who were paid yesterday, and who were also returning to the vaults the money received by cashing their pay checks during the holiday, and which they were unable to deposit at that time.

Business houses reported a continued upward trend in sales and customers were generally reported to be liberal in their purchases. Trading was also heavy at the local offices of New York Stock Exchange firms.

The stream of deposits was augmented by those of large corporations throughout the country who maintained accounts at local banks. These corporations, who were hit early by holidays in the various States, had

Prague Minister Sure Czech Army Prepared

Nazis' War Games Protested by Paris

Rifle Fire Along Border of Alsace Alarms Residents of Province.

Strasbourg, Alsace, Franco-German Border, March 15 (U.P.).—The rattle of rifle fire during night maneuvers by Nazi forces on the German side of the Rhine aroused new anxiety in the disturbed frontier zone today.

The Nazi maneuvers continued, despite sharp protests by France to the German government declaring these tactics violated the treaty of Versailles.

The Fascist troops, clad in their uniforms, staged maneuvers last night in the low mountains near Freibourg. The men, members of the "SS," or home-protection force, and the "SA," or storm troops, marched all through the night, firing rifles from time to time.

Illinois House Adopts Sales Tax for Relief

Springfield, Ill., March 15 (A.P.).—A 3 per cent sales tax in Illinois, designed to produce $60,000,000 a year for unemployment relief, was voted in the Illinois House of Representatives late today, 108 to 45.

The bill now goes to the Senate for concurrency in some minor amendments, and then to Gov. Henry Horner, its sponsor, for signature.

BEER AND WINE LAW ONLY A FEW HOURS DISTANT

Bill Modifying Volstead Act Is Reported to Senate.

WINE IS INCLUDED INSTANCE OF M'ADOO

Speed of Chamber's Vote to Depend on Borah and Sheppard.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Modification of the Volstead law to permit manufacture of 3.2 beer and wine is merely a question of a brief period of hours. The bill to do it will be brought on the floor of the Senate today.

Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, made good yesterday his promise that his committee would, without delay, favorably report the beer bill which had been passed so speedily by the House in response to the famous 72-word special message from President Roosevelt.

Senator Harrison is to call the Cullen-Harrison Volstead modification bill up today and passage is regarded as a certainty. Time of its passage is merely a question of how long some of the die-hard representatives of the Antisaloon League and other prohibition organizations in the Senate want to talk. Senator Harrison said he expected its passage "within one sitting of the Senate."

McAdoo Goes Wet.

As submitted to the Senate by the Finance Committee chairman, the bill was substantially the same as passed by the House with the exception of the provision including wines and vinous liquors. Wayne B. Wheeler, one-time czar of the dry movement and political dicator of the country, probably turned over in his grave when the wine provision was added to the bill. If he lived to see the day when the tall, slim, hawk-nosed idol of the drys of bygone days, William Gibbs McAdoo, would sponsor a weakening of the prohibition law his heart undoubtedly would have been broken.

The provision to include wines and vinous beverages of not more than 3.2 alcoholic content in the beer legalization bill was accepted at the suggestion of the senator from California. It was the fact that Mr. McAdoo carried flauntingly high the banner of the prohibitionists that led to the historic Democratic convention fight in Madison Square Garden in 1924. It was in that convention that Alfred E. Smith and his supporters locked horns with the forces supporting Mr. McAdoo and the resulting fight destroyed the chances of Democratic victory at the polls for eight years.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Democrat), Arkansas, party leader in

Pinchot Saves Slayer Of Husband From Chair

Harrisburg, Pa., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today spared the life of Mrs. Mary Stankiewicz, of Shamokin, who was condemned to die in the electric chair for the hammer murder of her husband. On the recommendation of the State Board of Pardons, the governor commuted her sentence from death to life imprisonment.

The middle-aged housewife, also known as Mary Stancavage, was sentenced to die for the slaying of her 75-year-old husband, Jacob, at the Stankiewicz home in November. They were married only eight months.

Kibitzers to Join Jig-Saw Contest of Federal Diary

Kennedy-Warren Will Be Place, March 30 the Time, and Government Workers "It" in Unique Puzzle Competition.

The beautiful ballroom of the Kennedy-Warren Apartment Hotel, 3133 Connecticut avenue, will be the scene of the next of a series of interesting events sponsored by the Federal Diary column of The Washington Post, which will take the form of a jig-saw puzzle contest to be held Thursday night, March 30.

Swarmi Fedd, the mystic character whose deeds and revelations frequently enliven the daily column conducted by George D. Riley, has confessed that the convolutions of the latest picture-puzzles have so greatly taxed his powers that he is anxious to have some of the experts of the Federal Departments give a practical example of just how the problems are solved. According to the famous "seer of Port Said," the man or woman who first reveals how quickly he solved the latest issue of the weekly puzzle hasn't a chance . . . it's the last speaker who always did it in the shortest time. For that reason the Swarmi has received a shipment of exclusive puzzles—each one a duplicate of others to be used in the contest, however—and the sound of a whistle will start each contestant on an equal footing in the race to win

SENATE PASSES BILL TO CUT HALF BILLION IN FEDERAL EXPENSE

Powers Given President Under Economy Measure

(Associated Press.)

Major provisions of the emergency economy bill giving President Roosevelt authority to curtail veterans' allowances and to reduce salaries of Government employes, follow:

VETERANS.

It specifies that pensions may be received by:

Any person disabled by disease or injury in the active military or naval service or permanently disabled in service during the Spanish-American War, the Boxer rebellion, the Philippine insurrection or the World War.

The widow, child or children, dependent mother or father of any person who dies of disease or injury incurred in active military or naval service.

The widow and (or) child of any deceased person who served in the active military or naval service during the Spanish-American War, the Boxer rebellion and the Philippine insurrection.

The monthly pension for disability shall be from $6 to $275 and for death from $12 to $75, the rates now in effect. Within these limits, the President is authorized to prescribe the rates payable to the different classes of veterans and their dependents.

For persons specified in the first and second categories, the President is authorized to prescribe the minimum degree of disability and such higher degree, if any, as in his judgment should be recognized. He also is authorized to prescribe the rate of pension payable for each degree of disability.

The President is empowered to differentiate among veterans who served in different wars, those who performed different types of service in the same war, and in payments for disabilities and deaths resulting from (1) service-connected injuries or diseases incurred in wartime service; (2) those resulting from service-connected diseases or injuries incurred in peace-time service; (3) those resulting from nonservice-connected diseases or injuries.

AMENDMENTS ARE DEFEATED

Veteran Benefits and U. S. Pay in Power of President.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate last night, by a vote of 62 to 13, passed the President's $500,000,000 economy bill, imposing a maximum 15 per cent pay cut on all Federal employes and reducing veterans' benefits all along the line.

The measure today will go to conference with the House, where minor differences will be ironed out.

Passage of the drastic measure followed crushing defeat of several attempts to ameliorate its sweeping pay-cut provisions, and rejection of one effort to impose a sliding scale of slashes hitting high Federal salaries.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., (Republican), Wisconsin, launched a futile drive to modify the pay-cut provisions, while Senator Park Trammell (Democrat), Florida, sponsored the unsuccessful attempt to impose additional cuts graduating upward, for employes earning more than $3,000.

$1,000 Exemption Lost.

By a vote of 41 to 32 the Senate refused to exempt Federal employes earning less than $1,000 from the maximum 15 per cent pay cut provided in the bill.

Defeat of the proposal followed a vigorous floor fight, led by Senator La Follette and Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York. In vain Senator Copeland pleaded with senators to protect the low-salaried worker.

"To maintain a family on $2.75 a day," and that's what these workers get, is comparable to the miracle of the loaves and the fishes," he said.

Senator Alben W. Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, and Senator Thomas P. Gore (Democrat), Oklahoma, took the floor to oppose any change in the salary provisions. Senator Barkley declared that the La Follette amendment would set up a selected group of Government employes "on an isle of safety which the President can not reach."

Amendments Are Minor.

Only four out of more than a score of amendments offered yesterday from the floor were accepted by the Senate, and these were relatively unimportant when considered in the light of the bill's broad provisions.

One by Senator Dill (Democrat), Washington, would continue pensions to Spanish-American War veterans 62 years old and over, though the President could change the rates of compensation.

Another, by Senator Copeland, would assure domiciliary care for vet-

$35,000 Hoard Scared Into Bank by Lightning

Louisville, Ky., March 15 (A.P.).—Deciding that a bank was a better place than a haystack in which to keep his savings, a farmer living in Butler County, near here, brought $35,000 in "double eagles" to a local bank today.

Asked by a bank clerk why he had decided to deposit the treasure in the bank instead of leaving it in the haystack where he had hidden it, the farmer answered: "I got to thinkin' that lightnin' might strike that haystack."

ATHLETE STRANGLED TO DEATH IN 'Y' BED

Brother Held After Body Is Found in Improvised Strait-Jacket.

Rochester, N. Y., March 15 (A.P.).—Strangled in a strange strait-jacket, Erich Baumann, 27-year-old gymnast, died in agony before dawn today, and authorities tonight were baffled as to who killed him and why.

Detective Capt. John P. MacDonald called it the most brutal murder in his 30 years on the force.

Baumann died of slow strangulation, Dr. Floyd Winslow said, after an autopsy. He had been dead about five hours when a chambermaid found his body clad in shorts and socks, face down on his bed in the Y. M. C. A. dormitory.

The strait-jacket had been improvised from a camper's sleeping bag identified as Baumann's. Straps and ropes were fastened tightly about his ankles, knees, thighs, chest and neck. Another rope with a slip knot was tied around his neck and attached to his ankles in such a way that any at-

Three-Power Agreement Proposed by Matsuoka

London, March 15 (U.P.).—A proposal that the United States, Great Britain and Japan consider negotiating a three-power treaty to replace the old Anglo-Japanese alliance was made by Yosuke Matsuoka, chief Japanese delegate to the League of Nations, in a press statement today.

Matsuoka said that before the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance in 1921, at the Washington conference, it had been considered "a most important stabilising influence in the Far East."

Oil Overproduction Conference Called

Ickes Invites Governors to Consider Regulation Here March 27.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Ickes has issued a call to governors of oil-producing States to meet in Washington March 27 to consider regulation of overproduction of petroleum products.

The Governors of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and California, four of the principal oil-producing States, already have agreed to be present or to send representatives to the conference here.

The aim of the meeting will be the curtailment of oil production so as to benefit all concerned.

"Lawrence of Arabia" Asks to Quit Air Force

London, March 15 (A.P.).—Aircraftsman Shaw, better known as "Lawrence of Arabia," has asked to be discharged from the royal air force, where he has languished since his eventful days in the desert.

The air ministry said tonight that his application for discharge was under consideration. It is understood that no explanation was given as to the grounds on which discharge was desired and that no application had been previously received for his transfer from his present station, Mountbatten, Plymouth.

FLOOD ON OHIO RIVER INVADES WHEELING

4,000 Persons Marooned in Homes; One Road Alone Stays Open.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 15 (A.P.). Wheeling watched apprehensively tonight as the flood waters of the Ohio River crept into the business district, inch by inch, after covering half of Wheeling Island.

Police estimated that more than 4,000 persons were marooned in their homes—most of them residents of South Wheeling, where large stretches are under water.

Weather observers said the yellow waters reached the 40-foot stage before midnight and predicted that the river would swell to 42 feet by morning.

With only the national road, leading to Washington, Pa., remaining open, Wheeling was nearly isolated by muddy water. Train and trolley service was practically at a standstill tonight.

Merchants and home owners worked feverishly moving their possessions from basements to the upper stories of their stores and dwellings.

Pittsburgh, March 16 (A.P.).—Battered river craft were strewn along the banks of rain-swollen rivers tonight, as the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio churned seaward at flood stage.

Counting their losses at several hundred thousand dollars, rivermen stood guard over their vessels and

West to Race Watson For Garner House Job

San Antonio, Tex., March 15 (A.P.). Milton West, Brownsville attorney and member of the Texas Legislature, tonight apparently had a sufficient lead over Gordon Griffin, McAllen attorney, in the Fifteenth Congressional District run-off primary to insure him the Democratic nomination in the special election set for April 22.

Carlos Watson, of Brownsville, is the Republican candidate in the election to name the successor to Vice President John N. Garner, who represented the district on Congress 30 years. Returns from 22 out of 23 counties gave West, 11,082; Griffin, 7,703.

DEPOSITORS IN DARK ON HARRIMAN DEBITS

New York Giants' Account Is Among Those Said to Have Been Looted.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Depositors in the Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., whose founder and chairman, Joseph W. Harriman, was arrested in his sick bed last night, was understood to have told investigators today they had no knowledge of certain charges made against their accounts.

Harriman, who is under $25,000 bail, charged with making false entries aggregating $320,145, is alleged to have misused $1,393,000 of the depositors' money to rig the market for the bank's stock.

While 14 of the 40 witnesses who have been subpenaed were examined today by Arthur H. Schwartz, assistant United States attorney, his chief, George Z. Medalie, said he was trying to determine whether additional funds had been mishandled and whether any criminal responsibility attached to other officers and directors of the bank.

The alleged false entries of $320,145 are specified as having been made in the accounts of the National Exhibition Co., owners of the New York Giants; Alfred Hofman, Inc., and Fred T. Mueller.

3 Clarke County Banks Report Heavy Deposits

Their deposits today by far exceeded withdrawals.

drawn heavily upon their accounts here before the Presidential holiday proclamation. The money so withdrawn began to return yesterday. The amount of their deposits, bankers said, amounted to several millions.

Money also poured into the banks from the Washington Clearing House Association, which began the interchange of checks between institutions here. A great number of checks drawn on out-of-town banks were also moved through the clearing house.

Henry H. McKee, chairman of the Clearing House Association, said people seemed more "relieved at the opportunity again to reestablish banking relations and to carry on normal banking activities. There was a spirit of real optimism and confidence.

James E. Colliflower, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, said yesterday that as a result of the opening of the banks Tuesday business in Washington had shown marked improvement, and that a new spirit of renewed confidence seemed to prevail throughout the business district. The gloom, which prevailed last week, has entirely disappeared and optimism and faith in the future has taken its place, he declared.

Mr. Colliflower stated the association, through its executive committee, had dispatched a letter to President Roosevelt commending him for the prompt action taken in the recent financial crisis and assuring the Chief Executive of the whole-hearted support of the association in this emergency.

Steady Gain Expected.

Robert J. Cottrell, executive secretary of the Washington Board of Trade, said: "The unprecedented flow of deposits alone testifies to the continuance of reasonably normal business in Washington."

Speaking of the banking stringency, he said, "It is gratifying that through it all business was continued as usual and that people pursued their normal routine. There is every reason to anticipate that the succeeding months will find business houses of Washington enjoying an increased patronage.

The outlook for tourist trade this year is good, according to Curtis A. Hodges, executive director of the greater National Capital committee of the Board of Trade. The number of requests for hotel reservations and for information showed an increase of 50 per cent for the week of March 13 over the same period of last year.

Appraisal of Assets.

The Washington Stock Exchange will reopen today for business, the board of governors decided yesterday. The exchange has been closed through the bank holiday.

In a resolution the board of governors said, "Trading is to be in all listed bonds and stocks of public utility companies and such other securities as may be admitted for trading from time to time on order of the board of governors.

The conservators of the thirteen banks which have not yet been licensed will have to appraise the assets of the bank before any definite steps are taken toward reopening or reorganizing them.

New York's Police Guard Shooed by Mrs. Roosevelt

First Lady, Making Brief, Busy Visit to Home Town, Effectively Objects to Details of "Finest" Sent to Protect Her.

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, back in New York for a visit of less than 48 hours, shooed away the police detailed to guard her today, walked down Fifth avenue, bought a tea strainer for the White House, lunched at the Women's Trade Union League and attended a wedding, wearing her inaugural gown.

Her encounter with the police occurred as she drove up on the opposite side of the street from the Women's Trade Union League, on lower Lexington avenue. She arrived in a taxicab. Four policemen were lined up in front of the league.

"My word," she said, "what are all those police doing there?"

Then, as the realization struck her, she jumped out of the cab and hurried across the street.

"What are you doing here?" she demanded of one of the policemen.

"We've been detailed to guard you, ma'am," he replied meekly.

"I don't want any guard," Mrs. Roosevelt replied firmly. "I don't need any guard. Nobody is going to harm me. I want you to go away."

"We can't," the policeman replied. "The captain sent us. We've got to stay. They've sent police details to every place where you're going today."

"What can I do to get rid of you, please?" said Mrs. Roosevelt.

"You might send for the captain," the policeman suggested after a moment's hesitation.

Mrs. Roosevelt passed on into the club and right upstairs to the telephone. Indirectly she got in touch with Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney. A few minutes later a police captain appeared.

"They told me to send ten, but I only sent four because I knew you wouldn't like it," he said soothingly.

"Well, please take them away," Mrs. Roosevelt smiled. "I don't need them."

They went away.

Today was as busy as Mrs. Roosevelt's days in New York used to be before she moved to Washington. And there was a broad smile on her face all day as she hurried from appointment to appointment.

Tonight Mrs. Roosevelt had a private dinner engagement with friends. She will return to Washington tomorrow morning.

"If the weather is suitable, I'll fly," she said. "If it isn't I'll have to take a train about 8 o'clock, because I have to be back at the White House for lunch."

SECURITIES UP ON REOPENING; ROOSEVELT SPEEDS AID PLANS

On Capitol Hill, the resumption boom burst with a bang in the face of Senator Huey Long, of Louisiana, and his ill-tempered and uncharitable harangue on the rights of insolvent State banks, on the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Board and the honorable Carter Glass, of Virginia, was purely a matter for the Record.

Mr. Long's inquiry concerning Tuesday's Robinson bill, which amended last week's emergency banking legislation, brought from the Democratic leader the admission it had not been sent to the House, and from Vice President Garner the suggestion that while the delay was not precisely covered by precedents, everything appeared to be perfectly all right.

Senator Robinson added as a matter of form, that he had asked the bill clerk to hold up the measure pending its possible reconsideration upon the return of Mr. Glass, who was confined in his Washington town house with a slight cold.

Senator Long Is Unhappy.

Senator Long was very unhappy about it all, but there appeared little to be done about it save snarl.

Meanwhile, at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue, President Roosevelt pressed forward with his immediate legislative program touching employment and farm relief, which he is prepared to lay before Congress today or tomorrow.

The President anticipates that the emergency economy measure and the beer bill will be enacted this week. He hopes that the relief and farm measures then may be passed before the present session adjourns. After a recess of four or six weeks, Congress might then, under present plans, return to take up its longer-range legislative program.

International Agreements.

Mr. Roosevelt also is understood to have interested himself recently in an ambitious project looking to international agreements curbing excessive production of the principal farm crops. He is hopeful that these questions, which already have been unofficially explored, may yield to a tentative plan of action prior to the assembly of the world economic conference in London this summer.

The President's plans touching employment at home are not yet in definite form. He feels they probably must be approached experimentally. But his general objective is to submit a measure which will put men to work immediately.

Through a general reforestation program in the Eastern half of the country, he believes, a beginning could be made during the next three or four weeks. Eventually this experimental venture might put as many as 200,000 men to work for a year.

Within Broad Limits.

"Within broad limits, the necessary money would be provided from unexpended balances now accruing in the Treasury on other authorizations. In line with the urgent need for stringent Federal economy, Mr. Roosevelt will insist that appropriations for the relief program be held down as much as possible. No figures are available as to what the reforestation project would cost, but Budget Director Douglas now is working on the details.

The forest crews would be employed at thinning excessive second-growth lands. They would live in camps operated by the Government. To a large extent those employed would be recruited from the ranks of those now living on community doles.

The President believes the scheme finally decided upon should be launched in the East because in that section industrial unemployment is more distressing than in the West, where the Federal forest ranges are more accessible.

As outlined in its present nebulous form, the President's plan contemplates close cooperation with the States.

Voluntary Acreage Cuts.

The second immediately pressing need in the broad program for economy recovery, as the President sees it, is some legislation to advance farm prices. If these measures can not be accomplished during the next few weeks the 1933 crops will be seeded and the whole problem might as well be left for the December session.

Mr. Roosevelt is prepared to submit his recommendations to Congress this week. Generally, it is expected his message will deal with the idea of withdrawing marginal acreage by Government leases, with possibly some measure of bounties for voluntary acreage reduction. The plan eventually devised also must look to a sharp diminution of present burdensome surpluses in the major farm products. Essential revenues for financing the plan well might be collected from some sort of processing tax, not precisely along the lines of the domestic allotment plan, but probably administered about that way. The plan should be general in its application rather than limited to one or two crops.

President Roosevelt has not definitely given up the idea of a huge Federal bond issue to finance national public works. But no constructive thought can be given this question until more detailed project figures are available.

Public Works Program.

At the Department of Labor yesterday, it was indicated officially that Secretary Perkins is whipping into final form for presentation to Congress a broad-gauge public works program which contemplates an eventual outlay of about $2,500,000,000. This sum would be divided between R. F. C. relief loans and essential public works advances. There is no indication as yet, however, that this plan has received President Roosevelt's personal indorsement.

Meanwhile, the smaller experimental venture in reforestation will be urged separately. It is unknown whether either of these plans contemplates the Muscle Shoals development outlined by Mr. Roosevelt several weeks ago at Warm Springs.

The reforestation program, Mr. Roosevelt feels, should be regarded as a national conservation measure as well as a means of providing employment. The disappearance of timber stands during the last quarter-century presents a national problem of grave implications. By thinning out present cut-over stands, a new lumber supply might be provided for future generations.

Second Growth Lands.

In some Eastern States, second-growth lands now support 5,000 saplings to the acre. By reducing this stand to 1,000 trees to the acre, productive forests might be made to grow. Left alone, the present stands will destroy themselves by impoverishing the soil before the trees mature.

Along with this work the camp crews would develop better forest protection through fire-breaks, policing and patrol.

The President feels that the banking situation has righted itself in marvelous fashion and that Secretary Woodin and the Federal Reserve Board have matters well in hand. For the present, Mr. Roosevelt is devoting himself almost exclusively to advancing the emergency legislation program through Congress.

Rapid-Fire Developments.

Brokerage opinion was a bit at sixes and sevens last night concerning the life expectancy of the resumption boom. Some traders marked yesterday's skyrocketing as an ephemeral surge of bullish sentiment inspired by the rapid-fire developments in Washington since March 4. Others marked it for a deep-rooted expression of confidence following the laying of the banking-collapse specter, which had hung over the country like a death pall almost incessantly since England left the gold standard in October, 1931. Still another section of solid opinion characterized the day as the big turn to business restoration.

All agreed that, whatever its ultimate significance, the upturn is all for the good. It provides a sorely needed breathing spell in the financial sunlight after a period of darkness which gave many stalwarts the Oriental jitters. If the basic business indices are picked up by the new surge of buoyant optimism, real recovery might well be, as has so often been said, just around the corner.

Bearish Attack Anticipated.

But indices aside, all comment agrees, the business of balancing the budget is seriously in hand in Washington—and that is what some people have harped incessantly for two years was to be the beginning of all things.

To that extent, therefore, plus the fact that the bank holiday revealed a business and financial stamina few would have dared predict, a Roosevelt boom may be said to be here.

There are still a great many hobgoblins in the economic woods. Some of them are terribly real and distressingly advanced toward popping—as was the banking situation in mid-February. But there is a new spirit of hope, confidence and courage abroad in the land.

Some say it is the new deal in action. Some say the country is merely looking up from the new low level of the national bank-holiday morale.

The power of the bears to crack bullish knuckles about Friday or Saturday this week probably will reveal the best answer we shall have during the next few months.

West Virginia Minister Asks Beer Bill Hearing

(Associated Press.)

The Rev. Alvin T. Perkins, of Piedmont, W. Va., asked Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee in a telegram yesterday to grant hearings on the beer bill.

The minister, who protested against the Collier beer bill at the House hearings on that measure last December, said he had "new testimony" to offer against the Cullen beer bill, which he characterized as "class legislation and sheer financial folly."

Boulaye Leaves Paris April 5.

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—Andre Lefevre de la Boulaye, new French Ambassador to the United States, will leave April 5 for his new post.

DEPOSITS FLOODING U. S. RESERVE ZONES

Banks From Coast to Coast Reopen for Business and Find Trade Brisk.

Boston, March 15 (A.P.).—Banking in New England approached return to preholiday conditions today with the reopening of Federal Reserve and State-controlled commercial banks bringing the total number now functioning to 480 out of the 617 in the First Federal Reserve District.

The only restrictions on the reopened banks was that forbidding the withdrawal of gold or gold certificates and in Vermont, where withdrawals of currency were limited to $10 for either personal or pay-roll purposes.

Of the total banks now doing business again 268 were Federal Reserve banks and 212 State-controlled.

Third District Reports.

Philadelphia, March 15 (A.P.).—Banks throughout the Third Federal Reserve District reopened by the hundreds today for "normal" business and received a steady stream of deposits.

Nearly 700 of the banks opened for the first time since the declaration of the banking holiday, restoring bank facilities to all parts of Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and Delaware.

Because of the rush to deposit funds and to exchange hoarded gold, the Philadelphia Clearing House Association announced the abandonment of scrip.

Cleveland, March 15 (A.P.).—A total of 851 banks, including members and nonmembers of the Federal Reserve system, were open for full-time activities in the Fourth Federal Reserve District today. The summary (excluding nonmember banks in eastern Kentucky):

Member banks open, 389 (391 opened today); nonmember banks open 462 (384 opened today). Total open, 851.

Total number of banks in this district—approximately 1,321, of which 631 are members of the Federal Reserve.

Richmond Reports 713 Open.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—With at least 713 of the 1,291 banks in the Fifth Federal Reserve district open for business today, banking operations were conducted at a near-normal gait.

Meanwhile, Federal and State officials continued their check to determine the "soundness" of other applicants for authorization to open.

At least 266 of the 389 member banks in the Reserve district were open. Of this number 120 were in Virginia, 56 in West Virginia, 33 in North Carolina, 19 in South Carolina, 30 in Maryland and 8 in the District of Columbia.

Atlanta Reports Confidence.

Atlanta, March 15 (A.P.).—The South went about its jobs today, whistling in the sunshine because banking operations were virtually normal, business was better and spring is just around the bend.

Reports from Florida to Louisiana to Tennessee—confines of the Sixth Federal Reserve District—were cheerful. At least 258 of the 316 Federal Reserve member banks in the district were doing business again and all reported deposits greatly outnumbered withdrawals.

Many nonmember banks also were reopened, but an accurate estimate of the number was not available. Lists of State banks to reopen have not been made public.

Chicago and St. Louis.

Chicago, March 15 (A.P.).—Like the banks, business opened up today in the Seventh Federal Deserve District, centering from Chicago.

More than half of the Federal Reserve member banks—407 out of 795 in the district—were open for business. The business was new deposits.

St. Louis, March 15 (A.P.).—The banking machinery in the Eighth Federal Reserve District began to function today with a semblance of normalcy, as more than one-half of its banks, both members and nonmembers, were open for business.

Including those which opened Monday and Tuesday, 254 of the 427 member banks, were doing normal business today, and officials of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank estimated that 800 of the 1,448 nonmembers were open under State permits in the district, making a total of approximately 1,054 of the 1,875 institutions transacting business as usual.

Northwest Zone Busy.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 15 (A.P.).—Eighty-one per cent of the Federal Reserve member banks in the Ninth District carried on business in normal fashion today.

By authority of Governor W. B. Geery district bank here, 446 of the 547 banks operated fully in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, northern Michigan and northern Wisconsin.

Most, if not all, of the 101 banks not given permission to function fully did so on a curtailed basis, Geery said. He expected removal of restrictions on some of them soon.

Kansas City, March 15 (A.P.).—Resumption of banking today saw a large majority of State and national banks in the Tenth Federal Reserve District resuming unrestricted business, and the launching of plans by authorities for rehabilitation of the comparatively few remaining closed.

On a basis of estimates by the Federal Reserve Bank here and various State bank commissioners, approximately 2,489 banks in the district were open today without restrictions, 229 under restrictions and 134 remained closed. The total includes part of Missouri in the St. Louis Federal Reserve District.

Southwest Has Rush.

Dallas, Tex., March 15 (A.P.).—Business went forward with a rush in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District today as most member banks conducted their usual transactions for the first time in nearly two weeks.

Gov. B. A. McKinney of the District Reserve Bank here estimated at least 90 per cent of the members opened at the regular hour today. The district embraces all of Texas and small portions of Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.

To the 500-odd reserve members were added an equal number of State banks, trust companies and private banks, ordered reopened by James Shaw, Texas banking commissioner.

Far West Back on Feet.

San Francisco, March 15 (A.P.).—Business came back to life today in the Far West and tonight an even 600 banks in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District had resumed their function of pumping currency and credit through the financial veins of the Pacific slope.

Federal licenses pried open the doors of 386 member banks of the Federal Reserve System, and State licenses oiled the door hinges of 312 nonmember State banks. With these additions the Twelfth District had at least 742 banks doing their regular duties, excepting only payments of gold and currency for hoarding.

Informal estimates in the financial district here were that the bank resources of the seven Pacific States were 90 to 95 per cent in service.

Detroit, March 15 (A.P.).—The dam that for a month has held back Michigan's flow of trade was broken tonight, with currency flowing from 162 of the State's 530 banks, giving immediate impetus to general business.

Oldest in the Nation in point of duration of the banking holiday, the State tonight rejoices in the reopening for commercial business of the 162 banks in 81 cities and towns, with further reopenings promised as soon as the status of remaining banks is checked. Seventy-seven of the banks are members of the Federal Reserve, and 85 are nonmembers.

New Reserve Currency Unneeded in 2 Districts

Kansas City, March 15 (A.P.).—It begins to look as if the new currency allotted to the Tenth District Federal Reserve Bank here and the Eleventh District bank at Dallas, Tex., will not be needed.

Officials at both places reported no application for it. Accumulating deposits appeared ample to meet cash demands.

320 VIRGINIA BANKS RESUME OPERATION

72 Others Being Examined as to Soundness and Two Restricted.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—The end of the third day of the progressive plan for opening banks found 320 of Virginia's 392 banking institutions open for business.

Authorizations for other openings were expected as the Federal Reserve and State officials continued their check to determine the "soundness" of banks.

Added to the 31 banks which opened Monday and Tuesday, 289 institutions swung open their doors today and announced that they were prepared for business. Of this number 281 had been authorized last night and in the early morning hours, and 8 others were announced later today.

Six national banks were added to the list and two State institutions were permitted to open for restricted business.

The national banks, announced from the Fifth District Federal Reserve Bank, were the First National Bank at Christiansburg, the Culpeper National Bank at Culpeper, Second National Bank at Culpeper, Citizens National Bank at Front Royal, First National Bank at Lovingston, Old Point National Bank at Phoebus.

Supplementary orders from the State Corporation Commission authorized two State banks to open on a basis of temporarily limited withdrawals. The Pollard & Bagby Trust Co. of Richmond was one of them and was authorized to require depositors to give ten days' notice of withdrawals. No savings withdrawals are being permitted for the present.

The other, the Commercial Trust & Savings Bank of Lynchburg, was authorized to limit withdrawals of checking and savings deposits to 5 per cent for a period of 60 days. Under the authorization checks in transit, cashier's checks and State and local government checks will be paid.

Kidnap Victim Visits Sankey Ranch House

Chamberlain, S. Dak., March 15 (A.P.).—Charles Boettcher 3d, wealthy Denver broker, visited the Verne Sankey ranch house near here today and said he believed it was the one in which he was held nearly 17 days by kidnapers who obtained $60,000 ransom for his release.

Although he was blindfolded most of the time he was held, Boettcher said he recognized several articles, including certain copies of magazines, an adhesive tape spool and a rug which had a peculiar square design.

Paris Delegates See Improvement in Sugar

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—Marked improvement in the sugar industry is expected this year by delegates to the international sugar conference, which was concluded today.

Studying figures on prospective production, representatives of the member nations agreed that improvement in the relation between production and consumption is to be expected. The conference will meet again in July.

MARYLAND DEPOSITS LEAD WITHDRAWALS

Bank of Bowie's Intake So Large All Restrictions Are Dropped.

Deposits exceeded withdrawals by ratios ranging from 4 to 18 to 1 yesterday as Maryland banks opened for their first day of business since February 25, when Gov. Albert C. Ritchie declared the bank holiday, which was later extended by the Federal Government.

In Bowie the Bank of Bowie opened yesterday restricting withdrawals to 2 per cent of balances. Deposits were so heavy that the bank will open today without any restriction, it was said last night.

William H. Brooke, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Upper Marlboro, reported that he had taken in $18 for every dollar paid out in cash yesterday. His bank is paying off all checks drawn against it before the holiday, which are just now being presented for collection.

All Prince Georges County banks were open yesterday except the Southern Maryland Trust Co. of Seat Pleasant, Md. It is understood that this institution will announce a reorganization plan in a few days. All of them will be open without restriction tomorrow, except the Eastern Shore Trust Co. at Marlboro, which is also being reorganized.

The 4 to 1 ratio of deposits to withdrawals was announced by Maj. E. Brooke Lee, a Silver Spring banker and advisor to Gov. Ritchie. He said that it was true of banks in Silver Spring, Hyattsville, Takoma Park and Bethesda.

Officials of the Prince Georges Bank & Trust Co., of Hyattsville, announced that deposits in that institution and its branch in Mount Rainier, totaled $190,000 yesterday, while withdrawals were small.

Pomerene Assailed For R.F.C. Attitude

Ohio Democrat Flayed by House Members as Hoover Man.

(Associated Press.)

Atlee Pomerene, former chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, was assailed on the House floor yesterday by Representative Howard (Democrat), Nebraska, for his statement that the law authorizing publicity for corporation loans was "damnable and vicious." Representative Rich (Republican), Pennsylvania, interrupted to say that he thought Pomerene was "exactly right."

Lozier (Democrat), Missouri, asked Howard if "the revelation of the National City Bank and Mitchell didn't destroy the last vestiges of faith in the banking system and isn't it true that the bankers are responsible for the situation, having bled the people while selling them worthless foreign securities? Isn't it true that the more publicity we have the sooner we will clean the house and the better it will be for the Nation?" Lozier demanded as Howard agreed and the Democrats applauded.

Rich asked if Pomerene wasn't one of the best known Democrats in Ohio. "Yes, he is one of the best-loved Democrats—by Herbert Hoover," Howard retorted. "Isn't he an outstanding example of the reactionary school of political thought?" demanded Lozier. "He's dean of the school," Howard said.

Farley to Fight Postal Deficit

Promises He Will Recommend Return of 2-Cent Stamp if Expedient.

(Associated Press.)

An intensive effort to wipe out the postal deficit, which may possibly include restoration of the two-cent stamp rate, was promised yesterday by Postmaster General Farley.

He told newspapermen he was having a survey made to assemble all the facts relative to the two and three-cent letter rates, and he will base his decision on that data.

"There seems to be an antipathy in the public mind against the three-cent stamp," he added. "If I find it will help the country and the patrons of the mail service to reestablish the two-cent stamp I will so recommend to Congress immediately."

The three-cent rate went into effect in July, 1932, and is to continue until July, 1934. Postal revenue has steadily declined since, but the Post-office Department had contended this was due to business conditions.

MOSCOW IS SILENT ON BRITISH ARRESTS

Baldwin Tells Commons Protest Fails to Elicit Soviet Explanation.

London, March 15 (A.P.).—Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council and acting prime minister, told the House of Commons today that the British Ambassador at Moscow had been instructed to make representations "in strong terms" to the Soviet government in connection with the recent arrest of British subjects there.

Six British subjects affiliated with the Metropolitan-Vickers Co., a British electrical machinery concern, were arrested Saturday and Sunday, along with 34 other employes. They were charged with sabotage.

Explanation Withheld.

"As the government is convinced there can be no justification for the charges on which the arrests were made," Mr. Baldwin told the House, "the ambassador has been instructed to represent in strong terms the grave view the government takes in these proceedings against British subjects of high standing engaged in normal work for the benefit of both countries and the unfortunate consequences to Anglo-Soviet relations which may follow."

Mr. Baldwin recounted the story of the arrest of the six Britons and the subsequent release of two of them. The British Ambassador, he said, visited the prisoners and found they were permitted to exercise and their health was satisfactory.

The ambassador, Mr. Baldwin said, received "no categorical or satisfactory answer" when he asked to be informed about the exact charges and the facilities which would be granted for the defense of the accused.

Trialless Executions.

Moscow, March 15 (A.P.).—Invoking a ten-year-old law conferring extraordinary powers upon the Ogpu (secret police), the central executive committee today made public a decree calling upon that organization to deal with "special severity" with employes of state institutions guilty of subversive activities.

The extraordinary powers include sentencing and execution without public trial.

The action was the government's answer to a recent roundup of high officials of the commissariats of agriculture and the state farms for alleged counter-revolutionary movements in the agrarian districts.

It also was connected with the more recent arrests of six Englishmen and several Russians connected with the Metropolitan-Vickers Co. and state electrical trusts for alleged sabotage in important electrical stations.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Theaters along Broadway took in $20,000 in checks during the bank holiday, it was disclosed today, and, although 75 per cent of them have been "cleared" through banks, only one has "bounced back."

Tom Burke, manager of the Lyric Theater, was the most amazed of all of the managers. He honored I. O. U.'s in return for tickets. He collected a neat pile of 75 of them.

"I tell you, it's great to be a New Yorker and work with people like that."

34 KILLED, 200 HURT BY TENNESSEE GALE

Ten Die in Nashville; Homes Are Wrecked Throughout State by Tornado.

Nashville, Tenn., March 15 (A.P.).—The trail of a tornado's devastating fury from one end of Tennessee to the other was marked tonight by 34 dead, about 200 injured and piles of wreckage that used to be homes.

The storm arose last night along the western banks of the Mississippi River, in Arkansas and Missouri, and swept eastward without obstacle until the high barriers of the Cumberland Mountains were reached. The terrific wind played no favorites, but treated cities, hamlets and countryside alike.

At least 10 persons were killed in Nashville, the State capital; 7 in Pruden, a mining town near the Tennessee-Kentucky border; 4 in Lebanon, 6 in Kingsport, near the base of the Cumberlands; 1 in Bellwood, 2 in Harrogate, 2 in Rogersville and 1 each in Oswego and Millpoint.

There may have been others killed elsewhere. That remained to be determined with the restoration of communication with remote rural communities.

Meanwhile searchers continue digging into the ruins in quest of bodies and rescue workers are surveying the storm's path for full reports of deaths, injuries and destruction.

The devastation at Pruden left 400 homeless and 350 coal miners without work. About 75 homes were destroyed and the waterworks pumping station was damaged, making it necessary to haul drinking water from a distance.

Relief work and salvaging went forward apace today. National Guardsmen were placed on duty throughout the stricken area. Red Cross workers went into action and doctors and nurses made their way through the debris to care for the injured.

Residents turned vigilantes, armed themselves and stood guard to prevent looting.

FLOOD ON OHIO RIVER INVADES WHEELING

watched the Allegheny and Monongahela fuse their muddy overflow at "The Point," where they unite to form the Ohio. Meanwhile, West Virginia cities reported the Ohio was "rising steadily."

Three derrick boats were sunk in the Monongahela at Pittsburgh, the steamboat P. M. Pfeil smashed to bits, and two towboats damaged. Several of the craft, crashing into bridge piers, damaged sections of them. A barge rammed the Pennsylvania Railroad's Fort Wayne bridge, moving part of it 4 inches.

Cox Withdraws Name From 'Fixed Assignment'

Miami Beach, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—James M. Cox, Ohio and Florida publisher and Democratic Presidential nominee in 1920, who has been discussed prominently as prospective Ambassador to Germany, definitely withdrew his name from consideration today.

Commenting on press dispatches, which said it was understood President Roosevelt had asked the former Ohio governor if he would care to accept the Berlin post, Mr. Cox said there had been no tender and doubtless there will not be for the reason the President knows he can not accept "a fixed assignment."

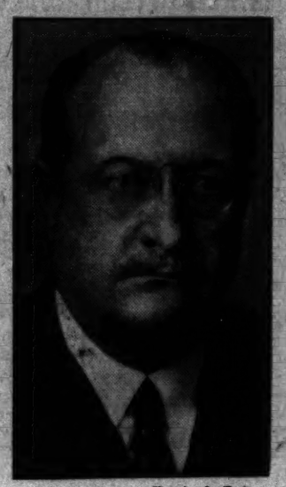
Henry L. Roosevelt Named Assistant Navy Secretary



Harris & Ewing.

Underwood & Underwood.

Sixth Cousin of President, Marine Veteran, Carries On Family Tradition.

(Associated Press.)

The tradition of a Roosevelt as Assistant Secretary of the Navy was continued yesterday with President Roosevelt naming Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, a sixth cousin, to this post.

It was said at the White House that the President had left the selection of an Assistant Secretary to Secretary Swanson and that when he proposed another Roosevelt it came as a surprise to the Chief Executive. The President immediately accepted the suggestion.

Two Roosevelts now have held the place and later gone to the Presidency. Theodore Roosevelt, jr., held it also. He now is retiring from the Governorship General of the Philippines. T. Douglas Robinson, nephew of the first President Roosevelt, was the last of the family to occupy the place.

Henry L. Roosevelt bears the title or colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve. He served with the Marines from 1899 to 1920, when he retired, a lieutenant colonel. He went to Paris then as European representative of the Radio Corporation of America, a post he resigned three years ago. Since then he has lived quietly in Washington at 3023 Q street northwest. He is 53.

Along with the Assistant Secretary's name the President sent that of Capt. Emory S. Land, a cousin of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, to be chief constructor of the Navy with the rank of rear admiral. He also named Perceval S. Rossiter to be Surgeon General of the Navy with the same rank.

An earlier list of nominations named as members of the Shipping Board: Rear Admiral Hutch I. Cone, retired, of Florida, a present member; Gatewood S. Lincoln, of California, and David W. Todd, of New York.

Only one of the President's nominations advanced yesterday toward Senate approval, that of Eugene O. Sykes, of Mississippi, reappointed to the Radio Commission. He is expected to become its chairman.

Henry L. Roosevelt was born in Morristown, N. J., son of Nicholas Latrobe Roosevelt. In 1896 he was appointed from New York State to the Naval Academy, and he stayed in the naval service until the end of the War with Spain, when he resigned. Then he was commissioned second lieutenant in the Marines. By 1903 he was captain and in 1908 he was a major, brigade quartermaster in the Philippines.

In early 1914 Col. Roosevelt was assistant to the naval attache at the embassy in Paris. He was then assigned to Haiti as a director of the constabulary. During the World War he was stationed at Quantico, the principal Eastern Marine base, as quartermaster.

He was married in 1902 to Eleanor Morrow, of San Francisco. They have three children.

DISTRICT BEER BILL WAITS ON NATIONAL

Harrison Fears Introduction of Measures at Same Time Too Confusing.

Hope for a District beer amendment to the national measure scheduled for Senate consideration today, was virtually abandoned last night, when Senate Finance Chairman Pat Harrison indicated party leaders will oppose it.

At the same time Senator Harrison made clear he will do all he can to expedite District beer legislation introduced apart from the national measure.

He fears the local 3.2 per cent beer amendment put forward yesterday by Senator Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, would confuse the local issue.

"There will be plenty of time to pass a District beer bill, after we have disposed of the national problem," said Senator Harrison.

"I am for it. I think the District should have the same privileges in that respect as the States.

Against Complications.

"But if we go into the question of sale and control of District beer when we take up the national measure today, it would hopelessly complicate the situation. The Tydings proposal should go to the Senate District Committee as a separate bill, and hearings held on it."

The Mississippi Senator said he plans to amend the national bill, so that it would become law within 30 days instead of 15. He said this would provide ample time for passage of the local measure, before the national bill goes into effect.

The amendment introduced yesterday by Senator Tydings is identical with a separate bill introduced last session by the Maryland senator, and conforms with a bill introduced in the House Tuesday by Representative Vincent L. Palmisano (Democrat), of Maryland.

Mrs. Norton Is Ill.

The Palmisano measure will be acted on by the House District Committee as soon as Republican assignments to that body have been made. Indications are its organization will be completed today. House Democratic leaders will lend their support.

In the absence of Chairman Mary T. Norton, who has been ill at her hotel for the last few days, Representative Loring M. Black, jr. (Democrat), New York, indicated he will call a meeting of the committee to consider the measure as soon as Republican assignments have been made.

BEER AND WINE LEGALIZING IS ONLY FEW HOURS AWAY

the Senate, has declared enough votes were pledged to the beer bill to assure its passage whenever a vote is had.

When the vote will be taken will depend on the very dry, shaggy-haired Senator William E. Borah (Republican), Idaho; the ardent, agreeable, but nonetheless undeviatingly dry Senator Morris Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, who considers prohibition a sacred thing, and some few others.

Both Senators Borah and Sheppard are expected to talk against the bill. Whether Senator Simeon Fess (Republican), Ohio, another apostle of the Antisaloon League who has been gradually weakening in his dry professions, will talk for very long remains to be seen. Senator Fess's term expires two years hence, and, needless to say, the Democrats are anxious to have his seat also. Senator Borah's term doesn't expire until 1937 and it will be three years before he has to face the voters.

Senator Alban W. Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, is expected to vote for the bill. He couldn't do very much much else in view of his support of the President who asked for immediate modification. But the Senator who believes his corn liquor State is dry at the polls, kept his record clear in the committee meeting, held behind closed doors yesterday. He proposed that the House 3.2 alcoholic content by weight be reduced to 3.05 per cent. That proposal was beaten.

There were other proposals to restrict sales of the supposedly nonintoxicating beverages to others than minors and to prohibit radio or other national advertising, but these were not accepted.

Subsequently Senator Millard Tydings (Democrat), of Maryland, introduced an amendment providing for handling of beer in the District. It was said that the Tydings amendment was acceptable to the White House. It was also said that President Roosevelt believed the whole job should be done in one bite. If the District amendment is approved by the Senate it probably will be accepted by the House. The House also probably will accept the wine amendment.

Whether the wine amendment will go through remains to be seen. The wines it would legalize would not be as efficient as are the so-called tonics already on the market. The California and other wine growers want the Volstead act amended to permit production and sale of wines of natural alcoholic content, which is somewhere between ten and fourteen, or thereabouts. Some of their representatives said they would rather not have the McAdoo amendment in the bill. Their declarations afforded an ironical reflection on the conversion of the former dry idol who now sits as a senator from California. Other interests, however, asserted that the provision would permit distribution of a very palatable beverage of nonintoxicating qualities.

Representative Clarence F. Lea (Democrat), of California, agreed to leave 3.2 wines out of the bill in the House and announced his purpose to offer a separate natural wine measure. Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican), of California, is reported to feel the same way.

Ruth Judd Gives Secrets in Killings

Pardon Board Is Solemn After Private Session With Slayer.

State Prison, Florence, Ariz., March 15 (A.P.).—Winnie Ruth Judd imparted secret information to the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles tonight which she hopes will save her from the gallows.

The blonde woman, who is under sentence to die April 14 for murder of Agnes Anne Lerol, was closeted alone with the board for four hours. Only a shorthand reporter remained in the room with her and the three board members—Lin B. Orme, sr., chairman; Attorney General Arthur T. Laprade and Herman Hendrix, superintendent of public instruction.

The secret session came after the hearing of Mrs. Judd's plea for commutation of her death sentence had progressed more than a day and a half. That the information she imparted had been of an unexpected nature was indicated by the grave demeanor of the board members when they emerged.

AID IS GIVEN 80,000 IN QUAKE DISTRICT

Death Toll Reaches 116 as Red Cross Reports Fund Growing.

Long Beach, Calif., March 15 (A.P.).—Relief agencies were feeding 80,000 earthquake victims here today, and emergency mass feeding continued in Compton and Artesia, while State, county and civic officials formulated plans to make compulsory, earthquake-proof construction in southern California.

The zone death toll was 116 today, with the death of J. E. Brasted of shock. He was Long Beach's fifty-sixth victim.

Comfort and care of all those injured and frightened from their homes by Friday night's disaster was adequately provided, and medical authorities said the health and sanitation situation was very good. The American Red Cross, directing rehabilitation work, started registration of families sheltered in the concentration camps at Bixby Park and other recreation centers here, and in Compton, Huntington Park, Artesia and Bellflower.

Response from many cities in California and the Pacific Northwest to its appeal for a half million dollar fund for rehabilitating the earthquake victims was reported by the Red Cross.

The American Red Cross in Los Angeles and Long Beach has been designated as the communication center for all inquiries as to the safety of persons living in the affected area. The bureau telephone number is Long Beach 61441, and it also may be reached by telegram.

Los Angeles Red Cross headquarters provides information as to residents in other towns of the stricken area. The address is 1816 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles.

Warsaw Press Pleased By Danzig Settlement

Warsaw, Poland, March 15 (A.P.).—Today's newspapers expressed satisfaction with the manner in which settlement of the controversy between Poland and Danzig over strengthening of the Westerplatte garrison was effected by the League of Nations.

Danzig complained at reinforcement of the Polish garrison and Poland agreed to withdraw the troops. Foreign Minister Beck stipulated, however, that the withdrawal would take place only after receiving assurance from the president of the Danzig Senate that Poland's rights in Danzig will be respected.

Daladier and MacDonald To Confer at Geneva

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Daladier will see Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald before Mr. MacDonald presents his heralded disarmament plan at Geneva tomorrow.

M. Daladier, after several talks with the British Ambassador, Lord Tyrrell, and a consultation with Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour, took train tonight for Geneva. His trip stirred much interest in view of Mr. MacDonald's intention to see Premier Mussolini this week-end.

France Reduces Defense Budget $800,000,000

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—National defense expense will be cut $800,000,000 in the $2,000,000,000 1933 budget which will be presented to the chamber of deputies tomorrow.

The budget, including the three monthly credits already voted and new economies, totals 50,731,000,000 francs against 53,456,000,000 in 1932. An undetermined deficit is covered by a loan recently authorized.

JIG-SAW CONTEST SET FOR MARCH 30

one of the many prizes that will be distributed.

So far as known, this will be the first event of its kind ever conducted in America or foreign countries, including the Scandinavian, and so the Swarmi has been compelled to formulate his own rules for the event. According to his regulations, one "kibitzer" will be allowed to each bona fide contestant. In other words, every participant will be expected to bring along his wife or sweetheart or viceversa, to lend moral support and the usual futile suggestions that are said to accompany all efforts to solve a jig-saw puzzle. The "kibitzer" will also be allowed to fit in an occasional piece, if possible, and relieve the major contestant for desired breathing spaces.

Employes of any Government department or agency are invited to send in their names as entrants in the Federal Diary Jig-Saw Puzzle Contest and they may select their own "kibitzers" or partners, regardless of whether or not they are Government employes.

Following the same practice employed in conducting the recent dance at the Shoreham Hotel and the Spelling Bee at the National Press Club Auditorium, invitations to attend the event will be mailed to all who send in requests accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

CORD WINS CONTROL OF AIR CORPORATION

Manning Succeeds Hoyt as President; Wall Street Faction Beaten.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Success has once more crowned the efforts of the dynamic young automobile manufacturer, E. L. Cord.

With the election today of L. B. Manning, Cord's right-hand man, as president of the Aviation Corporation, Cord emerges triumphant in a fight which began last fall and which involved powerful Wall street banking interests.

Eight of the seventeen directors—including President Richard F. Hoyt, resigned. Cord will be chairman of the new board and will move the headquarters of the company to Chicago.

Cord's triumph today comes as a sequel to his vigorous proxy fight for control waged last autumn. The struggle then between the Chicago automobile man and Lamotte T. Cohu, who was president of Aviation, involved the purchase of huge advertising space in newspapers by both sides, in which the vitriolic broadsides were fired. This battle ended in a compromise.

The final chapter in the fight was told in the announcement of Hoyt, a partner of Hayden, Stone & Co. After announcing his resignation as both president and a director, he added that those associated with him "believed that it would serve no useful purpose to continue as directors." The other directors who resigned included W. A. Harriman, of Brown Brothers, Harriman & Co.; Robert Lehman, of Lehman Bros.; Matthew S. Sloan, former head of Consolidated Gas; Charles L. Lawrence, Lindley C. Morton, George P. Hann and Cohu.

Directors who continue in office with Mr. Cord include Frank A. Vanderlip, L. B. Manning, L. L. Young and R. S. Pruitt, who were identified with Cord in the December contest; G. C. Conway, M. C. Meigs, A. C. Carter and C. C. Darling.

With his dominating position in the Aviation Corporation now secure, Cord can work out his own ideas for aviation without the dictation of a Wall street he has never understood nor liked.

Geneva Today Gets New British Plan

MacDonald Will Present Scheme to Avert Death of Arms Parley.

Geneva, March 15 (A.P.).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will present tomorrow at a public meeting of the general commission of the world disarmament conference a new British scheme for bringing about the success of the parley.

After private conversations for five days with the leading delegations, Mr. MacDonald has evolved the draft of a convention which he will offer as the basis for agreement on reduction in armaments.

Advance reports indicate the convention will seek French support by a concerted declaration denouncing resort to force, and will bid for German indorsement by advocating that Germany be permitted to have some of the weapons now forbidden her. These two ideas were found in the British plan advanced last autumn.

alternative which no one nation dare face, the certainty of war.

In his conferences with the officials of the State Department yesterday, Mr. Davis was assisted by Allen Dulles, who accompanied him on his last trip to Geneva and who is expected to return there with him when Mr. Davis leaves.

The details of the Roosevelt disarmament program will be so planned as to take full advantage of the disorganized condition of European political conditions today. The political scene on the continent, viewed by an extremely well-informed official yesterday, is divided into two camps, both armed. On the one hand are the forces pressing for an adjustment of the status quo, by force if necessary, and on the other hand are arranged the forces militarily prepared to defend the same status with all their national resources.

Both these opposed forces are driving at certain danger, and their sole hope is in the common meeting ground of the Geneva Disarmament Conference, where concessions on both sides can be mutually settled. Mr. Davis has an unrivaled perspective of the European scene in all its ramifications, based on his experience in European affairs since the days of the war, when he first adjusted the complicated exchange of the Spanish peseta in relation to allied money.

The doctrine of the "good neighbor" enunciated by the President in his inaugural address will be carried in all its implications to Geneva as the basis for inducing agreement among the nations there represented. There is even the possibility that Mr. Davis may go to Berlin for an informal conversation with the new chancellor of the German Reich, Herr Hitler, some time before rejoining the rest of the American disarmament delegation in Switzerland.

The accession to power of the Nazi chief has served to junk the disarmament programs of many nations, especially the French, pending some sort of additional guaranty for the observance of the regulations of the treaty of Versailles, particularly as regards the demilitarized zones in the Rhineland.

The general concern over the condition of the disarmament conference has been the cause of much study to the Secretary of State, whose task it will be to take up the problem of disarmament in its present parlous condition. The conferences which were resumed yesterday between him and Mr. Davis will probably go on until Mr. Davis is ready to return to Europe some time next week.

It was recalled here that while he was yet a senator, Secretray Hull realized the great importance of the success of the disarmament conversations in Geneva. He said at one time:

"Economic disarmament and military disarmament are patently the two most vital and outstanding factors in business recovery."

His personal belief is the necessity of proceeding to reduce military expenditures as a necessary prerequisite to stabilization of commodity prices.

Grace Moore

Her Gems Among Stolen Jewels Found in Raid; Suspect Held.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—Half a million dollars worth of stolen jewelry was recovered by Miami Beach police today and Harry Sidmor, of New York, named by police authorities as the man who stole it, was placed under arrest.

The jewelry, which authorities said was the loot of half a dozen major thefts, was recovered in a raid on a house Sidmor had leased for the winter.

Among the crimes police reported solved by his arrest was that of $81,000 worth of jewels from Grace Moore, the operatic star. Another was the loss of $60,000 to $70,000 worth of jewels Monday night by Mrs. Bertha Keller, of New York.

Sidmor, after hours of questioning, finally led detectives to his house where the jewelry was hidden. He said the jewelry he had stolen was in the collection, with the exception of two pieces.

Sidmor was arrested early today, after officers first were frustrated by his wife in their attempts to gain admission to the house.

Police Chief Robert T. Teaney said Sidmor's wife battled Sergt. Gene Bryant for some time, while Sidmor attempted to destroy some papers in the house.

Later examination of these papers revealed no information of value, Chief Teaney said.

Mrs. Sidmor and their young son were under guard at the house for a while, but were not placed under arrest. Sidmor was held on an open charge.

tempt to relax from his strained position drew the noose tight.

Baumann came to this country from Germany in 1927 and had no enemies, so far as has been learned. In fact, his friends had planned a party for tonight to celebrate the recent issuance of his final citizenship papers.

Lacking a motive or promising clews, the police held his brother, Conrad, 25, who works in an optical company and sleeps in another room in the same wing of the Y. M. C. A. They said they were "holding" the younger brother, but declined to say whether he was suspected.

In his room police said they found a 10-foot length of rope similar to that which bound the dead man. Conrad said it was the tie-rope of his canoe, police related, but did not explain why it was in his room.

Baumann, a trained athlete who specialized in gymnastics, weighed 185 pounds and was capable of coping with three or four ordinary men. Police were puzzled as to how he had been overcome.

KENTUCKY MEMBER CONDEMNS BINGHAM

Louisville Publisher Is Called "Fraud Perpetrator" in House Denunciation.

(Associated Press.)

Representative May (Democrat), of Kentucky, yesterday said in the House that Judge Robert W. Bingham, named Ambassador to Great Britain by President Roosevelt, had been denounced by the Kentucky Supreme Court "as a fraud perpetrator."

May said his speech was prompted by an editorial in the Louisville Courier-Journal, published by Bingham, assailing himself and three other Kentucky House members for voting against the Roosevelt economy bill.

Judge Bingham ran for county attorney in Jefferson County, May said, and "so corrupted the election by conspiracy and corruption that the ballot boxes were disregarded and the Supreme Court of the State denounced him as a fraud perpetrator."

May said Bingham had opposed many Democratic nominees in Kentucky.

May said Bingham should be called "Robert Worth Flagler Bingham," referring to a former marriage of the publisher to the wealthy widow of the Florida railroad magnate.

"I rejoice," May said, "that the President of the United States has appointed him Ambassador to England and has thus removed him from Kentucky. I regret that the ports of Great Britain can not be blockaded to prevent his return."

"Did you communicate with the President of the United States and tell him what you are now saying about Bingham?" Representative O'Connor (Democrat), New York, asked.

"I did not. I had no information that he was to be appointed," May replied.

"He has been mentioned in the papers as a prospective appointment for a month," O'Connor said.

"For my part," May said in conclusion, "I vote my honest convictions, and as for Col. Robert Worth Flagler Bingham and his newspapers—they can go to the devil!"

Hoover Will Begin Trip to West Today

Plans Brief Stopover at Chicago; Attends Funeral of Strother.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—After attending the funeral of an old friend, completing arrangements for the financing of three relief organizations in which he is interested, and winding up his personal business, former President Herbert Hoover prepared tonight to leave for the West.

He will start from New York by train tomorrow afternoon, spend Friday night in Chicago with a friend, and leave the Midwest city on Saturday for his home in California. His original plan to go by boat via the Panama Canal has been abandoned.

The former President was one of the early arrivals at the Episcopal Cathedral of the Incarnation at Garden City, on Long Island, for the funeral of French Strother, a consultant on social trends during the Hoover administration.

German War Flag Inset Of Republic Is Removed

Berlin, March 15 (A.P.).—President von Hindenburg today decreed the removal of the black, red and gold inset in the corner of the German war flag, thereby restoring the old imperial war flag, and reintroducing the black, white and red cockade on military caps.

President von Hindenburg of Germany in a decree read Sunday by Chancellor Adolf Hitler pushed the Republican flag into the discard and ordered that the old imperial flag and the Swastika emblem of the Nazi party hereafter be given equal rank.

6 Girls Dead, 15 Hurt In Match Factory Blast

Hull, Quebec, March 15 (A.P.).—Six girls were burned to death in a fire following an explosion at the Canada match factory here today. Several others, the estimates ranging from 3 to 8, were missing, while 15 were injured.

The fire started after an explosion in a mixing tank. Approximately 25 girls were working near the tank. Of the dead, the body of only 1, Josephine Lavelle, was immediately identified. The match factory building, a three-story brick structure, was wrecked.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

RECENTLY we were impressed during a visit to the Government Printing Office by the statements made by various employes in praise of a man who is credited with aiding materially toward the efficiency of that great enterprise. He is none other than Dr. D. P. Bush, in charge of the emergency room, G. P. O.

The remark made by John A. Patterson, assistant superintendent, bindery department, is typical. "We can thank Dr. Bush for keeping a lot of our employes at work who otherwise might be at home, ill," said Mr. Patterson.

The good doctor has charge of the miniature hospital in a plant which, although all precautions are taken, none the less can and does have its accidents.

After all, the G. P. O. is a great, large factory, and industries still have their emergency cases.

* * * *

SPOTLESS beds, inclosed in curtained partitions, are ready at all times for use. Often an employe is given treatment and put to bed a few hours and is able to resume work without great loss of time.

Dr. Bush knows practically every employe in the vast building. He has been on the job more than a score of years.

We had just asked the doctor how he kept trace of his patients when they were out over a period of time. He told us of his systematic examination of every employe as he returned for duty and that—just then he received a call to go to a department at the far end of the mammoth building and as quick as thought, almost, he opened the door, carrying his emergency kit, and was out of sight in a moment.

To Caspar G. Dickson, 1724 Seventeenth street northwest: Thanks for your expressions on the recent Federal Diary spelling bee. They will be helpful in planning the next such event.

Inauguration visitors to pass through the turnstile Sunday, March 5, would have totaled 10,000 at the Commerce Aquarium, except that there is no turnstile there.

A. K. Brown, Fisheries, tells us the American Aquarium Society will meet Friday evening at the National Museum to discuss the moonfish, or platys exhibit. The society will have St. Patrick's day parties with which to compete.

Maybe it's because we're walking more or maybe it's because we're stepping on the gas a bit harder, but January's shoe output in the U. S. was 6 per cent more than that for January, 1932, Commerce tells us.

TWO weeks from tonight the Federal Diary's jig-saw puzzle tournament will be called to order at the Kennedy-Warren. This is the first announcement of the location for the contest. Which reminds us of what Dr. Harrison Harley, professor of psychology, Simmons College, Boston, says of jig-saws.

"The present popularity of jig-saw puzzles," says Dr. Harley, "is attributable to people's desire to escape from perplexities of business through a return to childhood interests." Let's be childish for the evening of March 30.

"The puzzles are of no great educational value and are apt to appeal to people who otherwise would use their time rather aimlessly, but they are of definite recreational value. (All of which we suspected.)

"The gay-colored pictures, often romantic in appeal, involve a revitalizing of childhood interests and habits. (Did you know that?)

"In times of distress, perplexity and empty forms of social diversion we seek to revivify our childhood interests, half realizing that childhood is our lost paradise." (So if you have lost your pair o' dice, you now know what's became of them.)

"BILLION DOLLAR BERRIES."

F. C. MEIER, plant pathologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, scheduled to deliver his illustrated lecture, "Billion Dollar Berries," in the auditorium of the New York Botanical Garden Saturday, at 3:30 p. m., will fly from Washington to New York by Eastern Air Transport Saturday morning. When questioned about the billion dollar berries, Mr. Meier explained he refers to the common barberry, which harbors the spores of stem rust, a disease which causes heavy losses to grain farmers.

In discussing success attained in the barberry eradication program aimed at control of black stem rust, Mr. Meier said "The purpose of this eradication campaign, started in the North Central States in 1918, is to stabilize grain production and to improve the quality of small grains by preventing widespread epidemics of stem rust. By providing insurance against crop failures due to rust, grain production costs are reduced. Moreover, the added assurance of more uniform yields leads to more normal marketing conditions."

There's a lot of mystery about a request made of Miss Charlotte Garland, fieldstuffs division, Commerce, who has been asked to supply a picture to be used in a new paper "to be gotten out soon for Government clerks."

All she knows about it is what she's heard, but she hasn't heard much.

EINSTEIN SELF-EXILE WHILE HITLER RULES

Deploring Persecution of Jews, Scientist Will Stay in Belgium.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Prof. Albert Einstein announced himself as a voluntary exile for the present from Germany when he arrived here today from California. His announcement was made in a note answering a written question of newspapermen.

How long he will remain out of Germany Einstein's message said he does not know. But he "will not put foot on German soil as long as conditions in Germany are as at present."

He sails Saturday for Antwerp, there intending to decide his future course.

"I am no Nationalist," he said tonight at a dinner in his honor attended by some of the foremost American scientists and leaders in finance, education, art and letters.

"The meaning of a people, in my opinion," he went on, "is that it accomplishes something for humanity."

Without mentioning Germany he referred to "the prevailing disease of an exaggerated nationalism," and said:

"This nationalism is a grave danger for the entire western civilization, which at one time had its origin in Greece. Behind it are powers inimical to life. To combat it is inescapably the duty of every well-intentioned and perceiving being of our time."

He spoke of Jewish persecution in "eastern Europe" and said, "It is not easy to say where the western boundaries of this eastern Europe are to be sought."

The dinner was given by the American friends of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Evidence of a subsurface commotion over Einstein's voluntary exile was seen in the action of the German Consul Paul Schwarz, who boarded the scientist's train at Albany. Later Einstein's friends who greeted him at Waldorf said this mission had no result that they could learn.

Manila, P. I., March 15 (A.P.).—Emilio Aguinaldo announced today he will make his first visit to the United States, against which he led the Filipino insurrection more than 30 years ago, as a member of the new Philippine Independence Mission.

SHAW SAYS FEDERAL WORKER GLAD TO AID

Union Spokesman Confident President to Be Lenient in Salary Policy.

Government employes are "proud to make the sacrifice" of pay reduction under the economy bill which passed the Senate last night, if it aids in any measure toward balancing the budget and putting men back to work, President John Arthur Shaw of the American Federation of Federal Employes, said in a statement issued last night.

"If the salary reductions which Congress has imposed will contribute toward the reemployment of the 12,000,000 men and women now idle, government employes welcome the opportunity to aid their fellow workers," he said.

Supports President.

Expressing confidence in the sincerity, integrity and understanding of President Roosevelt, Mr. Shaw said he felt the President "will administer the broad grant of power over our wages with wisdom and the utmost leniency."

The employe union official asked that Congress compensate in measure by granting more liberal provisions affecting retirement, by adopting a five-day week for Federal employes without loss of pay, and by removing injustices in the old economy act, such as that imposed by the "married workers" clause.

He also asked that Congress minimize any contemplated or alternative reduction in the total number now employed by the Government.

Ready for Sacrifice.

The statement added:

"The logic of events rather than of men has created a new and unprecedented situation. The country is facing a crisis in its existence, and has committed its Chief Executive and the national legislators to a course of action which is of a radical character in order to deal with a national emergency.

"The Congress, at the behest of President Roosevelt, has imposed a severe reduction of salary upon Government employes. We have contended most strongly that further salary cuts are not conductive to the economic welfare of our Nation. However, despite the fact that Government workers have taken this position, predicated solely upon a patriotic purpose of protecting all other wage earners from loss of income, they are called upon to make a further sacrifice."

House Bill Asks $7,500 For Langley Field Space

(Associated Press.)

A bill to authorize expenditures of $7,500 for additional landing space at Langley Field, Virginia, was introduced yesterday in the House by Representative James (Republican), Michigan, a member of the Military Affairs Committee.

At the same time James introduced a measure that would permit $153,600 already appropriated for an officers' quarters at the field to be used to build an officers' mess hall and to convert the tactical school barracks into a building for bachelor officers' quarters.

Celler Resubmits Bill Aimed at Chain Stores

Representative Celler (Democrat), New York, yesterday reintroduced in the House his measure to increase the local license fee on chain stores operating in the District.

The bill imposes a $5 license fee for every store in the District, but where chains are operated, the $5 would be multiplied by the number of stores. A chain operating 20 stores, for example, would have to pay a tax of $100 for each store. This latter provision would not apply to independent merchants organized for cooperative purposes.

$500,000,000 ECONOMY BILL PASSED BY SENATE, 62-13

erans with tubercular or neuro-psychiatric ailments suffered in line of duty.

A third, by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, would require the President to keep Congress informed on all reductions made.

No Substantial Reduction.

Senator Walsh succeeded in attaching another minor amendment to the bill, providing for burial and transportation of bodies of veterans who die in Government institutions.

Neither the four amendments adopted yesterday, nor the two previously affixed to the measure Tuesday, make any substantial reduction in the $500,000,000 total saving estimated for the measure.

Senator Harrison anticipates little difficulty in reaching agreement today with House conferees on these amendments and the minor changes made earlier by the committee.

He estimates savings from the measure, together with reorganization economies, and revenues from beer and extension of the gasoline tax levy, will bring total retrenchment effected this session to $800,000,000.

Four Democrats Oppose.

Only four Democrats joined with nine Republicans in opposing the bill on the final vote. They were Senators Clark, of Missouri; Long, of Louisiana; McGill, of Kansas, and McCarren, of Nevada.

Republicans voting against the measure were Senators Borah, of Idaho; Couzens, of Michigan; Dickinson, of Iowa; Frazier and Nye, of North Dakota; Hatfield, of West Virginia; Patterson, of Missouri; Robinson, of Indiana, and Stelwer, of Oregon.

One after another, the Senate voted down amendments offered by Senator La Follette to ease the pay provisions of the bill.

These prescribed that the index figures on which salaries would be adjusted downward be based not only on cost of living data, but on standards of living as well. They proposed that if living costs increase above the 1928 base period, salaries might be boosted accordingly. The bill provides only for reductions with the decline in cost of living under the 1928 period.

LaFollette's Argument.

But the Wisconsin Senator saved the final force of his argument for the amendment exempting workers earning less than $1,000 from any salary cut whatever.

"These employes now are living according to a standard which authorities admit is below the level of decency," he said.

"If you refuse a few weeks ago to give them a cut of 8 1-3 per cent, and you did, certainly you will not vote now to cut them 15 per cent."

But the Senate thought otherwise.

Senator Trammell submitted an amendment proposing a sliding scale of cuts ranging up to 33 1-3 per cent for highest salaried employes, but accepted a modification by Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan. Both were defeated, viva voce.

The Vandenberg proposal prescribed an additional pay cut of 1 per cent for every $1,000 of pay over $3,000. It would have cut Congressional salaries to $7,900.

Pay provisions of the bill, passed in their original form, empower the President to fix the cost of living index figure for the six-month period ended July 1, 1928, and another index figure for the six-month ended last December.

Service-Connected Cases.

The pay cut would be determined by the percentage of difference between the two, with the limit fixed at 15 per cent. Rough estimates from official sources last night indicated the difference would run in the neighborhood of 21 per cent, so the maximum 15 per cent pay slash, for all classes of workers, is assured.

Following the leadership of Senate Finance Chairman Pat Harrison both Republican and Democratic senators joined in voting down every major amendment offered yesterday, as fast as it was brought to a ballot.

Proposals by Senator Clark (Democrat), Missouri, and Senator McCarren (Democrat), Nevada, to limit veteran cuts under the bill to 25 per cent, were quickly voted down.

Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas, tried to limit service-connected disability cases to 25 per cent, but was unsuccessful.

Roll Call of Senators On Economy Measure

Adams, Ashurst, Bachman, Bailey, Bankhead, Barkley, Black, Bone, Bratton, Brown, Bulkley, Bulow, Bird, Byrnes, Caraway, Connolly, Copeland, Dieterich, Dill, Duffy, George, Gore, Harrison, Lewis, Lonergan, McKellar, Murphy, Neely, Pittman, Pope, Reynolds, Robinson of Arkansas, Russell, Sheppard, Smith, Stephens, Thomas of Oklahoma, Thomas of Utah, Trammell, Tydings, Van Nuys, Wagner and Walsh—43.

Senators paired and announced for the bill were: Coolidge, Costigan, Glass, Kendrick, King, McAdoo, Logan, all Democrats.

Paired and announced against were: Cutting, La Follette, Republicans, and Overton, Democrat.

Hayden (Democrat), Arizona, announced he "withheld his vote because of pledges made to my constituents."

Other senators were not announced.

An amendment by Senator La Follette to limit all veterans' cuts to 15 per cent, speedily went the same route.

Among other amendments given short shrift was one by Senator Bone (Democrat), Washington, to reduce by 75 per cent, all "bonuses" and subsidies paid by shipping lines for carrying the mails.

Senator Dickinson (Democrat), Iowa, made an effort to attach to the bill the veterans' cuts proposed under the old economy bill put forward at the last session of Congress, but got nowhere.

Senator William E. Borah (Republican), Idaho, had no success with his amendment cutting mileage allowances for representatives and senators from 15 to 5 cents a mile. The Senate defeated it, 42 to 35.

Earlier, Senator Borah took the floor to oppose alleged transfer of legislative powers to the Executive, under provisions of the bill. He declared Congress in the past has been more successful in reducing expenditures than the President, then assailed Senator Fess (Republican), Ohio, for his speech of Tuesday favoring the power grant.

Legion's Head Promises Full Faith in President

(Associated Press.)

The American Legion's support of President Roosevelt was pledged by Louis A. Johnson, national commander, in a statement issued last night immediately after the Senate approved the drastic economy bill cutting benefits to the veterans.

Asserting that the legislation is "fraught with gravest consequences to the disabled veteran," Johnson said the legion "has every faith in the discretion, fairness and the justice with which the President will deal with this problem—involving as it does in many instances the need for compassion and mercy."

"The President needs the support of every loyal American and today I am calling upon the 10,709 legion posts and our 1,000,000 members throughout our great organization to uphold the pledge that I have made as the national commander of the American Legion.

"I am asking that special meetings be held by every legion post where it will officially express by resolution such loyalty and utmost help."

PRESIDENT GETS EXTENSIVE POWERS BY ECONOMY ACT

mination of each war (after the Civil War) may be fixed by the President for the purpose of determining the amount of war-time service to be allowed. He may specify the required number of days of war of peace-time service a veteran shall be entitled to a pension and issue such regulations as he may deem equitable and just.

Decisions Are Conclusive.

The Chief Executive may prescribe that persons with certain incomes shall not be entitled to pensions.

All decisions by the administrator of veterans' affairs under regulations issued by the President are conclusive on all questions of law and fact and are not reviewable either by any other Government official or by the courts.

The administrator of veterans' affairs is authorized to furnish domiciliary care to veterans of any war suffering with permanent disabilities, and medical and hospital treatment for diseases or injuries incurred or aggravated in line of duty in the active military or naval service.

The administrator of veterans affairs is authorized to administer the provisions of the measure, subject to the general directions of the President and in accordance with regulations issued by the Chief Executive. He may delegate this authority to subordinates.

Claims for benefits under the measure shall be filed with the Veterans' Administration under such regulations as the President may approve. If a claim is disallowed, it may not thereafter be reopened or allowed.

Emergency Officers.

No former emergency officer may continue to draw retirement pay unless the disability for which he was retired resulted from disease or injury, or aggravation of a preexisting disease or injury, which was incurred in line of duty between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, the period of the World War, and it resulted directly from the performance of military or naval duty.

All laws granting medical or hospital treatment, domiciliary care, compensation, pension, disability allowance or retirement pay to veterans of the Spanish-American and subsequent wars or to former members of the military or naval service for injury or disease incurred or aggravated in line of duty are repealed, with the exception of those relating to the retirement of officers and enlisted men of the regular Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

These payments will be continued until June 30. In the meantime, all the claims will be reviewed and those allowed will be continued in force without any suspension. Payments on regular yearly renewable term insurance which have matured prior to enactment of the measure will not be affected. Neither will judgments which may hereafter be rendered in suits now pending under these contracts. Regulations issued by the President that are in effect two years after enactment of the measure shall continue in force until Congress changes them.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES.

Compensation of Government employes, including military personnel, for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, and for the remainder of the present fiscal year shall be readjusted to conform to the cost of living, provided the reduction placed in effect does not exceed 15 per cent.

The President is authorized to determine the cost of living for the first six months of 1928, and to establish an index figure for this period to be used as a base. He also is to ascertain the index figure for the last six months of 1932 and for each six months thereafter.

The percentage by which the cost of living index for any six-month period is lower than the index for the base period is the percentage reduction applicable to Government salaries, provided it not be more than 15 per cent.

Salaries of the Vice President, Speaker, senators and members of the House are reduced a flat 15 per cent. The reduction is now 10 per cent.

President Roosevelt, whose salary under the Constitution can not be diminished while he is in office, may voluntarily subject himself to the law.

The furlough provisions of the 1932 economy act, under which Government salaries were cut 8 1-3 per cent, are repealed along with the provisions suspending annual leave with pay.

DISTRICT D.A.R. ENDS ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Resolutions Adopted Oppose Education Holiday and Soviet Recognition.

Adoption of a resolution unequivocally opposing any possible "moratorium in education" was one of the closing actions of the thirty-second annual meeting of the State Conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday at Memorial Continental Hall.

In bringing the resolution before the meeting, Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins, chairman of the resolutions committee, pointed out that economy measures were threatening education at a time when there should be expansion.

Other resolutions adopted at the session opposed recognition of Russia and favored the deportation of alien Communists and the enactment of legislation requiring the registration of all aliens in the country.

Favorable action was also taken on a recommendation for the preservation of the birthplace of President James Monroe, at Fredericksburg, Va.

Part of the session was devoted to the memory of deceased members. Reports from all the chapters of the conference were read.

Early yesterday, Miss Clara W. McQuown told of her experiences on a recent trip to Russia. She declared that the policy there was one of starving all who are not actually workers.

The conference has endorsed Miss Helen Harman, former District State regent, for the office of vice president general of the national society.

Fredericksburg Legion Pledges Roosevelt Aid

Fredericksburg, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—A resolution indorsing the economy program of President Roosevelt was adopted after spirited debate last night at the meeting of Bowen-Franklin-Knox Post, American Legion, of Fredericksburg.

The resolution stated that "while not advocating any specific antidepression program, Bowen-Franklin-Knox Post will wholeheartedy cooperate with the President of the United States in bringing back prosperity, asking all classes of citizens to make an equal sacrifice." The post announced its unqualified opposition, however, to the lowering of compensation for service-connected disabilities.

Battles Food

Doctor and Deputy Finally Forcibly Feed Man Bent on Suicide.

Edmore, Mich., March 15 (A.P.).—A doctor and a deputy sheriff today battled 78-year-old Joseph St. Peter, who two weeks ago said he would "never take another bite of food in this world," until his failing strength gave out, then fed him forcibly.

More than a pint of beef broth was given the aged man through a tube, but he declared after the feeding that he would continue his fast.

"You're just prolonging this thing," he told Dr. Myron G. Becker and Deputy Elmer Wood, who fed him. "I'm determined to die, and if I don't do it this way, I'll find some other way."

St. Peter, who has been declared sane by a commission of doctors, has told relatives he is going blind and said he wants to "see myself die." Dr. Becker said he would continue the forcible feeding if necessary.

8 Years Is Meted To Bristol Banker

J. D. Roller Plans Appeal in Theft of Gems Near Marion.

Marion, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—J. D. Roller, Bristol commercial banker, was found guilty of highway robbery by a Smyth County jury today and his punishment fixed at eight years in the penitentiary.

The defense immediately offered a motion to set aside the verdict, and another to arrest judgment pending an appeal. Judge Floyd H. Roberts will act tomorrow morning on the motions.

The Commonwealth alleged that Roller and M. W. Canter, a Bristol business man, directed the holdup of Mrs. E. G. McCue, of Bristol, and the theft from her of diamonds valued at $800.

Six other persons are under indictment in connection with the offense. Testimony disclosed that Roller accompanied Mrs. McCue to Galax last September in an unsuccessful effort to sell the rings. On their return trip they were robbed south of Marion by an armed man.

Death of Man, 65, Near Clarksburg Is Mystery

A coroner's jury is investigating to determine whether he was murdered or had committed suicide.

3 CHARGED IN ARSON DEATH IN MARYLAND

Woman and 2 Men Held for Grand Jury in Slaying of Stonesifer.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 15.—A woman and two men were recommitted to the Anne Arundel County jail today, to await grand jury action, following a preliminary hearing before Police Justice Thomas G. Basil on charges in connection with the death of Howard Stonesifer, 28, who was burned to death at his home near West Annapolis a month ago.

Those held are Rose Welch, 28, of Eastport, charged with murder, and Irving Ford and Albert Givens, taxicab drivers of Annapolis, charged with arson and accessories to murder.

The body of Stonesifer was found in the ruins of his home soon after the flames had subsided. A coroner's jury that first investigated the tragedy was unable to agree. Subsequently Joseph Dougherty, a private detective, conducted an investigation with the assistance of Sheriff E. Glenn Prout. Arrests of the woman and two men were made as a result of statements made by Edith Brandenburg, of Annapolis, who was a member of a party at the Stonesifer home on the night of his death.

At today's hearing she reaffirmed these statements which were to the effect that Stonesifer and the Welch woman got into an argument and she struck Stonesifer over the head with a milk bottle. This was shortly before the party broke up at 2 a. m.

Stonesifer was left slumped in a chair. His guests thought he was asleep. The taxi drivers, it is claimed, returned to the house later on, and the State's theory is that the building was set afire to cover up the crime.

Five Hounds

Lost Pack Is Found in Anacostia and Now Awaits Owner.

A stray hound seldom attracts much attention, but when five of them come nosing around with a forlorn look the natural assumption is some hunter has lost his hounds.

That was the way Robert Thompson felt about it yesterday when five hound dogs turned up at his store in Anacostia. He is of the opinion that they were lost from a truck which was passing through Anacostia. He now has them kenneled in a shed at the Thompson Bros. furniture store, and the owner can have them for the claiming.

EVERYBODY FORWARD.

The immense vitality of the United States is strikingly shown by the rebound from the banking paralysis. As soon as the bank holiday was lifted the people resumed business with a rush. State banks yesterday went into operation, and depositors demonstrated their confidence in them in all cases. All banks now open are in a stronger position than before the holiday. The affairs of banks in the hands of conservators are being handled with dispatch, with every prospect that mobilization of assets will bring about reopenings in many cases without losses. Mergers may occur as a means of buttressing some banks. Runs are impossible under the new regime; hence all depositors are assured of a square deal.

The New York stock exchange and minor markets were active, with rising prices. The country has not only recovered from its fears but is enthusiastic in the belief that the way is now clear for better times.

Reports that the President is determined to bring about farm relief and unemployment legislation without delay are contributing to the general opinion that the log-jam of the depression has been broken. Congress is working rapidly, with a gratifying absence of partisanship. Republicans thus far have been proud to support the President as proof of their sincerity in rising above partisanship for the national good. A few orators are wasting time, but the Seventy-third Congress as a whole is far more efficient than its predecessor. Public support of President Roosevelt has had a good effect upon Congress.

Amendments of the economy bill made by the Senate will soon be dealt with by the House. An effective law granting sweeping powers to the President is the certain outcome, and nothing is more certain than Mr. Roosevelt's prompt exercise of those powers in the direction of balancing the budget. This prospect of economy and stability in the Government is the signal for business to go forward in the knowledge that crushing taxation will not disable it.

"SABOTAGE" IN THE SOVIET.

Great Britain is very much annoyed by the arrest of six British subjects in Soviet Russia. Officials at London are convinced that the Soviet government is merely playing a political game, with Britishers who are working in Russia as the victims. When all the facts are known it is expected that Britain will make the strongest kind of protestations to Moscow.

The Soviet uses foreign engineers for several different purposes. The first stage in its program is to hire foreign experts to direct the work of industrialization in Russia. These experts are promised large salaries and special privileges, and those promises are kept so long as it seems convenient for the Soviet to do so. A few months ago the Moscow government ceased paying foreign engineers salaries in terms of dollars and marks and compelled them to accept Soviet rubles. The result was to drive a large number of experts out of Russia, thus leaving various Soviet projects without competent direction.

But the Soviet is making the most of the situation. It is blaming the failure of its industrial program upon the foreign engineers. The British subjects who were arrested were accused of sabotage. Apparently the Ogpu, Soviet secret police, has no evidence against them. The alleged sabotage consists of blundering workmanship by untrained Russian peasants. But the Soviet government must have some excuse for its failure in the economic field. How could it better assuage the wrath of disgruntled peasants than by accusing "foreign capitalists" of foul play?

This old trick has been played several times by the Soviet. Three years ago Moscow conducted a series of mock trials that amused the whole world by their absurdity. Apparently Moscow is about to indulge in another sensational exposure of "foreign intrigue" by the enemies of the Soviet. This crude deception seems to have a soothing effect upon the ignorant hordes of Russian peasants.

British subjects were doubtless especially chosen for the Soviet's face-saving campaign. Since Great Britain repudiated her trade agreement with the Soviet, following the Ottawa conference, Moscow officials have sought an effective means of retaliation. But the British government is not in a mood to tolerate such nonsense. The Soviet may be forced to choose some less conspicuous "enemies of communism" for its demonstration. The few American experts remaining in Russia probably will be exempt because of the desire of Moscow to make a good impression on the new administration in Washington.

COILS AROUND JAPAN.

Step by step, the world's nations are drawing coils about Japan. The League of Nations advisory committee in charge of the Sino-Japanese dispute yesterday appointed a subcommittee from arms-shipping states to consider the question of an arms embargo, and another subcommittee to study the practical application of the principle of non-recognition of Manchukuo. Hugh Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland, will co-operate with both subcommittees.

When the House was urged late in the last session to approve the resolution authorizing the President, in co-operation with other governments, to apply an embargo upon arms destined for areas in conflict, Speaker Garner insisted that the matter should be left over for the new administration. It is now reported that President Roosevelt will ask Congress to grant this authority. His attitude on the subject was outlined on January 11, when he said:

> I have long been in favor of the use of embargoes on arms to belligerent nations, especially to nations which are guilty of making an attack upon other nations—that is, against aggressor nations.

The British embargo on arms to China and Japan has been lifted, since it appeared that an embargo against both countries would work to the advantage of Japan and the disadvantage of China. The nations belonging to the league having declared Japan the aggressor, it is evident that the Geneva subcommittee is working to bring about an embargo against that country alone. If the arms-shipping nations should agree to this, the United States may be expected to co-operate.

The plan to apply the principle of non-recognition against Manchukuo carries implications of even greater consequence than an arms embargo. Japan's attempt to set up a nation can not succeed if all nations refuse to have dealings with the counterfeit state. It can have no outside trade; and if Japan should attempt to carry on Manchukuo's trade indirectly the next step would be refusal of the nations to trade with Japan. The empire's war operations are financed by foreign trade, which has been forced upward by debasing the currency and by government subsidies. The rapid increase of Japanese exports to the United States threatens to destroy several American industries and will surely result in restrictive measures by Congress. If a study of this trade should verify the suspicion that Japan is subsidizing certain exports, antidumping sections of American tariff law will be applicable.

Japan has wrested Manchuria from China, but its title is invalid. No international law or treaty can be invoked by Japan to compel the nations to recognize that title. They are fortified by treaties bearing Japan's own signature when they refuse to recognize Manchukuo. Trade and intercourse are the lifeblood of nations. The Great Wall of China is a symbol of the invisible barrier which the nations have raised around Manchukuo, over which it can not pass, and within which it can not survive as a nation.

WORLD WHEAT CONTROL.

President Roosevelt's attempt to secure a world-wide agreement to limit production of wheat is certainly a worthy objective. It is open to question only on the ground of practicability. Argentina, Canada, Australia and Soviet Russia are not so anxious to limit wheat production as is the United States, because they are able to produce wheat at a lower cost. If President Roosevelt could induce them to curtail their acreage on a reasonable basis with a view to raising the world price of wheat it would be a significant accomplishment indeed.

Soviet Russia could not join such an agreement because she must raise wheat and other agricultural crops for export to pay her obligations. At present Soviet wheat production is not sufficient to supply Russia's own needs; nevertheless, the Soviet dumps a considerable quantity on the world market to pay for imports. The chances that the Moscow government would join in a domestic acreage limitation program are nil.

A temporary agreement might be made without including the Soviet, if all other wheat-producing nations were willing to cooperate. But that seems improbable. France, Germany and Italy are producing large wheat crops for domestic consumption behind lofty tariff walls to increase their self-sufficiency. It seems certain that the Balkan states would oppose limitation because of their dependence upon this crop for purchasing power in the industrial markets of Europe. Argentina, Canada and Australia might be willing to curtail their output if the United States would surrender most of the export wheat market to them.

Any agreement that could be made would probably leave only a small dribble of wheat for export from the United States. The percentage of wheat now going abroad is not large. When the possibilities of a world agreement have been fully explored it will doubtless be found more practical to reduce production in this country to domestic needs so that the wheat tariff may become effective. The American wheat farmer might just as well recognize the fact that he can not compete on an even basis with farmers of Australia and Argentina without reducing his standard of living to that of a peasant.

One grave difficulty that would arise in any world-wide agreement would be the actual limitation of wheat produced. Whatever other governments may do, the United States Government has no authority to limit the acreage of wheat. The only way in which it may deal with the situation is through contracts with the farmers. If the price of wheat should rise and farmers should refuse to enter into contracts for acreage limitation, the Government might be powerless to fulfill its international agreement to curtail exports, because the Constitution forbids the levying of export duties.

When all the factors are considered, limitation of the wheat crop to domestic demands seems to be the most practical plan. The administration will be fortunate indeed if it can evolve a workable plan for reduction of acreage in this country, without attempting to solve the wheat problem for the entire world.

PUT "FIRST THINGS FIRST."

The new Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Roper, may be excused for overemphasizing the importance of foreign trade in the American economic system in his address in New York, for he was speaking to the Export Managers Club. His audience was especially interested in commerce that extends beyond the borders of the United States. But the Department of Commerce is devoted to the stimulation of American business at home as well as abroad. The public is now anxious to hear what plans the new Secretary has for the stimulation of domestic commerce.

"In foreign commerce," says Mr. Roper, "there must be buying as well as selling. No nation can successfully market its goods abroad if it stubbornly persists in refusing to let in a reasonable volume of the products of other countries." This is distinctly the foreign-trade point of view. Secretary Roper's words may be paraphrased from the domestic-trade viewpoint with equal potency:

In domestic commerce there must be buying as well as selling. No nation can successfully market its goods at home if it stubbornly persists in refusing to give jobs to its own people.

It is to be hoped that Secretary Roper neglected the latter viewpoint only because he was talking to exporters.

The relationship of domestic and foreign trade should be kept in mind. One school of thought advances the theory that international trade is all-important in promoting domestic trade. Since domestic trade amounts to about 90 per cent of all American business and foreign trade amounts to only about 10 per cent, this theory has the aspect of trying to make the tail wag the dog. The other school of thought insists that preference should be given to domestic trade, because of its vital importance, and that foreign trade should be cultivated as a desirable adjunct to domestic business, but should not be permitted to injure domestic trade or employment.

Foreign commerce will improve when normal business is resumed within national boundaries. It can not be revived by admitting cheap-labor foreign goods without disastrous consequences to American labor. Let attention first be concentrated upon restoration of the 90 per cent domestic market. Any other policy will not square with President Roosevelt's dictum of putting "first things first."

Measures which he can oppose are popping through the Senate at a rate that makes Senator Borah supremely happy.

The stock market's appraisal of the new deal may help public confidence a bit.

Looks as if every stock went up but that of the vets' lobby.

RUSSIA ON GUARD

From the Houston Post.

With the Japanese going on a rampage in Manchuria and Jehol, the Russians are taking no chances on the little brown men from Nippon slopping over into Siberia. If, in their mad enterprise of making Asia Japanese, the soldiers of the mikado turn northward they will meet a bar in the form of a Soviet army that should be able to give a first-class account of itself in a fight, even with the Japanese.

There are now 200,000 Soviet troops on the Siberian-Manchurian border. They are well trained, well equipped, well fed and led by experienced officers. They are on guard against any move of Japan to encroach upon Russian territory or Russian rights. Back of them, ready to reinforce them on short notice, are 400,000 other troops of the same class. The Soviets have a standing army of 600,000 men, modernly equipped, though probably inferior in the air branch. And this force could be expanded to 3,000,000, as there are 2,400,000 men in the republic who have seen as much as two years' service in the Soviet armies, and who stand in the relation as reservists.

Russian suspicions of Japan were aroused when Tokyo a few months ago declined to enter into a nonaggression pact with Moscow. The Japanese said they desired to get matters adjusted in Manchuria before considering the proposed treaty. Moscow immediately began to mobilize troops on the Siberian border, to be ready for any eventuality.

The presence of this large force on the northern boundary of Manchuria may serve to cool the fevered brow of Tokyo and influence it to confine its "Asia for the Japanese" enterprise to Chinese territory. This Russian force appears now as a factor for the prevention of the spread of war in the Far East.

It is an inspiration to see the cheerful cripples, the uncomplaining sufferers, the maimed and the blind, carrying on and thankful that their afflictions are no worse, bearing their misfortunes with fortitude, and eager to go forth again to battle the world of existence despite physical handicaps. A brief experience in the realm of the hopeful shut-ins is enough to shame well-endowed grouchers to silence.

It is good business to keep Congress on the job, while it grinds out executive legislation with more or less docility; no telling what kind of independent ideas it might get during recess.

Why Save Room for Pie if There Is No Dessert Today?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IF you are an average middle-class American with no source of income except the sweat of your brow you realize now that the boom period gave you small chance to lay up money for your old age.

The cards were stacked against you.

And the law, in which you had such simple faith, gave you neither protection nor security.

If you deposited your money in a bank it somehow disappeared and you were told that no law had been violated. Your money was gone and nobody seemed responsible.

If you carried it on your person or hid on your premises some bandit from Sicily got it and you were fortunate to come through the experience alive. The police were sympathetic, but they didn't find your money.

If you invested in stocks you discovered too late that Big Business has little conscience. Its most honored leaders, being forced to testify, confessed that you were tricked and fleeced—with the sanction of the law. They sold you shares in their enterprises, but it was much like selling a thousand $10 shares in a $50 cow. You couldn't expect much milk.

If you bought bonds you found that Big Business had betrayed you and your kind to earn a fat commission. The bonds paid no interest and the price fell close to zero, but the men who fooled you broke no law.

Such things puzzle you. If a small business man sells you eight eggs for a dozen or ten ounces for a pound, or tells you rabbit fur is sealskin, you can do something about it.

But it isn't unlawful when Big Business cheats you. It isn't even called cheating or defrauding. But in the end your money is gone.

People tell you now that you should have bought life insurance, but Congress may inflate currency and then your $5,000 endowment policy may return you just enough to buy a $5,000 sandwich. Inflated currencies always end like that.

Perhaps it would be saner to spend your money. If you don't some slicker man will.

POLITICAL COMMENT

The Future of "Delano."

Kansas City Times.

President Roosevelt signed his bank-closing proclamation and his first message to Congress "Franklin D. Roosevelt." Until he became a Presidential nominee he was so designated without variation. Lately, especially on the radio, there has been a stressing of the full name, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. In the light of precedent and the exigencies of headline writing, what is to become of "Delano" as the Roosevelt administration progresses?

The "Clark" disappeared from the Hoover name, Wilson discarded Thomas, Coolidge dropped John and few knew that Cleveland's first Christian name was Stephen. Even if a President had no consideration other than physical conservation, it would seem desirable to shorten the signature, for one of the laborious things of the White House job is the signing of the President's name. At least current usage should conform to the President's personal practice, and that would reduce the "Delano" to D., a usage conforming to that of nearly all our Presidents who, having two Christian names, did not discard one altogether.

"Neighborhood America."

San Francisco Chronicle.

President Roosevelt begins his administration with an explicit repudiation of the idea of the isolationists that the United States can live apart from the world. He would "dedicate this Nation to the policy of the good neighbor—the neighbor who resolutely respects himself and, because he does so, respects the rights of others—the neighbor who respects his obligations and respects the sanctity of his agreements in and with a world of neighbors."

The implications of that statement are vast.

Not a word in the speech of Democrats or Republicans, but a call to Americans to stand fast, to back their Government, to put just principle first, to discipline themselves and, if necessary, to sacrifice, that the Nation may win through.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Immense Financial Strength of United States Makes It Invulnerable to Foreign Attack.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: America is the strongest monetary power in the world. The picture of the people of this country, with its huge gold reserves and huge possibilities of credit expansion and with a commodity price level that does not show the slightest trace of inflation, buying the exchange of its impoverished debtors for protection is of itself alone unique.

One need only remember our stupidities in purchasing the ruble from Russia on its downward march, the mark from Germany before it perished, and our foreign investments in South America and elsewhere afterward, to appreciate the absurdities in this situation.

Nor is this all. The position of the United States is one of such immense strength with our big favorable balance on visible trade, and the great sums due to us year by year on government and commercial debts, that even did we through stupidity dissipate all our gold, our position as creditor would promptly turn the exchanges in our favor and pull in gold the moment the buying of these people is exhausted. This being so, surely it is footless for them to try to protect themselves through purchases of foreign exchange. How long do they suppose France could remain on gold should we otherwise decide? Would it be days or weeks, and could these people then convert their money back again? Perhaps the ones engaged today in this pleasant pastime know nothing of those days not many years ago when France refused to permit money once placed within her reach to leave her shores.

Let us hope they never will.

On last Sunday, this beautiful building where prayer and praise are wont to arise, was given over to a meeting sponsored by the Youth Peace Council of Washington. One of the speakers was a violent radical. He advocated Marxism; called himself a socialist; a pacifist, and a feminist. He insulted the flag. Throwing out his hands, he shouted: "There it is! That flag was put there in the days of war hysteria." He raved against "patriotic fury," "emotional appeal," and the Navy. The old line on "cannon-fodder" was hauled in as usual. There was no religion at that meeting, no prayer, no hymn, and, fortunately, no benediction after the tirade.

Pamphlets on the recognition of Russia, that godless nation that is trying to drag down to her own level the nations of the earth, were handed out in the vestibule.

Why tolerate those who come to us with their Marxian doctrines, their godless ravings, their threats against our Government, their attempts to destroy the sacredness of our family life—in fact, our civilization? Should we not rise and drive them out?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

WISHES.

I'd like to dream a little by the fire,
I've many books I've set aside to read.
An idle day has been my heart's desire.
But still I seem to travel at full speed.
Always the day must have its little deed
Always at night there's somewhere we must go.
The doctors say that rest is what I need
I don't suppose I'll ever get it though.

At times of busy streets I seem to tire,
I've dreamed of poultry of my own to feed.
Hip boots in springtime when the ground's all mire,
But still a cash-and-carry life I lead.
The country calls me, but I pay no heed,
There are too many city folks I owe,
I'd like a farm where pheasants mate and breed,
I don't suppose I'll ever get it though.

'Tis not to fame or greatness I aspire,
Merely from constant duty I'd be freed.
I'd like to tramp a roadway and inquire.
If strangers would a hungry mortal feed.
I'd like to dig a plot and plant the seed
And spend the summer watching blossoms grow;
I'd like the time to study vine and weed.
I don't suppose I'll ever get it, though.

'Tis not in disappointment that I plead;
I live this life as have the fates decreed.
But I would like an easier row to hoe,

COUNTY FINANCE AID URGED IN ANNAPOLIS

Bills to Offset Dangers in Suburban Areas Are Introduced.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 15.—Additional legislation to offset the emergency financial situation in both Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties, is proposed in bills offered in the House of Delegates today.

The Prince Georges County delegation sponsored a bill that would empower the county commissioners to meet budgetary expenses for the next three years by issuing certificates of indebtedness over a five-year period, only to an amount which the county treasurer, commissioners and board of education have on deposit as "non-liquid or frozen assets," and 50 per cent of uncollected taxes for the respective years. It is provided, however, that the certificates may be redeemed at any time during the period.

A similar proposal was presented by Dr. George Edmunds, of the Montgomery delegation. It provided for issuance of notes from time to time in anticipation of proceeds from bond sales and payment of taxes, loans not to exceed 75 per cent of expected tax collections. Another proposal is for refunding bonds to cover outstanding issues that mature before June 30, 1935.

Silver Spring Firemen.

Another bill by Dr. Edmunds increases the allowance for the Volunteer Fire Department of Silver Spring from $2,500 to $4,300, the fund to be raised through tax levy in that section. Placing transactions for redemption of property sold for taxes exclusively in the hands of the county treasurer, instead of the court, is provided in another proposal by Edmunds.

Delegate Farrington sponsored a bill making certain minor changes in regulations governing the laying of sidewalks and other street improvements in Section Four of Chevy Chase.

A bill by the Prince Georges delegation eliminates the provision of existing law requiring police of Colmar Manor to pursue law violators beyond the town limits.

Delegate E. W. Miller, Washington County, initiated a move to legalize bookmaking in that county, presenting a bill that provides an annual fee of $2,500 for license to be obtained from the county commissioners. Wagering on Sunday would be banned, and allowing minors to bet also would be prohibited. Violation of the law would be subject to a penalty of $1,000 or prison term of one year or both.

Marriage License Bill.

The perennial marriage license bill bobbed up in the House, though in somewhat different form. It was offered by Delegate Conway, Baltimore City, and provides that 72 hours should elapse from the time of issuing licenses and performance of the marriage rite, except that judges of courts would be permitted to waive the time provision.

The Frederick County delegation proposed a dog license law for that county. It would place a tax of $1 on male canines, $5 on females, $15 for kennels up to 25 dogs, and $25 for more than 25.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, who has been extremely busy for the last several weeks, first with his budget appropriations for the next biennium and then the banking situation, went into conference with Senate and House leaders tonight over legislative matters, including measures to permit sale of beer, and possibly additional banking legislation, and recommendations carrying budget modifications.

Ambassador to Cuba May Be New Yorker

(United Press.)

President Roosevelt conferred last night with Secretary of State Hull, Herbert Feis, economic adviser to the State Department; James P. Warburg, a New York banker, and Charles W. Taussig, official of the American Molasses Co. and recognized authority on Cuban affairs.

The meeting gave rise to speculation that the President might be moved toward selection of an Ambassador to Cuba. Warburg's name has been mentioned several times in connection with this post. Mr. Roosevelt is understood to favor naming a New York man familiar with finance, because of the economic relations of the two countries.

Bid to Supreme Court Justices Is Innovation

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt has decided upon another innovation. This time it affects the Supreme Court.

The court has called each year upon the President to pay its respects. For years the practice has been for the justices to stand in a semicircle while the President shakes hands with each and exchanges a few words of greeting.

The court will call upon President Roosevelt this afternoon, but this time the President has extended an invitation to the justices to bring their wives and have tea. Never before have the wives or members of the family of the justices been present on such visits.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Shipley, 100 years old, known in Maryland as the State's oldest mother, died yesterday at her home near Browningsville, in Montgomery County, Md.

Born in Montgomery County on January 13, 1833, Mrs. Shipley had lived nearly all her life in that county. Her husband, John Robert Shipley, died 36 years ago.

Six children, 23 grandchildren, 61 great-grandchildren and 6 great-great-grandchildren survive Mrs. Shipley.

When Mrs. Shipley celebrated her ninety-ninth birthday in 1932 she was formally recognized as "the oldest mother in Maryland," and was awarded a gold medal by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Shipley had lived of late years with her granddaughter, Mrs. Ida Disney. Funeral services will be held at Bethesda Methodist Episcopal Church near Browningsville tomorrow at 2 p. m.

$200,000 DEPOSITED IN ARLINGTON BANKS

Confidence of County Shown in Record Business at Trust Companies.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Confidence of the citizens of the county was shown by deposits made yesterday in the Clarendon Trust and the Arlington Trust Companies, totaling in excess of $200,000.

Thomas E. Sebrell, secretary-treasurer of the Clarendon Trust Co., stated that the confidence of the people was most gratifying. The deposits, running close to $100,000, were greater than in any other single day since the bank opened twelve years ago.

It was stated by officials of both banks that the withdrawals were very small.

The Peoples State Bank of Cherrydale opened with a 5 per cent restriction on withdrawals.

Rome, March 15 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today expressed to Father John J. Burke, of Washington, D. C., general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Council, his belief that the "United States will very shortly and in a most capable way weather the financial emergency."

Father Burke was received in private audience by His Holiness, accompanied by Mgr. Moses E. Kiley, spiritual director of the American College in Rome. His Holiness said he was "appreciative of the religious liberty characterizing the United States, whereby the church is able to work in complete freedom to give its contribution to the upbuilding of the Nation."

Cleric Tried

Indianan Accused by Girl Faces Secret Ecclesiastical Tribunal.

Muncie, Ind., March 15 (A.P.).—The ecclesiastical trial of the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, suspended pastor of the Madison Street M. E. Church, who is accused of conduct unbecoming a pastor, began today in the cloister of the suburban Normal City Church.

The accused pastor faced a jury of 12 ministers to defend himself against the charge that he attempted to attack Miss Helen Huffman, 18-year-old member of his congregation.

In the broad churchyard a throng milled about, awaiting some word of the proceedings. The trial was held in secret, admission being granted only to the jurymen, Bishop Edgar Blake, who presided, the principal and the clergymen who acted as defenders and accusers. Bishop Blake announced, however, that the result of the trial would be made public. The case is expected to end tomorrow.

The Rev. Mr. Conway, who is about 55 years old and the father of several grown children, also is awaiting trial in circuit court on similar charges and for assault and battery on Willard Aurand, choirmaster at the Madison street church, second largest in Muncie.

ALEXANDRIA CHARITY COMMITTEE NAMED

Board to Devise Ways and Means to Raise New Relief Funds.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

William A. Smoot, Elliott F. Hoffman, Thomas Chauncey, Mrs. Otis H. Hullings and Mrs. Effie L. Baggett have been appointed a committee from the Alexandria United Charities to devise ways and means of securing additional funds for the continuation of the work of that organization.

A report submitted by the treasurer, Thomas Chauncey, showed only a small balance in the treasury, and the calls are many, therefore the citizens of Alexandria are urged to continue to contribute to this work.

Mrs. Hullings reported that Benedict Weil had contributed a whole beef to the cause, which he had distributed to the poor through the United Charities. Mr. Chauncey reported the Kiwanis Club has made tentative plans for the establishment of a camp for underprivileged children during the summer months, and suggested the names of children ranging in age from 9 to 12 years be submitted as soon as possible for consideration.

An interesting resume of past entertainment programs of the Washington Kiwanis Club was given by Mark Lansburgh, a past president of that club.

Announcement was made of the joint luncheon of the three Arlington County service clubs, Monarch, Rotary and Kiwanis, which will be held Thursday, April 6, at Windsor Arms. President John F. Webster presided.

Baltimore, March 15 (A.P.).—The United States War Department has served formal notice on the City of Baltimore that it must abandon the use of Fort McHenry as a public park.

It was the bombardment of Fort McHenry that inspired "The Star-Spangled Banner" in 1812.

STRONG FIGHT MADE TO WIDEN HIGHWAY

Maryland Legislators Claim Toll Span Would Net $4,000,000.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 15.—Strong arguments were presented before the House ways and means committee today in behalf of the bill now pending before the General Assembly, which proposes to increase the width of the Philadelphia road from Baltimore to the Delaware State line from 20 to 40 feet.

The bill, by Delegate Street Baldwin, of Baltimore County, authorizes a bond issue of $4,000,000 for construction and it is proposed to place a toll charge on the Havre de Grace bridge, which, it was pointed out, would eventually cover the outlay in view of the immense volume of traffic.

James Lewis, of the Elkton Business Men's Association, filed a petition signed by 200 taxpayers, and said there is two and a half times as much traffic over this highway as all others together; that millions of dollars are invested in business enterprises along the route; that it will not place any additional cost on people of the State because of the proposed toll and the fact that the bulk of traffic is from out of the State, and he feels sure rights of way would be immediately available.

Prompt passage by the House of the bill placing a special tax on chain stores and the successful effort of Senator Coad, St. Marys County, in reviving his bill to reduce the salary of judges of the State were among features of today's legislative session.

A favorable report on the chain store tax bill was adopted by the House yesterday, following protracted debate, and that body wanted to get it to the Senate as early as possible. Delegate Baldwin, author, estimates that the revenue to be derived from this tax will approximate $200,000 annually. It is proposed to distribute it among the counties and Baltimore City to help reduce direct taxation.

Coad had the Senate locked in a 14-14 tie after a bitter fight yesterday on his move to substitute the judges' salary bill for an unfavorable committee report. Today he scored his point when Senator Beall, Allegany County, who opposed him yesterday, shifted his vote, explaining that the change was consistent with his stand on economy measures. The bill was made the special order of business for tomorrow. Meanwhile Coad announced he proposes to amend the bill to make the reduction 15 per cent instead of 25.

Simmerley, director of the Virginia truck gardening experimental station at Norfolk, will give a talk on fertilizers and the proper use of lime for garden vegetables, and Dr. Harold T. Letters of a Capital Society Divorcee to Her Mother

Dearest Mother: Still no signs of my papers arriving and it is nerve-wracking. My Eastern lawyer and I have communicated either by telephone or telegraph every day for the past week. Reggie's lawyer is not very reassuring with him. It is beginning to look as if I may have to wait the forty days and get a default decree and the very thought is insupportable as I am nervous now and restless, and want to see you and my friends at home. It is terrible to be cooped up in a hotel room for so long and so far away from everyone. As I am not asking for any alimony there doesn't seem to be any reason for his not signing. But I learned today that his lawyer said if I sign a release of dower rights he will do the same and might then consider signing the papers. Why didn't they tell me before that was what they wanted? I would have done that weeks ago. Now it doesn't look as if I will get off on my Monday, which is next week, although my lawyer here says a husband can send power of attorney by telegram at the last minute.

That has often been known to happen. Will you please send me $250 for my lawyer's fee, $50 for court costs, $50 for Reggie's lawyer here as I have offered to pay for it if he will sign, $10 for my resident witness and $10 for a publication fee in case I have to have him served if the signature has not arrived at the end of the 42 days? If it comes I will get off next Monday night and I want to be prepared financially to "bolt" away on the Overland. Also I need money for my hotel bill for two weeks and $100 for a new dress and hat I had to have. Of course, I have tipped the servants as I went along, but you know how they always expect something very nice at the end. Incidentally, they are the nicest servants I ever saw in any hotel. In fact, I can't speak too highly of the hotel, as I have been very comfortable here. Did I tell you that Sadler sent every guest in the hotel Easter lilies? Really beautiful big plants with four or five blooms on each one. They do lots of nice things like that for you. Much love,

ELIZABETH.

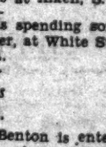
A New Yorker AT LARGE



By MARK BARRON.

New York—In theatrical circles Helen Hayes is regarded as an instinctive actress.

The words are not used without reason, for what is meant is that she almost invariably knows what to do in a given situation on the stage without being told how by a director. In brief, she picks up a handkerchief or crosses a stage, or sits down, without having to think.

INNATE.

It seems to be a gift born in her, even though she started on the stage in her home town of Washington at the age of 6, so that footlights and grease paint are well known to her. But as others have started in their career equally early, it is obvious that in the case of Miss Hayes this gift has had plenty to do with her climb to the top.

Though she received recognition aplenty for her performance in "Dear Brutus," "Babe" and "To the Ladies," her first starring engagement on Broadway was in a revival of Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows," and even then it was her own merits that put her name above the title.

At the start she was cofeatured equally with Kenneth MacKenna (later in pictures, where he met and married Kay Francis), but her performance of Maggie Wylie won such praise, not only from the critics, but from the public, that she was starred within two weeks.

The extending of the original booking from 4 weeks to 34 proved the public was right. (They buy their seats, the critics don't.)

VERSATILE MARY BOLAND.

Those who may wonder how Mary Boland can go from heavy drama (such as "Women Go On Forever"), to straight comedy ("Meet the Wife"), to farce ("Cradle Snatchers"), to musical comedy ("Face the Music"), forget her early training on the stage, which was thorough enough to satisfy, even years ago, such an exciting person as John Drew, whose leading woman she was.

Miss Boland, Clifton Webb and Hassard Short are close friends—and, in a fashion, an interlocking directorate.

Short had the script of "Cradle Snatchers" and persuaded Miss Boland to appear in it. She was one of the reasons why the farce ran well over a year in New York. When he produced "Sonny," he put Webb in that show, and when Max Gordon put on "Three's a Crowd," Webb suggested Short as stager for the revue.

Webb and Miss Boland played together in "Meet the Wife," though it isn't generally remembered that Webb ever appeared in a straight comedy.

The Meanderer

Mixes Books and Bottle Stoppers With Orange Trees and Dinners From Department Store Bake Shop.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Sober tastes in reading have come with these days of sober thinking, according to a leading bookseller. Always the literature of a people follows its economic trends, the bookseller said, pointing to his long and flourishing row of books on economics, politics and international relations. Not just professors and others who are paid to read and think are buying such books. The public in general is about to make best sellers of this thoughtful type of literature the bookseller showed the Meanderer.

"The United States in World Affairs," by Walter Lippman; "The New Deal," by Stuart Chase; the second book of James Truslow Adams' "The March of Democracy," and "Life of Woodrow Wilson," by John K. Winkler, are selling to Washingtonians of all walks of life. Such books do not cost as much as they did several years ago. Not a book mentioned costs more than $3.50.

"My Boy Franklin," written from material furnished by Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, is of course getting the warm reception it deserves from the public.

A long, tall drink makes a good accompaniment for a book for some readers, and right here is the place to tell about a tricky bottle stopper that may also be a hooker, a corkscrew, a bottle opener and a funnel. This five-in-one bottle cap is made of nontarnishable napier. It costs just $1.

For parking the long, tall glass, or the little short glass, a marble-topped coffee table, with solid mahogany base, selling in a Seventh street store's anniversary sale for $9.94, is to be recommended.

Sausage with much red pepper in it, such as a customer buys regularly in a farm-to-home market in 10-pound orders, may serve as a hearty midnight supper dish after the evening spent with serious books. Swedish rye bread or a cheese bread have stood tests of critical customers and are well worth the 15 cents a loaf asked in the same farm-to-home market on upper Wisconsin avenue.

Dinners for two which may be ordered from a department store bake shop and served quickly in the home, with easy reheating, are proving popular. The dinners may be charged to your account at the store. Deviled crabs are to be features of one of the dinners to buy on Friday, and on Saturday New England dinners featuring Boston baked beans and steamed brown bread will appeal to many. Creamed chicken, spiced pears and fudge cake are on another dinner's menu.

Orange trees that live out of doors the whole year, blooming three times a year, make pretty ornamental garden plants. They sell from the farm of a member of a farm women's market, at 25 cents each. The trees grow 12 to 15 feet tall, and bear fruit which may be preserved. The fruit produced from the orange trees in this climate is more nearly the flavor of grapefruit.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

A WEALTH OF PLAYS.

THE hands at the Contract table which receive the highest praise from experts, students and average players alike are those having a central theme, because the human mind, in considering the play of a hand at Bridge, dislikes complications and loves simplicity. There are, however, many hands which offer a choice in the line of play to be adopted by the Declarer or by the defending players, which, while complicated, are of extreme interest, as, for instance, the following hand which was played by Mr. M. T. Bullock of Williamsport, Pa.:

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	3◇	Pass
3♡	Pass	3NT	Pass
4♡	Pass	6♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

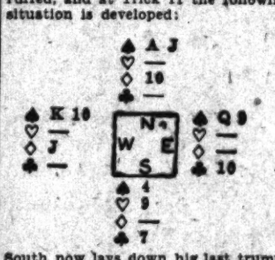
As Mr. Bullock remarks, the Slam contract was obviously an overbid. However, against the Opening of the diamond 6, which was made, it can be made and it can also be set. The different plays presented in the arrangement of the 52 cards in this deal include:

1. A lead-placing end-play.
2. A simple squeeze.
3. A double squeeze.
4. A defensive exit-play.

With the Opening lead of the diamond 6, the Declarer wins the first trick with the Ace and leads a heart from Dummy, finessing the Knave, and when West plays the Ten, South knows that East originally held four hearts headed by the King. The third trick is won with the Queen of clubs in Dummy, and the heart 8 finessed and permitted to hold. To Trick 5, unquestionably the Declarer's best play is the lead of the diamond Queen. Now, if East refuses to ruff, South discards a spade and proceeds to strip East of spades. After Trick 10 East will hold the King-6 of hearts and the club 10, and South the Ace-Queen of hearts and the club 5. Thus played, South forces East to win a trick with the club and lead to his major tenace in hearts. This is the lead-placing end-play.

If East ruffs at Trick 5, South discards a spade, and if East then leads a small spade, South plays his last spade from his own hand and wins the trick in the Dummy with the Ace. South then continues to lead trumps until, at Trick 12, East is squeezed and must part with the spade Queen, setting up Dummy's Knave, or a club, giving South 4 club tricks. This is a simple squeeze.

If East chooses to lead a heart or club to Trick 6, South will make his contract by means of the double squeeze. If East leads a club, the trick is won in the South hand with the Ace, East's last trump picked up, the club King cashed, a diamond ruffed, and at Trick 11 the following situation is developed:



South now lays down his last trump, and both East and West are squeezed.

However, one of the chief points of interest about the hand is that East has a defense by means of the correct exit-play. His correct line of defense is to ruff the diamond Queen at Trick 5 and then lead the spade Queen to Trick 6.

This is one of the features about the game of Bridge which make it the world's most popular game. The opportunity for accurate and brilliant play is rarely confined to one side. The Contract table is a stage, and every player, whether Declarer or one of the defenders, has a chance to play his part.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MARCH AND PNEUMONIA.

THE late winter and early spring is the sickly season. There is more illness in the worst three months of this period than in the six months of the healthier part of the year. In this season all the forms of acute contagious disease are at their peaks, except typhoid fever, malaria, and infantile paralysis. But the great menace is the common cold and the diseases that are related thereto. Of these the pneumonias are much the most serious. Even babies under one year of age now find this season the one in which they are most in danger and diarrheal diseases are less harmful to them than pneumonia and bronchitis.

Dr. Osler termed pneumonia the "friend of the aged." He said that, more than any other disease, it eased them out of life and with no pain and very little discomfort. The disease reaps its harvest at every age period. Not only do the aged and the very young succumb but it is especially prevalent among young, hardy, previously healthy men and women. Vigor, physical strength, and unimpaired organs are not protective against it. When people of this type get it they are apt to start in with a chill and a pain in the side, the fever rises high, and stays up. Breathing is rapid and the face is flushed. In from three to seven days—usually five—the battle is lost. Weaker people and those with crippled organs are apt to have less fever and to hold out longer. However, heavy drinkers generally go under more rapidly.

Of those who have one of the usual type of pneumonias about one-fourth succumb and the remainder recover and usually without after-effects. In some instances a pneumonic pleurisy follows, but that is the exception. The rule is that the person who conquers in the battle against pneumonia regains his strength with reasonable promptness and in a few weeks is well, free from cough and any other after-effect.

In the general run of cases the behavior of a pneumonia patient suggests that the pneumococcus acts as does the diphtheria bacillus and, therefore, there should be a curative antitoxin equal to that we have to cure diphtheria with. This may be and probably is true, but no laboratory has ever been able to find it or to develop a method of producing it.

The part of the pneumonia story that particularly interests lay readers is that pneumonia so often gives warning. If a man will heed the signs he may succeed in evading the disease. Not infrequently pneumonia is preceded by what appears to be a cold with fever and aching. After a few days, in which there is no spitting of blood, possibly no cough and no evidence that the lungs are involved, a chill suddenly appears and high fever and cough indicate that pneumonia has developed. If such colds were treated by quiet rest in bed and very light diet the pneumonia stage would not be reached.

Babies, old people, and people with heart troubles should be especially well protected against inclemencies of the weather during the pneumonia season.

New Photo Studio Opened by Artists

Hessler-Henderson Firm Is Noted Combine on Portraiture.

Leo G. Hessler, noted portrait photographer, with Paul Henderson, jr., Washington artist, have opened a new studio in the Hay-Adams House, under the firm name of Hessler-Henderson, Inc.

Mr. Hessler probably has photographed more celebrities than any other photographer. He has been associated with most of the leading national photographic firms, specializing in making portraits of political and social leaders.

Asked if famous people weren't easier to photograph than ordinary mortals, he said, "It doesn't matter how hardened celebrities become to news cameras, a posed picture or portrait is just as difficult for them as it is for anybody else. Whenever any one tries too hard to look like himself or herself, it just can't be done."

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

The most popular and practical and inexpensive new lingerie in the world! (Selected by Dah-ray.)

JUST what is the really practical thing in lingerie today?

Well, styles come and go, and fancy and adorable and can't-live-withoutable lingerie comes and goes, too, and then miladi buys the kind of underwear I have sketched for you today!

Her underskirt, or costume slip, is the one best suited to conform to the most lines in today's mode. The fitted top is almost necessary and the circular skirt gives the fullness needed without too much of it. If you feel like making your slips, then try the front piece effect I have sketched for you today, together with the gathered brassiere top, and the not too circular skirt. Anyhow, this is the type most worn and most sold the world over today.

Nightgown styles have changed, though. The over-the-shoulder styles are almost universally accepted, despite the fact that they may be a bit harder to launder. But any woman who has known the pleasure of keeping arms and shoulders out of the bedclothes at night won't willingly give up this style in favor of more decollete sleeping wear. Another new note in nightgowns is the popularity of cotton materials, in wee prints, and in fine handwork. Nainsook, flowered batiste and ninon nighties are cunning and flattering.

I sketched two over-the-shoulder styles in nightgowns for you today—one with a matching step-in. And the brassiere I sketched, too, shows a new idea in machine allover embroidery which seems to be very popular in this type of garment.

There is a little less lace than formerly in the new lingerie. Both hand and machine embroidery seems to have replaced it. Or when one does see lace, it is in the form of fine edging, rather than the profusion of lace that was popular in lingerie in other days.

Of all of the lingerie sets, the one that consists of a slip and matching panties seems the most popular. This is because, with a costume slip, one needs wear only the panties and not a chemise. And corsets or girdle and brassiere, of course.

A new bedspread for the summer, one for the studio couch, one for the boudoir—and then a few more thrown in! That's what this week's illustrated leaflet tells you how to make, bedspreads, and a whole flock of 'em, too. Just a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department, The Washington Post, will bring this leaflet of bedspread designs and how to make 'em to you.

Au revoir.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

EVERYBODY'S doing it! Getting a permanent wave. What with hair styles offering more and more individuality, with women generally hard pressed for time, the permanent is a godsend!

Beauty parlors everywhere welcome this business and the operator is naturally eager to get as much of it as possible. Therefore when she sacrifices part of that business for sincerity and good will and tells you that your hair will not take a permanent, in its present run-down condition, or because it has been overbleached, overdyed or recently ruined by an inferior permanent, be guided by her instructions. Know that she is a rare product of the beauty school that believes in satisfying the customer not once but for all time.

Don't, please don't, do what so many women make the mistake of doing. Don't go around the corner or across the street to another parlor where a less particular or expert operator will give you a permanent. Some operators won't give up a cash customer, no matter what the outcome. And the outcome may be a poor wave, that won't last long, or perhaps an overbaked, fuzzy effect, or hair sapped of its strength, or scalp and hair with every bit of natural oil exhausted.

This does not mean that if an operator tells you that your hair will take a permanent beautifully that you are to doubt her veracity. The better beauty salons offer a test curl. A few strands of hair are wound and baked, the baking time and temperature watched with the aid of special apparatus such as a thermometer. The time and temperature may vary for each curl. This done, the operator can determine exactly what time and temperature will give your individual type of hair best results. Ask for a test curl when you are about to have a permanent.

Tell the Truth.

Another word of caution. If operator asks, "Have you ever had a henna, bleach, dye treatment?" answer truthfully. If you don't, be prepared to take the consequences, because the success of the wave may depend upon your answer. Also, if you have had special scalp treatments with iodine, tell the operator. Hair coated with henna or dye needs longer baking for perfect permanent results than hair in its natural state.

My new bulletin, "The Permanent—Long May It Wave," is yours for a self-addressed, stamped envelope. It tells you how to take care of your hair before and after the permanent.

What Today Means

"PISCES."

IF March 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 9:50 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 1:55 p. m. and from 4:15 p. m. to 5:20 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12 noon and from 6:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

You may well seek for hidden motives prompting the words and acts of those going out of their way on this day to please you particularly. Children will tend to be unruly and will be rather difficult to handle. You may receive a great disappointment in connection with a loved one.

The child born on this March 16 will probably be a "doubting Thomas." He will not accept anything without first checking up on it. You will find him inclined to be "standoffish" and unwilling to mingle with groups. He will have a great understanding and appreciation of color. Look for him to make his own way in life.

If March 16 is the date of your birth, you are most likely a person who can accomplish much, but you must "get on the ball" and keep it rolling.

The women born on March 16 are seemingly more inclined to exert themselves than are the men. They make splendid wives and take great interest in the business affairs of their husbands; they often prove themselves to be capable advisers. Their hunches concerning business activities it would appear are unerring and they seem able at all times to sense which way the wind is blowing. These women are never idle, yet they always have time to stop along the road and give another a boost.

Successful people born on March 16:

Elsie Janis, actress.
Samuel A. Green, physician, soldier and author.
Andrew S. Hallidie, engineer.
Ethelbert Warfield, educator.
Lilian Blauvelt, singer.
Charles B. Lore, chief justice of Delaware.

Stocks Advance 7.7 Points In Liveliest Sales Since 1931

Market Reopens With Hope of Prosperity; Trading, 3,061,287 Shares.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Financial markets radiated good cheer and returning confidence today. Stocks joined in an upswing which clearly expressed widely-held hopes that the country had cast out panic and that the banking holiday had represented perhaps the final stage of an exhausting deflation.

Wall street's fondest hopes for its security markets in the first post-holiday session were exceeded in the boom that developed on the stock exchange, particularly during the afternoon. Opening gains of 1 to 7 points in shares were plentiful, but the market reserved its best efforts for the last hour or so when hard-pressed shorts and other buyers bid favorites up to an average net gain of 7.7 points, the largest advance since October, 1931. Generally speaking, final prices were from 3 to 16 points over the close of March 3. Volume swelled to 3,061,287 shares, the biggest day since September 22, last.

Obviously, this spectacular appreciation, accompanied by large gains in the Federal bond list, reflected to some degree a scarcity of offerings. It appeared that holders of stocks were reluctant to sell pending evidence as to which way the cat was to jump. Particularly as regards inflation, though numerous economists have been insisting that corrective measures taken in the last week or ten days have not been inflationary. Probably, also, the reopening of banks and a belief that this troublesome situation was at last "going through the cleaner's" contributed to bullishness.

Banking troubles had long lowered on financial horizons, but hardly less disturbing had been the climbing Government deficit and an unbalanced budget. Recent developments, however, indicated that efforts to remedy this were to be quickly instituted, a fact which could hardly escape notice as trading was resumed. Gains of 2 or 3 points in Government loans were general.

BONDS STAGE RALLY IN BUOYANT TRADING

Gain of 1.9 Points Recorded as Sales Amount to $12,566,000.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—A reinvigorated bond market came back from its recently enforced vacation today and staged one of the most buoyant rallies since the gala days of years gone by.

Although trading volume lagged somewhat in various groups, offerings were so scarce throughout the session that most purchases could only be effected at advances of 1 to 6 or more points. United States Government securities led the skyrocketing with gains ranging from 1 to more than 3 points, while the majority of foreign obligations joined in with notable recoveries.

The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans recorded a gain of 1.9 points over the average on March 3, which preceded the closing of the New York Stock Exchange because of the national banking holiday. Sales totaled $12,566,000, par value, which compared with a March 3 aggregate of $14,674,000.

High-grade and low-grade loans ran neck and neck in the onward rush, but the railways, as a whole, exhibited the most pronounced vitality. Gains of 1 and 2 points among the carriers were common.

Nation's 1933 Crop Acreage To Be 3.5 Per Cent Smaller

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Agriculture announced yesterday this year's crop acreage for harvest would be 3.5 per cent smaller than the harvested acreage of last year, based on farmers intentions as of March 1.

The department said the acreage indicated was 103,934,000, as compared with 107,729,000 acres harvested last year.

All spring wheat acreage is indicated as 20,986,000, compared with 21,521,000 acres last year, including durum wheat, 2,983,000 acres, compared with 3,863,000, and other spring wheat, 18,003,000 acres, compared with 17,658,000.

The area of oats is indicated as 40,003,000 acres, compared with 41,224,000 acres last year.

The area indicated for other crops was announced as follows: Barley, 12,971,000 acres, compared with 13,213,000; Flaxseed, 1,819,000, compared with 2,087,000; rice, 758,000, compared with 869,000; grain sorghums, 8,033,000, compared with 7,850,000; potatoes, 3,185,000, compared with 3,368,000; sweet potatoes and yams, 806,000, compared with 926,000; tobacco, 1,747,000, compared with 1,433,000; beans (dry edible), 1,343,000, compared with 1,348,000; peanuts, 1,806,000, compared with 1,932,000; soybeans, 3,152,000, compared with 2,895,000; cowpeas, 1,973,000, compared with 2,019,000; tame hay, 53,389,000, compared with 52,819,00.

The acreages indicated are based, the department said, on reports from 47,000 farmers and have been analyzed on the basis of past relations between reported intentions and final estimates of acreages harvested. It was pointed out the acreages actually planted for harvest or harvested may be larger or smaller than indicated on these early intention reports.

Pacific Mutual Escapes Losses in Quake Area

Carl Smith Dow, local general agent for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co. of California, is in receipt of a telegram from President George I. Cochran of the company at Los Angeles, stating that an inspection of all mortgage loans in the earthquake area revealed no loss to the company and a check of the printed death list showed no life or accident losses to the organization.

An engineer's inspection of the company's home office revealed no structural damage, only a slight plaster chipping which can be repaired through routine maintenance funds. The message continued that the company was meeting all obligations as usual and Mr. Dow was instructed to deliver company checks in this district.

CURB PRICES MOUNT IN HEAVIER DEALING

Gains Up to 12 Points Added as Sales Climb to 360,000 Shares.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Participating in the general celebration of the bank holiday, prices on the curb exchange today rose with a buoyancy reminiscent of the bull market days of 1929.

It was the biggest market since December with a turnover of about 360,000 shares against 190,000 shares on the previous trading day, March 3. A considerable part of the business was for professional account, but some traders thought they saw indications of a sizeable outside interest for the first time since the banking situation began to arouse anxiety.

Rising commodity prices had a decisive response in the food shares, coppers, oils and a wide variety of others have a connection with raw materials and manufactured products. The utilities also jumped ahead briskly on buying encouraged by a belief that they were in an oversold position.

The star performers of the day included Great Atlantic & Pacific with a gain of 12 points; Aluminum Co. of America, 9; New Jersey Zinc, 4; Newmont Mining, 4; National Sugar, 5; A. O. Smith, 7; Deere, 3; First National Stores preferred, 4, and Babcock & Wilcox, 4.

In the power and light division the pace was set by Electric Bond & Share, which pushed up 4 points; Cities Service preferred, 3; American Gas & Electric, 3; Commonwealth Edison, 5; Columbia Gas & Electric preferred, 2, and United Gas preferred, 2.

Humble Oil, a closely held issue, climbed 3 points. The more active petroleum shares improved a point or more.

WHEAT VALUES CURB TO GOVERN TRADING

55-Cent Price Is High Mark as Dealing Opens Today; Corn, 31 Cents.

Chicago, March 15 (A.P.).—Without the usual brakes furnished by quotations on daily and weekly indemnities, all grain exchanges in the United States prepared today to resume business tomorrow. The indemnities, known also as privileges, are on insurance contracts to protect the holder against loss by price fluctuations of grain.

High and low price limits officially announced today under emergency rules of the Chicago Board of Trade showed that extreme fluctuations tomorrow could hoist no future delivery of wheat higher than 55 cents a bushel and that 43¾ cents would be the minimum permitted.

These prices were named to conform with last night's announcement that until further notice the changes in wheat values during any one day could not extend up or down more than 5 cents a bushel from the latest previous day's finish.

A huge gong will be sounded when the price limit in either direction is reached on the Chicago Board of Trade, and thereafter any transaction beyond the official limit would be void.

Corn in some cases may go as high as 31 cents a bushel tomorrow for a future delivery. The lowest price permissible would be 21¾ cents. Oats limits for futures range from 19 cents a bushel down to 14 cents, rye extremes are 39¾ and 30¾, with barley 29⅛ and 23⅛ cents.

Some indication of what prices might be expected at the opening tomorrow in the Chicago wheat pit were eagerly watched for today by traders here. One general method adopted was to compare the Winnipeg closing quotations today with the close at Winnipeg on March 3. The comparison showed the Winnipeg wheat finish today was 3⅝ to 5¼ cents up as against the final prices before the United States bank moratorium.

Upturns in securities at New York and elsewhere received sharp scrutiny also as likely to exert a decided influence on grain.

Light scattered showers were reported in drought districts of United States winter wheat territory. A moderate overseas demand for Canadian wheat was reported, with today's business estimated at 500,600 bushels.

Fluctuations in provisions here will be restricted daily to $1 a hundred pounds above or below the closing prices of the previous trading day.

STEEL CLEARS DECK TO RENEW UPSWING

Industry at Lowest Ebb Sees Turn of Tide Near at Hand.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—The 1932 pamphlet report of the United States Steel Corporation, issued today, while disclosing the worst year's business in the history of the organization, indicated that the decks had been cleared to take immediate advantage of any further betterment in the industrial situation.

Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the corporation, in submitting the report to stockholders, said:

"The depression in industry which has prevailed has intensified activities in securing closer coordination and consolidation of operations with resulting economies which should be reflected in relatively more satisfactory net income results upon improvement in business.

"We are passing through difficult times when the utmost tact and consideration are called for in all our dealings. The corporation is fortunate in having had the hearty cooperation and support of its employes in all departments. In the face of these discouraging conditions a splendid morale prevails throughout the organization."

As previously estimated, the corporation for the year suffered a deficit, after the payment of preferred dividends and other charges, of $91,891,867. This was comparable with a deficit in 1931 of $49,185,485. Gross revenues of the company dropped to $357,201,705 in 1932, compared with $729,377,467 for the previous year. Export shipments aggregated $17,587,368, against $40,207,210 in 1931.

The corporation's balance sheet showed total current assets as of December 31 last of $397,686,240, compared with $494,532,808 at the previous year's end. Cash totaled $60,224,116, against $75,239,562, and marketable securities amounted to $46,139,333, against $69,358,308. Inventories, less credit for amount of inventory values representing profits earned by subsidiary companies on intercompany sales of products on hand in inventories of December 31, aggregated $258,354,252, compared with $302,599,748 at the conclusion of the previous year. Property investment accounts aggregated $1,650,816,309, against $2,379,539,292 in 1931. Total current liabilities were $46,987,376, comparable with $63,881,148.

NEW YORK.

SUGAR—Raw: was quiet today, but the undertone was firmer with holders asking higher levels, encouraged by sharp upturn in futures. Buyers were inclined to be cautious, but following a sale late yesterday of 18,000 bags of Philippines for March-April shipment at 2.91 which was 4 points below the previous sale the market firmed up with 25,000 bags of Cubas selling today for prompt shipment at 3.00. Trading in the futures market was resumed today. May contracts sold from 95 to 1.02 and December from 1.02 to 1.10. Final prices were at the best of the session. The strength in the futures market and a compilation by a trade commission house estimating supplies over requirements in the United States at only 282,000 tons at the end of this year were factors in the upturn. Trading was the most for many months aggregating 75,400 tons. March closed 1.00, May 1.02, July 1.04, September 1.07, December 1.10, January 1.11. The refined market was steady and unchanged at 4.10 for fine granulated with good withdrawals, but no new business reported.

U.S. ENVOYS SITTING ON FAR EAST BOARDS

Wilson and Mayer Included at Secret Meetings of League Experts.

Geneva, March 15 (U.P.).—The United States was represented today at a secret meeting of the League of Nations' newly formed advisory committee seeking settlement of the Chinese-Japanese dispute over Manchuria.

Hugh Wilson and Frederick Mayer, the American members, waited in the offices of Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, while the committee approved Washington's acceptance of the invitation to participate in the commitee's activities. They were then introduced by Drummond.

The committee sat for two hours, and then announced a decision to create two subcommittees, (1) to consider an arms embargo to the Far East, and (2) to study the practical application of the league's policy of nonrecognition of Manchoukuo. The United States was invited to sit on each.

The members of the arms embargo subcommittee include Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland and Holland.

The nonrecognition subcommittee includes Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Italy, Ireland, Turkey, Holland, Spain, Switzerland, Mexico and Norway.

Waters Discusses Banking Situation

Speaker Points Out Crisis Has Not Resulted in Money Inflation.

Banking and currency were discussed last night at a meeting of the political affairs committee of the Young Democrats Club of Washington. Daniel Waters spoke.

"Although arguments are rife as to whether the United States is or is not on the gold standard," Mr. Waters said, "technically speaking the United States is off the gold standard, a fact which has been unduly emphasized and not properly comprehended. The United States is nevertheless on the gold basis or the gold reserve standard."

Mr. Waters pointed that revaluation or tampering with the foundation of our currency, would entail serious consequences, but that "whatever we do which provides for the ultimate convertibility of credit money into gold does not change the foundation. "There has been no inflation of currency as a result of last week's legislation," he concluded.

The Rev. John Cartwright will be the principal speaker at the banquet. The committee arranging the St. Patrick's day festivities includes Patrick H. O'Dea, chairman; Miss Lillian Fay, vice chairman; Thomas McGrath, secretary, and Joseph A. Daly, treasurer.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

Patrons after viewing "The Big Cage" at the Rialto Theater this week nonchalantly saunter over to the miniature zoo established in the lobby in conjunction with the show and even go so far as to emulate the daring of the famed Clyde Beatty, who stars in the picture by advancing as far as the protecting ropes. Miss Elsie Chick, cashier, has made friends with the elephant and the pony. Inset—Nero, the lion on exhibition, is not in his best mood as he faces the camera.

WHEN George M. Cohan comes to the National Theater in his latest play, "Pigeons and People," on Monday, March 27, following the extended road-show engagement of the Fox film version of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade," Washington will have one of its infrequent opportunities to pay tribute to perhaps the most remarkable personality in the American theater.

Although he probably will always be known affectionately as the "Yankee Doodle Comedian," there is no one else identified with the native stage who has left so deep an imprint as "George M.," the sole survivor of that glorious team of The Four Cohans that lent luster to the vaudeville circuits back in the golden days of 30 years and more ago, when the varieties were peopled by such giants of the amusement world as McIntyre and Heath, the Four Mortons, Ezra Kendall, James Richmond Glenroy, Cressy and Dayne, Kelly and Violet, Jim and Bonnie Thornton, Valerie Bergere, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry, Rose Coghlan and hosts of others whose names spell out the very tradition of the two-a-day.

From such vaudeville sketches of his own writing as "Running for Office" and "The Governor's Son," through "Little Johnny Jones," "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" and others of his early musical comedies, including "The Yankee Prince," a few Cohan & Harris Revues and the Cohan & Harris Minstrels, with George "Honey Boy" Evans as an end man and the late Jim Corbett as interlocutor, to the days of "Broadway Jones," "The Song-and-Dance Man" and a long list of other straight comedies and plays, leading directly to "Gambling" and now "Pigeons and People," George M. Cohan has been a prolific author, composer and producer who never has felt impelled to abandon a single high principle to pander to a gradually descending public taste. There has never been a George M. Cohan show that the whole family could not attend with pleasure, propriety and profit.

Of "Pigeons and People," which Washington is so soon to see, George Jean Nathan, one of the most exacting of the commentators, recently wrote: "Mr. Cohan's performance is a remarkable piece of acting and the play itself is one of the most skillful pieces of playwriting seen in New York in a long time."

Since Mr. Cohan awakens possibly more delightful memories in this department than any other contemporary figure in the theater, it seems no more than fair to give warning that a great deal more probably will be heard about him in this space between now and the 27th.

Order your papers now, and don't be disappointed! (Advt.)

From the foregoing it should be one of the less difficultly deducible facts that "Cavalcade," the tremendously realistic historical pageant in which Diana Wynyard, Clive Brook and an imposing cast do so nobly in the interests of recapitulating a third of a century of British progress is to remain at the National a second week. That, at the moment, is the authentic declaration, which should be good news to a great many people who choose their entertainment judiciously.

There is also a little music to be had along the way, this coming week. For example, on Wednesday, March 22, Ignace Paderewski, the great Polish pianist and statesman, will be heard in recital at Constitution Hall at 4:45 o'clock. On Saturday, March 25, Yehudi Menuhin, that youthful prodigy of the violin who now has attained the age of 16, will be heard in his only concert appearance of the season in Washington, at 8:30 p. m.

Speaking of music, H. R. H. Ben Bernie, King of Jazz—with a crown and everything, to prove it—and all the lads put on a complete extra show yesterday to what will doubtless add up to the most appreciative audience of the entire local engagement.

King Ben, who, as, of course, you know, is fulfilling a week's engagement at the Earle—ending tonight, by the way—pulled a fast one on the theater management by personally calling Mrs. Shackleford, director of Red Cross activities at Walter Reed Hospital, and making arrangements to entertain the soldier shut-ins. The management only found out about it when His Majesty encountered some difficulty in securing a bus big enough to hold all the lads and all their instruments.

That perplexity solved, however, away they went to put on their entire act for the boys, arriving back at the theater just as Freddie Clark was playing their introduction for the second show—which, as Manager Harry Lohmeyer will tell you, is drawing it just a bit fine!

Carlo Lorenzini, author of "Pinocchio," which will be presented here at 10:30 a. m. on Saturday, at the National Theater, by the Children's Theater Company, is well known to Italian readers for his charming stories written under the assumed name of "C. Collodi." His most successful story, "Pinocchio," has already become a classic; young readers everywhere have come to love this carefree marionette.

Pinocchio's waywardness and love of mischief provide many thrilling experiences, all of which have been preserved in the play, which has a cast of 32 professional, adult actors.

Coming the first week after the banks have resumed operations on a cash and carry basis, it is highly appropriate that next week's attraction at the Gayety, opening Sunday afternoon as second of the road show offerings which will complete the Washington burlesque season, should be named, "Jingle-Jingle!"

It is announced that following the run of "42nd Street" at the Metropolitan—transferred from a record-breaking week at the Earle—the screen feature at Tenth and F will be the long-awaited, popular-priced engagement of Cecil B. De Mille's stupendous spectacle, "The Sign of the Cross," adapted from the Wilson Barrett play. Similarly it is made known that "The Big Cage," at the Rialto, will be succeeded by those two warring comics, Charles Murray and George Sidney, in "The Cohens and Kellys in Trouble," latest in their series of misadventures.

Other announcements for the ensuing week bring the following to local screens: Palace, Ethel, Lionel and John Barrymore in "Rasputin and the Empress," at popular prices; Earle, Buster Crabbe and Frances Dee in "King of the Jungle," and Ray Bolger headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox, Joan Blondell and Ricardo Cortez in "Broadway Bad" and "Follow Thru," with Joe Pennar and Olive Olsen on the stage; RKO-Keith's, Constance Bennett in "Our Betters;" Columbia, Carveth Wells in "The Jungle Killer," opening Monday.

Even if you have resumed banking, don't bank too much on that "beer by April" business.

You know April 1!

LETICIA EVACUATION ORDERED BY LEAGUE

Recommendation Condemning Peru to Be Published at Geneva Today.

Geneva, March 15 (U.P.).—Complete evacuation of the Leticia Corridor by Peruvian troops and cessation of government support to the Peruvian elements which occupied this Colombian region will be recommended in the Leticia report which will be published tomorrow and which the League of Nations Council will discuss Friday and Saturday.

The report includes 25 pages of historical review of the dispute and arrives at eight conclusions, of which the following are the most important:

1. That both parties recognize the 1922 treaty by which the Leticia zone was ceded to Colombia by Peru; therefore, the zone belongs to Colombia.

2. Peruvians invaded this territory and expelled the Colombian authorities.

3. The Peruvians, coming from Loreto Province, were supported by the military authorities of Loreto.

The report then recommends Peruvian evacuation of the territory and withdrawal of support to the element which first seized Leticia. A second recommendation provides that as soon as the first recommendation has been carried out Peru and Colombia shall immediately begin negotiations to seek a permanent settlement of the dispute.

Income Tax Delay To Carry Interest

Extension of U.S. Deadline Relieves Tension All Over Country.

The eleventh hour postponement of the income tax deadline until March 31, eased the demand at tax collecting agencies of the Government here and throughout the country.

All taxpayers who take advantage of the additional 15 days grace will be required to pay 6 per cent yearly interest on one-quarter of their total tax from March 15.

Washingtonians must continue to pay their taxes at the Internal Revenue Bureau or mail their returns to the collector of Internal Revenue at Baltimore.

ROOSEVELT ENJOYS AUTOMOBILE JAUNT

President Takes Ride After Long Hours at Desk Over Bank Crisis.

(Associated Press.)

Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday went automobile riding to get fresh air, sunshine and relaxation.

Accompanied by White House aids and Secret Service men, the President rode in an open car past many of Washington's beauty spots, into Arlington Cemetery and almost to Alexandria, Va.

The President apparently enjoyed every minute of the ride in the refreshing but chilly March air. For days he has been virtually chained to his desk, dealing with the banking emergency and launching a program of economy, farm and unemployment relief.

Only three times since the inauguration had Mr. Roosevelt been outside the Executive Mansion. On his first Sunday in office he went to church, a few nights later he paid a birthday call on Oliver Wendell Holmes and then last Saturday night he attended a newspapermen's dinner.

The sun shone brightly yesterday as the presidential party of two cars sped around the famed Washington Speedway, through Rock Creek Park, down the old Canal road and into Arlington Cemetery. The machines slowed down as they passed the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, but did not stop. Just before Alexandria, 8 miles away, was reached the President turned back to the White House and the conferences he had left.

Marvin H. McIntyre, a White House secretary, and Miss Marguerite Nehand, his personal secretary, accompanied the President.

He was protected against the chilling air by a heavy coat and wore a gray felt hat, which he doffed to a crowd gathered at the south gate as he left the White House Grounds.

Capitol Air Conditioning Described to Engineers

Air conditioning of all types of buildings and of railroad trains was described in detail last night by Willis H. Carrier, chairman of the board of the Carrier Engineering Corporation, at a meeting of the Washington Society of Engineers under the auspices of the Potomac Electric Power Co.

Mr. Carrier described the installation of artificial air equipment at the Capitol, showing the difficulty encountered because of glass skylights. When the outside temperature is 95, the ideal temperature inside the Senate is 82, the speaker showed. He expressed enthusiasm over the future of air conditioning as a factor in national and world economics.

Social Agencies Council Moves to New Quarters

The Social Service Exchange and the Legal Aid Bureau will remain at the old address, 1418 I street northwest. The telephone number remains the same.

Pollard Pushes Drive Upon Notaries Public

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Continuing his effort to make notaries public toe the mark, Gov. Pollard announced today that failure of any one of them to conform to the letter of the law would result in his dismissal.

He announced that Marvin M. Incas, of Bedford, had been dismissed "for neglect of duty," and said that the cases of several others were pending.

Cunningham Again Wins At Mile

Venzke Fades After Setting Pace to Finish Fourth.

Toppino Wins From Metcalfe in Dash at K. C. Meet.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, March 15 (A.P.).—In a spectacular, driving finish, Glenn Cunningham, of the University of Kansas, won the classic Columbian mile tonight, defeating his noted rival, Gene Venzke, of the University of Pennsylvania, decisively. Venzke faded on the last lap and finished fourth as Cunningham broke the tape in 4 minutes 12 seconds, fastest time of the indoor season.

Cunningham not only demonstrated his mastery over America's foremost milers in convincing style, but his time equaled the best ever made in the Columbian mile, feature event of the annual Knights of Columbus indoor games. Joie Ray won the first race in 1925 in 4:12.

Venzke Sets Pace for Ten Laps.

A crowd of 12,000 spectators cheered Venzke as he set the pace for ten of the eleven laps, but the holder of the world indoor record of 4:10 wilted badly in the final drive, probably as a result of his withering pace. Carl Coan, of Pennsylvania, on the bell lap, surprised by jumping into the lead, but he was passed and outrun by Cunningham as the Kansas star rallied strongly.

In the stretch Cunningham withstood all challenges easily and broke the tape 3 yards in front of Glen Dawson, of the Tulsa A. C., who passed Venzke and Coan to capture second place in another surprising feature of the finish. Dawson, Coan and Venzke were strides apart. Frank Crowley, of Manhattan, was fifth and last.

Al Kelly, of G. U., Third In Sprint.

Cunningham's victory topped off a program marked otherwise by a world indoor record pole vault of 14 feet 1¾ inches by Keith Brown, Yale sophomore, and Emmett Toppino's comeback to a brilliant triumph over Ralph Metcalfe, of Marquette, the national champion, in the 60-yard dash.

Toppino turned the tables on Metcalfe, but his time of 6.3 seconds was short of the Negro's new world mark of 6.1 seconds for the distance, set last week.

Al Kelly, of Georgetown, who had beaten Toppino in the semifinals, was third, and Frank Wykoff, of Southern California, fourth. Wykoff, after being eliminated because of a bad start in the semifinals, was given a place in the final at the request of the other competitors.

The widely ballyhooed septathlon, all-around test, resulted in a hollow victory for Barney Berliner, former University of Pennsylvania star, over Jim Bausch, of Kansas City, the Olympic decathlon and world record holder. Bausch, aggravating an old football knee injury by falling over a hurdle, withdrew after going through five of the seven events.

POLE VAULT (septathlon)—Berlinger, 13 feet 4 inches; Bausch withdrew.

400-METER RUN (septathlon)—Berlinger, 58 seconds; Bausch withdrew.

SEPTATHLON SUMMARY—Won by Barney Berlinger, Penn A. C., Philadelphia, 6,174.78 points. (New record; old record, 5,880.3, by Charles Hoff, of Norway, in 1926.)

HIGH JUMP—Tie for first among Bert Nelson, Illinois A. C.; George Spitz, New York University; Howard Spencer, Geneva College, 6 feet 3 inches (Nelson won jump-off for the medal).

16-POINT SHOT PUT (septathlon)—James Bausch, Kansas City Athletic Club, 48 feet 9¾ inches; Barney Berlinger, Penn A. C., Philadelphia, 45 feet 5.8 inches.

RUNNING BROAD JUMP (septathlon)—Berlinger, 22 feet 11 inches; Bausch, 21 feet 3 inches.

60-YARD DASH (septathlon)—Berlinger, 6.6 seconds; Bausch, 6.9.

60-YARD DASH—Won by Emmett Toppino, New Orleans; second, Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette University; third, Al Kelly, Georgetown; fourth, Frank Wykoff, Los Angeles; fifth, Philip Cohen, New York. Time, 6.3 seconds.

60-YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by John Collier, Boston A. A.; second, George Lockwood, Yale; third, Charles Peasoni, Manhattan; fourth, Earl McDonald, New York A. C. Time, 7.5 seconds.

60-YARD HIGH HURDLES (septathlon)—Berlinger, 8 seconds; Bausch, 8.3 seconds.

A Miracle, Perhaps

It's the age of miracles, perhaps.

The Washington Herald yesterday published the All-Star Washington team selected by Clark Griffith despite the fact that no All-Star Washington team has been selected by Clark Griffith. That's either miraculous, or funny, or both. Draw your own conclusions.

When informed last night at Biloxi, Miss., where the Nats are training, that the Herald had published what it called his all-star team, Clark Griffith, veteran gray-haired president of the Washington club, bit the end of an already well-bitten cigar and roundly denounced the phoney selections.

He gave the following statement to The Post's correspondent:

"I have promised only The Washington Post to pick the best players of the last 20 years. Any other team published is presumptuous guesswork. I had nothing to do with selecting the team released in Washington.

"My selections will not be published until Sunday, and then in The Washington Post, which has conducted this contest for the fans for the past eight weeks. If I am informed correctly as to the athletes named on the unauthorized team published in Washington, it is wrong in at least three positions if not more. It is the worst piece of sportsmanship I have seen in a long time.

CLARK GRIFFITH."

Griffith Still Is in Process Of Selecting All-Star Club; Weighs Pitching Choices

THE pitching selections, the angle that has proved most troublesome to the fans seeking to match Clark Griffith's all-star Washington team in The Posts' Baseball Contest, also are causing Mr. Griffith himself to draw fine lines of comparison, according to The Post's correspondent at Biloxi, where the Nats are quartered.

Word from Biloxi is that Mr. Griffith has virtually completed the selection of the players he deems outstanding during his twenty years affiliation with the Nats, with the exception of the pitchers, one outfield post and one infield position.

Post to Announce Team Sunday.

Griffith's team will be announced Sunday in The Washington Post terminating the contest that has engaged the attention of baseball fans for the past eight weeks. To the fan who matches or most nearly matches the selections of Mr. Griffith, The Post will award eight box seats to the opening game here with Philadelphia April 12. Four box seats will be the reward for second place, with two box seats for third place.

Of course, Griffith will nominate Walter Johnson as one of his pitchers as sure as shootin', but he makes no denial of the fact that the other pitching selections are causing him considerable thought. It is suspected that he is torn between three factors, the heroic work of such as Groom and Hughes, who with Johnson, carried the club through the dark days before the pennant; the sensational triumphs of Reuther, Marberry, Coveleskie and Zachary in the pennant-winning days; and the later day brilliance of such as Crowder and Weaver, who are now with the team.

Hundreds Rush Entries On Final Day.

An unprecedented deluge of selections greeted The Post's baseball contest editor last night just before midnight when the contest came to a close. Mail had been especially heavy throughout the past week as the fans scented free opening-game tickets, but hundreds were able to get in under the wire yesterday before the deadline.

Three more days and The Post will announce Mr. Griffith's selections and the names of the contest winners. Watch for Sunday morning's Post and all the answers.

League Postpones Seniors' Meeting

Capital City Delays Session a Week; Juniors to Gather Tonight.

Last night's meeting of the senior section in the Capital City League was postponed at the request of several of the clubs whose representatives were anxious to attend the A. A. U. basket ball games at Tech High. The same section will meet next Wednesday night in the playground office, room 313 District Building.

Despite the postponement two representatives were on tap to talk over things informally. Stanley Bowers, representing the Dor-A Club, stated that there would be representatives of his club in both the junior and senior sections. The Dor-A team will meet Friday night at Manager Allie Bowers' home, 914 Maryland avenue, Riverdale, Md., at 8 o'clock.

Walter Osborne was also on hand to tell the world that his Swan Service Club was out to make a strong bid for the senior title in the Capital City League. Aside from his mainstays of last year, Osborne says that he has added several new stars.

Tonight representatives of teams in the junior section of the league will meet in the playground office, room 313, District Building. Starting dates, age limits and othe. details will be discussed. Officials have requested the representatives to gather as near 8 o'clock as possible.

G. W. Sends Ghormley And Rote to Title Swim

Capt. Max Rote and Dyer Ghormley, of the George Washington University swimming team, will be sent to New Haven to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships sponsored by Yale on March 24 and 25.

Their participation will mark the first time the Colonials have been represented in the meet since Al Lyman, present coach of the team, performed in the diving events six years ago. Rote is unbeaten in three years of competition for G. W. in his sprint specialties. Ghormley, beaten only once this year, is the D. C. A. A. U. record holder in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Rote will enter the 50 and 100 yard free style events with Ghormley in the 200-yard breast stroke.

Ex-Cornell Grid Star Reports to Colonials

Football prospects at George Washington University assumed a more roseate hue yesterday when Phil Kline, regular half back at Cornell in 1931, reported for spring training.

Kline, a former Central High School star, gained recognition at Cornell by making the varsity backfield in his sophomore year. He entered George Washington in February, 1932, and thus will be eligible for the 1933 varsity under the one-year transfer rule. Forty-two men are now in training under Coach Pixlee with fifteen more expected to report.

Maryland U. Nine May Lose Box Ace

Physioc Is on Scholastic Probation; Four Other Pitchers on Hand.

Steve Physioc, right-hand pitcher, who won three out of four games he hurled for the University of Maryland nine last season, is on scholastic probation and may not be of any service to the Old Liners this spring.

Coach Burton Shipley has four hurlers left, Bill McIlwee and Ray Davidson, southpaws, and Ralph Ruble, right hander from the 1932 team, and Bob Love, orthodox flinger, who came up from the freshmen.

Lloyd Jones, catcher; Hymie Gorman, first base; William Wolf, second base; Dick Nelson, third base; Spencer Chase and Lyman McAboy, shortstops, and Bob Maxwell, Buckey Buscher and Willis Benner, outfielders, are the leading aspirants. Davidson also may do quite a bit of outfielding, as he is a high-class hitter.

All those mentioned are letter men, except Nelson, Love and McAboy, who are sophomores.

Old Liners Try Webb In Fullback Berth

Shifting of Tom Webb, all-State center last fall, to full back has been the most conspicuous move in spring football practice at the University of Maryland. Webb played both jobs while in high school and appears just as capable in the full back berth as in the snapperback assignment.

It has been made evident in the drills that the Old Liners will have much better line material than a year ago, the 1932 freshmen providing some highly promising prospects.

Maryland especially should be greatly improved in end play over 1932, as besides Mayhew, Vincent and Benner, letter winners, three fine prospects have been contributed by the yearlings.

St. Stephen's Five Victor In Upset

Defeats Utah, 49-47, in Overtime; K. C. Wins Thriller.

Investigation Club Is 50-14 Winner in A. A. U. Play.

THE "Boys from Foggy Bottom," playing under the banner of the St. Stephen's Club, which means battle in any branch of athletics, provided an upset last night in the District A. A. U. championship tournament when they battled through an extra-period thriller to take a 49-47 decision from the Utah State Society team. The St. Stephen's boys, who have figured prominently in Post tournament history, were outscored from scrimmage, but produced their margin of victory on brilliant foul shooting.

But the tournament crowd did not have to wait for the unlimited contest to get its thrills. The Knights of Columbus and Swann's Service fives put on a battle that will be long remembered in their 145-pound game, which resulted in a 28-25 victory for the Caseys.

The other contest resulted in a 50-14 triumph for the Bureau of Investigation tossers over the Whirlwinds.

Point-for-Point Battle.

The Utah team, composed of former collegiates from the West who make their headquarters here, was considered a fairly strong contender for the crown, but St. Stephen's, little regarded by the fans, soon made its presence felt. It was a point-for-point battle. At the half, Utah had forged to the front by a 24-to-20 margin. The score at the end of regulation time was 43-all.

Malone, Chatlin and Becker did most of the St. Stephen's scoring while Smith, with 18 points, was the standout offensive player for Utah.

The Casey-Swann game was a sizzler from start to finish in which the final verdict was in doubt until the closing whistle. The Knights emerged from the early part of the battle to lead by a 17-11 margin at the intermission.

In the second half the Swann's boys, who hail from the vicinity of Fourteenth street and Park road, rallied to put up a startling battle which all but salvaged the game.

Black and Mock did the major scoring for the Caseys with 8 and 7 points, respectively, while the Swann's punch was provided by McDonald, at center, and Mulvihill, at guard.

First Division Berth Aim Of Chisox

Simmons, Dykes and Haas Being Counted on Heavily.

Fonseca at First to Add Power; Lyons Should Star.

(This is the fourth of a series of stories analyzing major league baseball club prospects for 1933.)

By BRIAN BELL.

PASADENA, Calif., March 15 (A.P.).—The Chicago White Sox are claiming no immediate championships, but have their sights leveled conservatively on a first division place for 1933. This is not such a modest aspiration when it is considered the Sox of yesterday and the day before did not even dare hope for a place in select baseball society.

The change in the situation is based on the acquisition of three ranking athletes from Philadelphia and a return to health of two good pitchers.

Simmons, Haas, Dykes Attract.

Most of the interest of the rail birds at Brookside Park, where the Sox train, has been centered on Jimmy Dikes, Mule Haas and Al Simmons, the ex-Athletics, but the managerial forces have been deriving considerable satisfaction from indications that Ted Lyons and Vic Frasier, who spent a lot of time last season on the hospital list, will be in there doing a lot of effective pitching this year.

Lyons, long a great pitcher, does not need many runs to win most of his starts, but with the ineffective hitting of his mates in the past he has been forced to drive in the runs to win his own games, when and if.

With Simmons, Haas and Dykes contributing their quota of base hits, the pitchers should benefit accordingly.

Infield Lacking in Quantity.

The Chicago infield is not all that it might be, boasting fair quality perhaps, but no quantity. With Manager Lew Fonseca at first base, Jack Hays at second, Luke Appling for short and Jimmy Dykes taking care of third, four-fifths of the active infield roll call has been sounded. Hal Rhyne is available for the utility role, but in the best major league circles one extra infielder is not considered sufficient.

If no infielders are added to the list, Red Kress, considered an outfielder now, may be restored to good standing as an infielder, although Manager Fonseca wants him in right field. Billy Sullivan, listed as a catcher, is a clever utility player and no stranger to infield tasks.

The outfield will compare favorably with the others in the league. Simmons in left and Haas in center, of course, are set. Kress, Evar Swanson, the speedster, and Elias Funk, another fast man, will fight it out for the other place. Kress is considered the best hitter of the trio, but he can not step with his rivals in fielding.

No Catching Worries Seen.

There are no catching worries in the camp. Charles Berry and Frank Grube will offer satisfactory performances in holding up the pitchers nd do their share of hitting.

Lyons, Frasier, Paul Gregory, Milton Gaston, Sam Jones, Red Faber, Ed

Cards Defeat Athletics; Yanks Nose Out Braves

BRADENTON, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their spring exhibition schedule this afternoon by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 4. The Red Birds outhit the Mack Men, 13 to 10, and showed a stouter defense. Jimmy Wilson, Bob O'Farrell, Ernie Orsatti and Pepper Martin were outstanding for the Cards. Dizzy Dean would have had a scoreless three innings if two hot bounders hadn't taken wild bounces past Martin in the first inning.

Browns in Contest Sunday.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—With only three more days for practice before their first game of the year, the St. Louis Browns today were pretty well set for Sunday's affair with the House of David team. Dick Coffman, who is far advanced in his work, will be the starting pitcher. Manager Killefer will have what he expects to be his regular infield in action, with Levey, Burns, Melillo and Scharein holding down the posts.

Tribe Far Advanced as To Condition.

New Orleans, March 15 (A.P.).—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Cleveland Indians, looked over his squad of hurlers today and announced he would send Mel Harder, Clint Brown and Oral Hildebrand to the mound in an exhibition game with the New Orleans Pelicans tomorrow.

Peckinpaugh also received from Trainer "Lefty" Welsman a report that the Indian squad was much further advanced in its conditioning program than in other years.

Cubs Defeat Chisox In Slugfest.

Los Angeles, March 15 (A.P.).—Chicago's National League champions, the Cubs, won the first game of their spring training city series from the Chicago White Sox here today, 13-7, in a wild-hitting spree.

The Cub sluggers pounded three young Sox pitchers for seventeen hits, including two home runs and three doubles. Kiki Cuyler, Cub centerfielder, had a perfect day at bat with a homer, a double and two singles in four times up.

Pirates Score Over Oakland.

Oakland, Calif., March 15 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates, of the National League, wound up their series with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League, by putting over a 5-to-2 victory today. The Pirates cinched the game in the third inning by scoring 4 runs off Lou McAvoy, former New York Yankee pitcher.

McAvoy issued two walks besides being touched for singles by Suhr and G. Vaughan, and a double by Grace.

The Oaks collected 12 hits off Waite Hoyt and Meine, but both pitchers were effective in the pinches. The three-game series ended with a win for each team, the first game being a scoreless tie.

Thomas and Linke Star On Mound

Myer's Error Allows Minor Leaguers to Escape Shutout.

Kuhel, Bolton Shine at Bat; 7 Runs in 5th Decisive.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., March 15.—The hitting strength of the 1933 Washington baseball team, of which we have heard much and seen little, became very visible to the naked eye this afternoon when the boys bludgeoned Atlanta off the map, 13-2.

Pitching beautiful ball, two Washington rookies, Ed Linke and Bud Thomas, turned in stellar performances, particularly Linke, who flung them by the Crackers for five innings with as much speed as there is in the American League today—hardly barring lachrymosic Mose Grove, the eminent Quaker.

Thomas would have been equally impressive had not Buddy Myer tossed a cock-eyed liner to Johnny Kerr with one out in the ninth. What should have been a comparatively easy double play turned out to be, when Kerr could not reach the ball, the first note of a two-run drive.

Horsehide Given Spanking.

Seventeen hits was the sum total of the day's work at bat for the slugging Nats. Although everybody, more or less, applied wood to horsehide effectively during the afternoon, Joe Kuhel and Cliff Bolton, the former with four out of five, and Bolton with three out of three, came in for the few sprinkles of applause that emanated from a crushing crowd of 64 spectators.

Since we'd have to throw out that cigarette ad if I wrote anything near a play by play account of the game, let's let it suffice to say that it was a very satisfactory afternoon for Manager Cronin, who has been a bit worried of late because the much-ballyhooed hitting prowess of the Nats was as missing, in batting drills, as prosperity and Justice Crater.

He was just equally impressed by the work of the two kid pitchers. Clark Griffith admitted after the game that the ninth pitching position with the regular team was more or less at stake today, but that both kids had looked so good to him that he would like to keep both of them up in the majors, even if it meant the passing of one of the older flingers on the team.

BLESSED EVENT, AT $9.20, LOWERS TROPICAL PARK RECORD

Bradley Colt Wins Sprint In Drive

Beats Terrier by 3-4 Length With Golden Fate Third.

Caerlon Gets Up in Final Stride at 4-1 to Beat Dorsays.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—Blessed Event, the E. R. Bradley colt which has been a victim of bad racing luck in recent starts, came into his own here this afternoon when he won the Granada Handicap, a 7-furlong test which drew a half dozen well-matched 3-year-olds to the post. It was a battle between veteran Jockey Jimmy Smith, who piloted the winner home by three parts of a length over the Miami Stable's Terrier, ridden by Leverne Fator. Mrs. A. J. Contento's Golden Fate was third, a neck behind. Crapshooter, the favorite, was a creditable fourth.

Blessed Event established a new track record, his time of 1:25 flat clipping a fifth of a second off the former mark held by Prince Tokalon. Backers of the winner received $9.20 for $2.

Golden Fate Sets Pace.

Golden Fate, as usual, cut out the running as far as he was able to go, the winner being rated in the runner-up position. Terrier, held under wraps until midway of the final bend, spurted in threatening fashion approaching the stretch turn and temporarily headed Blessed Event, but in the final drive the Bradley colt had too much left for his rivals and was ridden out to win going away. Terrier outlasted Golden Fate. Crapshooter raced forwardly, but was not good enough.

Flower Day put the form players in a good humor right off the bat when she scored a handy victory in the opening event, paying her many backers $5.10 for $2. Bichloride closed with a rush to head Golden Effort, the pacemaker, out of the place position. Silvio Coucci rated Flower Day in second place until the head of the stretch, where the ultimate winner responded to urging and drew clear in the last sixteenth Golden Effort tired fast in the closing stages after setting a fast pace.

Bubbling Ways Finally Scores.

After eleven futile efforts the Bubbling Over colt, Bubbling Ways, inserted his name into the winners' column in the juvenile dash, beating Fire Neck, the choice, by a length and a half. Aquatis lost the place by two lengths. Jockey Corbett, who rode Fire Neck, claimed a foul against the winner, which bore over to the inside after entering the stretch while the favorite was running on the rail, but the move did not appear to figure in the result. Bubbling Ways had to break from the outside and moved up with a rush at the stretch turn, winning going away. He paid $15.80 for $2.

Jockey Remillard, who rode Bubbling Ways, was suspended three days for rough riding.

Primer, displaying fine speed and saving ground all the way, annexed the purse in the third race, a 6-furlong dash lasting to beat the neglected First One by a length in a drive. Captain Red lost the place by a head. Primer raced Mynah and Baptism into defeat in the first half mile and drew clear, but was forced to give his best when First One and Captain Red made belated bids through the stretch. Primer returned $8.80 for $2. Lady Legend was poorly ridden and wound up a dismal last.

Caerleon, the horse that won so impressively at this track a year ago, returned to his best form in the fifth event, beating Dorsays by the smallest of margins, to pay 4 to 1. Bedight was beaten a length for the place. It was a nip-and-tuck battle from the start, with Caerleon getting up on the outside in the final stride.

Bedight and Don Romiro raced well up, but could not threaten the leaders. The stewards called Jockey Don Meade for an explanation of the bad race Lady Legend, his mount in the third race, ran. The boy said the filly tried to "jug in" but he was warned by the officials.

Silvio Coucci, the "Bronx Express," earned his second success of the day astride the long shot, Moon Shy, a $36-for-$2 shot, which carried the C. V. Whitney silks home in the sixth race. The daughter of St. James came up with a rush at the end to beat Kate by a nose, while Arab, away slowly, was beaten a length for the place. The fast but faint-hearted Judge Primrose quit after setting the pace to the stretch, and Kate assumed command only to succumb to Moon Shy's closing challenge on the wire.

Hjalman Ericson, retiring president, who remains a member of the board; Lieut. Max D. Prentice, new vice president; Richard S. Tennyson, new president; Bernard J. McCarthy, new secretary-treasurer.

Graduates of Friends Down Undergrads, 33-30

The Friends School Graduates were forced to go an extra period to defeat the Undergraduates yesterday by a margin of 33 to 30, after the game was tied at 26-all at the end of regulation time. U. S. HOPEFUL IN JUMP CLASSIC

LONDON, March 15 (A.P.).—With ten American-owned horses still eligible, the field for the Grand National, greatest of all steeplechase races, today was reduced to 35, the smallest since 1926. Additional scratches are likely before the race at Aintree, March 24. Thirty-six ran last year.

With a list headed by the big Irish mare, Heartbreak Hill, owned by Mrs. C. S. Bird, jr., of Massachusetts, and John Hay Whitney's Dusty Foot, many horsemen are predicting an American victory. Heartbreak Hill, sixth behind Fordra last year, will carry 163 pounds, while Dusty Foot will pick up the light package of 147.

The Whitney jumper, highly rated prior to the 1932 running, will have George H. (Pete) Bostwick, wealthy young American sportsman, in the saddle. Generally rated as the leading amateur steeplechase rider of the world, Bostwick has given several brilliant exhibitions of horsemanship aboard Dusty Foot in preparatory races.

Although winner of two of America's greatest steeplechases, the Carolina Cup at Camden, S. C., and the Maryland Hunt Club, Trouble Maker, foaled in Virginia, is not among the top notchers in the prerace betting. Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller is the current choice at 19 to 2. Jockey N. Laing, an American rider, will be up on Mrs. Somerville's jumper.

In addition to Dusty Foot, Whitney also kept Slater eligible. Other American horses are F. Ambrose Clark's Chadds Ford and Kellaboro Jack, Jesse Metcalfe's Theras, John Drake's Coup de Chapeau, M. D. Blair's Ballyhanwood, and J. B. Snow's Delaneice.

BOYS CLUB ACTIVE.

Ringing down the curtain on their basket ball season, the Boys Club Optimists will clash with the Boys Club varsity on March 24 at 8:30 o'clock.

An ambitious spring gym program has been mapped out for the Boys Club athletes. A junior golden glove boxing tournament, an A. A. U. wrestling tournament and an indoor baseball league are among the events listed.

Amateur Court Loop In Meeting Tonight

Managers of teams and officials of the District of Columbia Amateur Basket Ball League will meet tonight in the office of President Ralph Foster in the Central Y. M. C. A., starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Important matters will come up for discussion, outstanding among which is the setting of a date for the playoff for the championship between Boys' Club and Delaware and Hudson, who are tied for first place with ten victories and one defeat.

LEGION MANAGERS MEET.

American Legion managers have called a meeting to be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at French's Sports Shop, 910 Fourteenth street northwest.

NORTHERN PLAYERS TO MEET

A meeting of the Northern A. C. will be held at the home of Jim Horan, 131 C street southeast, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, and the following players are requested to attend: Dearborn, Healy, Hays, Fitzgerald, Schlorb, Deavers, E. Taylor, A. Taylor, J. James, R. James, Russell, Ray Francis and Bob Foley.

1ST DIVISION BERTH AIM OF WHITE SOX

Durham, former Red Sox; Chad Kimsey, Joe Heving and Ed Walsh, jr., seem to be in a fair way to start the season on the pay roll, and there may be another from the list of Clarence Fieber, John Wilson, George Murray and Fabian Kowalik.

Fieber, who pitched with fair success for Oakland in the Pacific Coast League last year, is the only left-hander in the group, but this will not necessarily win him a place. Fonseca does not particularly care whether he has a southpaw. The manager would, of course, like to have an effective left-hander, but he would rather retain a good right-hander than a doubtful pitcher throwing from the other side.

The Sox will go ahead with the first division as their goal. In advance of the actual hostilities it is difficult to name the four clubs they will top, but they think they can do it and maybe they can.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: TROPICAL PARK, MARCH 15.

Started off like a whirlwind today. Rooted Flower Day home in the first and took $5.10 for my dough. Put some back on Bubbling Ways, a Bennings Special, and helped Pat Remillard put him over at a $15.80 mutuel. Failed to figure prominently the rest of the way, although Dorsays and Try It took second money. Mike received a letter from a friend at New Orleans who says that he heard from a fellow who was told by another party that Bright Beauty was a good bet tomorrow. Mike wants all his friends to get on the line. BILL.

FIRST RACE—MORDEN showed me a flash of fast moving recently that seems to be the indicator for a winning effort. Has worked well. MEMORIES DEAR has a way of figuring when entered in this brand of company and may be second ahead of TETRARCHAL.

SECOND RACE—HER HERO can run for the Bennings dough in this. Has proved fairly consistent of late and seems to have an edge over GO-FORTH. RACE STREET is hard to keep out of the money picture.

THIRD RACE—BOLINTY and JIM MACAW will battle it out for the chief end of the money here or I'll be terribly mistaken—something that is not entirely new for me. Appear to stand a little above the rest of these. SALUT D'AMOUR is one that I respect. Will be ready to take the gravy if the top pair makes mistakes.

FOURTH RACE—As I have said before, this gang beats each other. You tell me whose turn it is tomorrow and we'll all make money. DON LEON is my guess. LEROS got it the last time. MR. SPONGE can take it whenever they say the word.

FIFTH RACE—BROAD MEADOWS to beat BROADWAY LIGHTS. That's my story and I'm going to stick to it. I PASS is the sleeper and there was some talk around the paddock about a killing. However, they will have to show me.

SIXTH RACE—MERIDIAN QUEEN with 108 pounds should take this or take poison. They have been only, only foolin' with this mare. MAJ. LANPHIER and CLEAN PLAY appear the best of the others.

SEVENTH RACE—SOLACE did me wrong the last time, but remains the best bet in this field. LUCKY CARTER for the place and NOSE IN to show.

STEELE AND GROBMIER CLASH

Frog Scissors Expert to Show Tonight at Auditorium.

A NEW high for aggressiveness may be set at the Washington Auditorium tonight when Matchmaker Joe Turner features his weekly rassling show.

Showing in the finish go will be two fast and furious and unusually picturesque workers in Ray Steele, runner-up in the Londos-Whitemat chain, and Fred Grobmier, an outstanding contender.

Roundly respected despite his recent defeat at the hands of Frank Judson, Grobmier appears singularly confident of his chances.

"If I wrap my 'Japanese frog' scissors around Steele I'll beat him," Fred insists. "Once that hold is applied the right way nobody's going to escape it."

Promised a bout with Champion Jim Londos in the event he shows to advantage against Steele, the long-legged Iowan, generally conservative, appears actually cock-sure.

Steele, on the other hand, is eager to gain the good graces of Washingtonians and is in fine fettle for his best effort.

Challenging the main event in interest and showmanship is the scheduled 45-minute semifinal in which Joe Cox mingles with another rough and ready boy in Marshall Blackstock.

A highly regarded prospect, Cox is remembered locally for several splendid stands, notably a near double knockout with Joe Cox and a stirring stand with Jim McMillan.

Thirty-minute time limit affairs headline a bout bringing together Hans Steinke, one of the world's strongest matmen, and "Tiny" Ruff.

Lou Plummer bucks Karl Davis and Joe DeVito engages Frank Brunowics in curtain raisers.

Mercury Jrs. Win Tourney Feature

Beat Navy Yard Marines in Southeast Community Thriller, 37 to 33

In the Southeast Community Center basket ball tournament last night, the Mercury Juniors defeated the Navy Yard Marines, 37 to 33. Miller Furniture Co. won from Anacostia Business Men, 59 to 22, and Naval Reserves beat Sigma Phi Lambda, 41 to 10, all games played at Hine Junior High School.

Mercury Juniors, formerly Terry Service Station, were about the fastest passing aggregation appearing at Hine this season, but the Marines would have won had they been capable of cashing in on their many chances from the fifteenth foot mark. Miller Furniture Co. far outclassed Anacostia, with Raub and Sugrue going great with fifteen points each.

Naval Reserves, with Knocky Thomas and Waverly Wheeler, held Sigma Phi Lambda to one point in the first half, but the Fraters managed to get nine more in the last period. Tonight's schedule will see Easton A. C. vs. Mercury Juniors at 7:15, Naval Reserves vs. Marion A. C. 8:15 and Miller Furniture Co. vs. Sigma Phi Lamba at 9:15.

BELL BEATEN BY DOCTOR IN UPSET

Kurzrok Eliminates Seeded Star, 6-3, 6-3, in Indoor Tennis.

NEW YORK, March 15 (A.P.).—A chunky, left-handed physician, Dr. Lawrence W. Kurzrok, took time off from his hospital duties today to trounce R. Berkeley Bell, seeded No. 8, and provide the national indoor singles tennis championships with the first upset, and almost the only thrill it has known all week.

Kurzrok did a workmanlike job as seven other seeded stars, ranging all the way from Gregory S. Mangin, defending title holder, down through Dr. Eugene McCauliff, of Yonkers, seeded eighth, landed in the quarter finals to be staged tomorrow. The final round, both in singles and doubles, is scheduled for Saturday.

Once Kurzrok, catching Bell off his game to win in straight sets, 6—3, 6—3, had made his surprising entrance into the final eight, the tournament proceeded uneventfully as in the first three days of play.

Mangin mowed down Albert Law, jr., a New York university youngster, 6—2, 6—3, and McCauliff, experimenting with his strokes, won from George R. Preston, of New York, eased up, 8—6, 6—1, 6—4.

Wood and Hall Advance.

Sidney B. Wood, former Wimbledon champion, trounced Sidney Seligson, of New York, 6—2, 6—2, and J. Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J., fourth of the seeded players in the upper half, eliminated Ernest Koslan, of New York, 6—0, 6—4.

In the quarter final pairings tomorrow, Mangin plays McCauliff and Wood is matched with Hall.

Only two matches were needed to bring the field down to the final four in the lower bracket, as George M. Lott, jr., of Chicago, and Frank X. Shields, of New York, advanced yesterday and will tangle in one quarter final match tomorrow.

Clifford B. Sutter, former Tulane star, easily defeated Julius Seligson, former intercollegiate champion from Lehigh, and thus qualified to meet the lambasting Dr. Kurzrok, who fooled Bell completely today with his accurate baseline play and forecourt smashes every time the former Texan tried to reach the net.

The doubles play likewise advanced to the quarter-final round with only one upset.

J. Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J., and Dr. William Rosenbaum, New York dentist, were tripped up by the New York veterans, M. Cutler and Fred Anderson, 6—3, 6—4, but the seeded terms of Shields and Lott, Mangin and Bell, Sutter and McCauliff, Wood and Burns, advanced in straight sets.

They are so seeded that none of the ranked teams meet in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

Hitting the Headpin

Marquette set the team pace in the Knights of Columbus League last night with a 606 and 1,754. Thornett led with a 148 high game and Diegelman with a 386 high set.

Doubleday Electric Co. reeled off a 583 high team game and Western Electric No. 1 a 1,661 high team set in last night's games of the Electrical League. Bill Krouse featured with a 139 game and Howard Clements with a 355 set.

Flinn, of the Tornadoes, with 138, and Walker, of the same team, with 340, set the pace in the Dynamite League. The Tornadoes scored a 579 for a new season's high team game record, and wound up with a 1,658 set.

With a high game of 644 and set of 1,786 the Occidental team made a clean swe

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A WESTERN inventor is working on an automatic baseball umpire which will use an electric eye to determine authoritatively whether the pitched ball passed over the plate, and at what height.

Every ship which comes up New York harbor takes its course from the Elm Tree Range Light, famous beacon, which is now automatically turned on each evening by an electric eye.

Electric eyes in the Holland Tunnel under the Hudson River detect the presence of smoke or gases in the bore and sound a warning to start up the big blowers. Other electric eyes at the entrances to the tubes give a signal to the ticket-seller if a truck too high to clear the tunnel ceiling should attempt to enter.

If the chimney of a well-known department store on Fifth avenue emits any visible smoke, an electric eye sends signals to the fireroom, lights a big red sign reading "smoke" on the superintendent's desk and writes its own record of the duration of the smoke.

To find out the increased reading habits of the New York City public, as a result of the depression, the New York Public Library has been using an electric eye to count readers coming in through its Forty-second street entrance.

A large Fifth avenue restaurant is installing self-opening doors which, as if by magic, swing wide when a customer approaches from the sidewalk. Several other New York restaurants already employ such doors between kitchens and dining rooms, to speed up service and reduce breakage of dishes.

Electric eyes give an absolutely contagion-proof control of drinking fountains. One such jet drinking fountain in a new office building on West Forty-second street has a photocell control which turns on the water by means of the shades of any one approaching. Bowling alleys are now equipped with electric-eye foullines which ring a bell or light a red warning lamp if a player's foot goes over the dead-line.

CONRAD THIBAULT, young baritone who has sung with the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company and in concert with the leading symphony orchestras, will be a guest aboard Capt. Henry's Show Boat, when he takes the leading role in Victor Herbert's operetta, "The Fortune Teller" (WRC, 9 p. m.)

He will share time with the regular members of the troupe, including Lanny Ross, Annette Hanshaw, Muriel Wilson, Molasses 'n' January and Don Voorhees' Show Boat Band.

The 239th consecutive weekly session of "Radio Joe and his Budget Boys" will be heard over WMAL at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

"It wouldn't surprise me at all if this program were dedicated to the business men of Washington," declared Radio Joe. "They have certainly shown the way back to good times in the past few days by their courage. More power to them."

Radio is used to get the family car at the studio doors at the exact minute Dr. Herman Bundesen leaves the building after completing his program each Tuesday and Friday night. When Dr. Bundensen leaves the car the chauffeur snaps on the radio and when the program is completed the car rolls up in front of the main entrance.

A special St. Patrick's Day touch will be given the Pontiac program, with Col. Stoopnagle and Budd in the broadcast, over WJSV at 9:30 p. m. The Colonel and Budd will continue to extol the virtues of Stoopnocracy, which has literally taken the country by storm—followed by colder weather.

FRANCES GUTELIUS, pianist, will play the following selections in a recital over WMAL at 9:45 p. m.: "What God Doth That Is Rightly Done," Kellner; "Tempo di Minuetto," Zanella; and "Hark, Hark the Lark," Schubert-Liszt.

Lou Holtz, comedian, and a scene from the stage and screen success, "Once in a Lifetime," with two members of the original Broadway cast, will be attractions on the Rudy Vallee variety hour (WRC, 8 p. m.).

Nancy Garner, cousin of the Vice President, and Vallee will head the light opera group in presenting gems from Victor Herbert's "Princess Pat" and "Eileen."

"THOUSANDS of children in southern California are laughing up their sleeves at radio executives, who plan and decree just what should go out on the ether waves for the entertainment of 'little kiddies,'" writes Doug Douglas in the Los Angeles Times.

"Youngsters in elementary school grades and in junior high schools have plainly indicated an unwillingness to accept education through the channels of radio transmission. Writers, artists, educators, actors and technicians gather in daily conferences planning radio tableaux, humorous sketches about the little tots of fairyland, the Tick-Tock Twins and the boogey man. Husky men learn to talk like grandma and learned women study the calls of the birds and the beauty of folklore. Thousands of dollars are spent on machines that make funny noises and thousands of dollars are spent by manufacturers of products who fondly believe their messages of good will and salesmanship boom through the loud speakers into countless homes where little tots cluster around the radio anxiously awaiting the magic words."

"The program leaves the radio station, the money is spent, but little Johnny and Sally do not dial the station when the children's hour comes on—and they're not at dinner, nor are they in bed. Johnny and Sally have the loud-speaker going full blast. It's a blood-curdling mystery, slam-bang adventure, a shrill tooting jazz band or a favorite comedian. They don't have to argue with little brother about what program gets preference in the home forum, but the children must work out their mutually arranged evening broadcast with father and mother, which, in short, means that there is no such thing as a recognized child program receiving a juvenile audience of any consequence in southern California.

"These facts are set forth in a survey just made of the voluntary program preferences of children in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties. While some counties have certain programs which show greater popularity than others, the general recapitulation shows that children from 7 to 13 years of age, both boys and girls, prefer the following programs: Chandu, the magician; Cecil and Sally, Myrt and Marge, Lucky Strike dance orchestras, Amos 'n' Andy and the following features heard on the Pacific Coast only: Boy Detective, Blue Monday Jamboree, Tarzan and Hon. Archie and Watanabe.

"While the producers of child programs seem to have shot for a mark and missed the target entirely," Mr. Douglas concludes, "the sponsors of 'blood and thunder' get a child audience when they would rather have an adult one."

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

STRANGE as it seems, glass is porous, like sponge, and no matter how heavy or smooth the glass may be, water will seep into its pores. A goblet on the dinner table will hold water, but if enough pressure could be exerted on it without breaking it, water would pass right through it.

This was demonstrated with a large hollow glass sphere lowered deep in the ocean. The heavy walls of the air-filled container withstood the 30-ton per square inch pressure at 3,000 fathoms, but they did not hold the water out. When the ball was raised, it was found that water had filled it, forcing the air out.

Shorthand, as a means of writing by signs swift enough to record speech, is earliest known as the invention of Marcus Tullius Tiro, Roman freedman and friend of Cicero, whose oratory in the Roman senate he recorded by means of his sign writing. His work dates from 63 B. C. The Tiro shorthand embodied many of the principals in use today by your secretary. The consonants were written as signs, placed differently to indicate the vowel which followed.

What may have been an earlier, though less certain type of shorthand, has been found in inscriptions on marble at the Acropolis at Athens dating from the fourth century B. C. in Greek culture.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

DROPPING THE BANKING AFFILIATE.

(After "Danny Deever.")

"What are the bugles blowin' for?" the young director cried.
"You soon will know, you soon will know," the president replied.
"What makes you look so white, so white?" the young director moaned.
"I'm dreadin' what I've got to watch," the president he groaned.
"For they're droppin' Little Nellie, you can hear the dead march play—
The officer in 'ollow square—they'll cart 'er off today;
They've taken off her ermine coat an' cut 'er locks away—
They're disownin' Little Nellie in the mornin'."

II.

"What makes the old guard breath so 'ard?" the young director cried;
"They're quite upset, they're quite upset," the president replied.
"What makes the whole board look so pale," the young man asked. "and you?"
"We're sad," the president replied, "at what we've got to do.
They're droppin' Little Nellie, they are marchin' 'er around,
They 'ave 'alted Little Nellie by 'er coffin on the ground;
An' she'll swing in arf a minute without time to make a sound—
Oh, there'll be no Little Nellie in the mornin'."

III.

"'Er chair was right-hand chair to mine," the young director sighed.
"She won't be here tomorrow night," the president replied.
"She was a sweet affiliate," the young director moaned.
"She was, when things were going good," the president he groaned,
"But we're droppin' Little Nellie; you must look 'er in the face.
For she isn't what we thought 'er, an' she's got us in disgrace.
We will all of us feel better when she's not around the place—
So we're droppin' Little Nellie in the mornin'."

IV.

"What's that so limp upon the ground?" the young director cried.
"It's Nellie fightin' 'ard for life," the president replied.
"What's that that whimpers overhead?" the young director groaned.
"It's Nellie's spirit passin' on," the president he moaned,
"For we've done now with the lady, you can hear the quickstep play;
"We have washed our hands of Nellie, an' they're marchin' 'er away.
"Ho! we once thought her a beauty, but she seems so old and gray—
We will get along without 'er in the mornin'."

EMBARRASSING.

It's embarrassing to be seen on the street with a satchel these days; everybody thinks you're returning gold.

It's refreshing to see Uncle Sam in his fighting trunks again after these last few years when it was hard to tell whether he was disguised as Old Mother Hubbard, Gumshoe Gus or the Sleeping Giant.

THE NEW PROBLEM.

It is still impossible to tell whether we have turned the corner or whether the sensation comes from being on a revolving floor.

Police Raid Stops Risque Exhibition

Six Girl Performers and 50 Men Are Arrested; Scores Escape.

Tipped that a risque performance for men only was to be staged in Carpenters' Hall, Tenth and K streets northwest, last night, police planned to "have a look in."

A policeman entered with the crowd and looked on as an interested spectator. When the show was at its height, he slipped into a washroom and fired a signal to the raiding squad led by Lieut. J. C. T. Webber, acting commander of the Second Precinct, which was lying in wait.

Six girl performers and about 50 men spectators were taken into custody for investigation. It was reported that about 200 men were in attendance.

For the alleged theft of books valued at $2,550 from the library of the Catholic University, Jacob Slater was indicted by the District grand jury. He is alleged to have stolen the books and to have sold them, or a part of them, for $32 to a second-hand book dealer.

Many of the books he is alleged to have taken were rare volumes highly prized by the university.

Property Owners Fight Road Change

D. C. Commissioners Hear Protests About North Capital Grading.

Protests against proposed changes in the highway plan at the intersection of North Capitol street and Blair road were voiced yesterday at a hearing before the District Commissioners by adjacent property owners and a representative of the Chillum Heights Citizens Association. The matter was taken under advisement.

Charles W. Eliot 2d, city planner of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, outlined a scheme to modify the intersection and to cut off certain sections of North and South Dakota avenues, which meet at North Capitol street. Opponents contend that the change would involve the regrading and lowering of the base of North Capitol street.

No opposition was offered to proposed minor changes in the highway plan for Foxhall road, in the vicinity of Reservoir road and for Utah avenue, near Patterson and Oliver streets.

NAMING OF RETIRED ARMY OFFICERS ON D. C. BOARD RAPPED

Chevy Chase Citizens Vote to Commend Roosevelt and Senator Capper.

The appointment of retired Army, Navy or Marine officers as civilian members of the District Board of Commissioners was vigorously opposed last night by the Chevy Chase Citizens Association.

It also decided not to indorse any candidate for appointment to the board.

President Roosevelt was heartily commended by the association for his "prompt, wise and vigorous handling of the banking crisis."

It likewise commended Senator Capper for his open-mindedness and interest in District affairs while he served as chairman of the District Committee.

Contending that minimum recommendations had been made, the association expressed hope that the allowances made by the Bureau of the Budget for the Alice Deal Junior High School and the new Woodrow Wilson High School would be approved by Congress.

Dr. B. Y. Morrison, of the Department of Agriculture, discussed gardening at the meeting and illustrated his lecture with stereoptican slides.

$15,500 Damage Asked As Auto-Crash Sequel

Lloyd H. Chandler, 3024 Tilden street northwest, yesterday was named defendant in two suits filed in District Supreme Court by William P. Wright, 1807 Kenyon street northwest, the total of the suits being $15,500.

Through Attorney George D. Horning, jr., Mr. Wright and his wife charged that they were seriously injured in an accident on Jones Mill road, Montgomery County, Md., last November when an automobile driven by Chandler collided with a car in which they were riding.

Brotherhood Host To Hebrew Group

Deiner and Danzansky Are Principal Speakers at College Forum.

More than 50 Jewish students at local universities were guests of the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation at a meeting last night in the vestry rooms of the congregation temple.

Irving Deiner, past president of the organization, welcomed the university men to participate in the meeting. Joseph Danzansky, a student at George Washington University, spoke for the students. He told the group that the social phases of college life were of as great a value to students as classroom activity. The leaders of the campus, he asserted, will be the leaders of the community.

Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, addressed the meeting on "Intimate Sidelights on Important Events." The program was arranged by Harold Ganes, vice president; Allan Stein, chairman of the student's welfare committee of the group, and S. Sherry Stein, president of the brotherhood.

Carroll New President Of Washington Society

Emmett J. Carroll was elected president of the Washington State Society at a reorganization meeting last night in the Willard Hotel.

R. C. Marks and H. D. Martin were named vice presidents, Mrs. Florence Marks, recording secretary; Miss Dorothy Cramer, corresponding secretary; J. David Reed, treasurer, and W. E. Mair, publicity secretary. Leo Borah, William Buell and Alfred Wagner were chosen members of the executive committee.

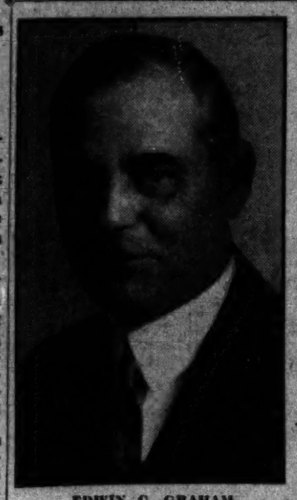
Big Tract Across River From Mt. Vernon Sold

Including 1½ miles of waterfront property, Grayling-on-the-Potomac, one of the beauty spots in Prince Georges County, located directly across the river from Mount Vernon, was sold on the auction block at the courthouse at Upper Marlboro, Md.

The estate had been the property of Harry K. Bliss, Washington real estate dealer, and brought $12,000 above the mortgages, totaling about $31,000, at the auction. R. Bennett Darnall, representing the mortgagee, purchased the property.

Board of Education Advocates Sweeping Consultations on Future Playground Plans

Suggested Policy Changes Would End Irritation, Sponsors Claim.



EDWIN C. GRAHAM.

To avoid the creation of "uncertainty and irritation" in the management and development of District playgrounds, the Board of Education yesterday proposed a new procedure which would unite various agencies in future planning.

The new policy was prompted by a letter from E. C. Graham, chairman of the committee on coordination of recreation, in which he submitted a blueprint, prepared by the Department of Playgrounds, showing a suggested layout for the athletic facilities at the McKinley-Langley school grounds.

Mr. Graham pointed out that his committee does not approve any development of recreational areas until all agencies, including the schools, have been consulted. The committee on buildings and grounds of the Board of Education, in a report to the board yesterday, declared that despite this assurance "the feeling exists among a number of persons that school authorities are not sufficiently consulted about recreational needs."

In view of this complaint the board adopted a recommendation that all parties concerned with the development of recreational centers agree upon a plan of procedure.

These agencies would include the Office of Public Buildings and Grounds, the municipal playground department and the school administration.

Under the new policy the committee on coordination of recreation would be guided by recommendation of the agencies named when a new recreational center is proposed. The committee would then select the person to lay out the center in accordance with a tentative agreement. The plans would then be submitted to the three agencies.

When the plans are approved each agency would equip the grounds for its particular activities in accordance with appropriations available. The board's proposal will be submitted to the committee on coordination.

The board postponed fixing of a date for the annual spring conference with citizens on the next budget until the school appropriation bill now before Congress is disposed of.

A survey to get information on supplementary feeding of school children was proposed by the District Congress of Parents and Teachers and taken under consideration by the personnel committee and school officials at a closed meeting following the regular meeting. Further study will be given the proposal, it was announced after the meeting.

GIRL, 16, CONFESSES SLUGGING MOTHER

Parent Is Still in Hospital; Assault First Blamed on Purse-Snatcher.

Admitting that the reported assault and robbery of her mother was subterfuge, Miss Theresa Faber, 16, last night confessed to Eleventh Precinct police that she had attacked her mother, Mrs. Margaret Faber, 48, 4132 Galt place northeast, on the night of March 9.

Mrs. Faber was knocked unconscious at Barnes place and Minnesota avenue northeast as she and her daughter were returning home from a motion-picture show. It was reported at the time that Mrs. Faber had been slugged by a colored man, who took her purse containing about $10. The purse was found the next day near the scene.

According to police, the daughter said she became angry at her mother during a quarrel about a man with whom she was keeping company, and struck her with a stone.

Mrs. Faber suffered a severe head injury, which was at first diagnosed as a possible skull fracture. She is still in Casualty Hospital.

Murdered Girl, 5, Is Found in Sewer

Child Believed to Be Slain by Sharp Instrument Driven Into Brain.

Members of the police homicide squad last night were scouring the southwest section for clews following discovery of the body of a 5-year-old unidentified colored girl, apparently murdered, in a sewer at Second and R streets southwest.

The body was found shortly after 1 p. m. by James Hardy, 13, colored, of 1204 First street southwest, who ran across it while he was playing in the vicinity. He said he had been attracted to the body by the bright hue of a pair of pink bloomers on the child. The only other article of clothing on the body was a white undershirt. There were no markings that could furnish any clew to her identity.

Examination of the body revealed the fact that death was due to a compound fracture of the skull. Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald, acting coroner, said that some sharp instrument had been driven through the skull piercing the brain.

Car Wrecked and Purse Stolen All in Same Day

Lieut. Franklin D. Karnes, 39, U. S. N., can attest to the fact that misfortune sometimes comes in bunches.

His car was badly damaged in a collision with another machine at Tilden street and Connecticut avenue Tuesday afternoon, and when he returned to his apartment at 3901 Connecticut avenue he discovered that it had been ransacked and a purse containing $73 stolen from a dresser.

Hanky Days

President Sends Souvenir to Family Failing to See Inaugural.

One of the best inaugural souvenirs was received yesterday by an infant who was not only unable himself to attend the ceremonies, but kept his mother from viewing the festivities.

Murray David Schwimmer, who is one of the residents of the Cavalier Hotel, was born February 26. His parents were not able to attend the inaugural ceremonies, but the family was sent a handkerchief by the President with his name and "Happy Days" embroidered on it.

YOUTH CLUBHOUSES ON PLAYGROUND SITE

Will Be Used for Both Day and Night Activities; Opening in July.

Two clubhouses for day and night activity are being fitted up on the site of the new Northeast playground—marking a new step by playground authorities in providing permanent activity for children which will extend into the evening hours.

Expectations are that the new large playground, embracing a tract of one and three-fifths acres, will be opened on or about July 1.

The clubhouses are being fitted up in the houses at 615 and 617 Ninth street northeast, on the east boundary of the projected playground tract. One each will be equipped for boys and girls. Game rooms, meeting rooms and class rooms will be provided and trained persons will be in charge.

To allay apprehension of tenants and property owners in the neighborhood, the National Capital Park and Planning Commission yesterday announced details of the plan for playground development.

The statement of the commission emphasized that the development of the playground will await the obtaining of necessary funds and will not take place before fuel supplies of residents have been used up.

A new alley will be built at north end of 638 Tenth street northeast, while at the southern end of the playground another new alley will be located where 613 Ninth street is now located, the statement said.

Reichelderfer States Tuberculosis Dangers

Emphasizing the danger of tuberculosis, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of District Commissioners, told a radio audience last night that any person living in daily contact with a case of the disease is in danger of infection and should be examined by a physician as a preventative measure.

In his address broadcast over WRC, Dr. Reichelderfer spoke of the many famous men and women who have died of the ailment.

BOWLES ACQUITTED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Disbarred Lawyer Freed of Withholding $17,500 From Woman.

Norman S. Bowles, disbarred attorney, was acquitted late yesterday of charges of embezzling $17,500 from Miss Christine Rock.

A jury in the court of Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, in the District Supreme Court, deliberated three hours before arriving at the decision that Bowles was not guilty of failing to turn over to Miss Rock the money he took as her agent in the settlement of a claim she had against Edward B. Dean, sr., wealthy real estate operator.

The trial lasted two days. It was featured by a stout denial by Bowles that he had neglected to turn over to Miss Rock money that belonged to her. It was shown during the trial that Attorney Albert D. Esher, acting for Miss Rock, had obtained a $20,000 settlement from Dean and had turned the money over to Bowles, who, in his own defense, asserted he had given the money to Miss Rock.

Justice O'Donoghue, immediately after the verdict, ordered that Bowles be released from the bond under which he had been at liberty following his indictment.

Brown Asks Trial Of Police Captain

Pierson, Second Precinct, Is Formally Accused by Chief of Being Drunk.

Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, yesterday sent a recommendation to the District Commissioners that Capt. Joseph Pierson, Second Precinct commander, be tried on charges of intoxication before a Police Trial Board at its next meeting, probably next Wednesday.

Capt. Pierson was suspended Tuesday afternoon when he allegedly was found drunk in bed at his home, 43 T street northwest, following an anonymous telephone call to Maj. Brown. Pierson had been on sick leave since Sunday, due to a heavy cold, for which he had been treated at the police clinic.

Inspectors L. I. H. Edwards and T. R. Bean, who went to the house, said they found no liquor of any description at Pierson's home. Edwards reported that he found the captain in bed "unmistakably intoxicated" and took his badge and service revolver, suspending him forthwith.

Woman's Back Hurt in Crash.

Mrs. Sarah Greenburg, 32, of 1303 Thirty-fifth street northwest, suffered a wrenched back last night when the automobile driven by her husband, Hyman Greenburg, 45, was struck by a hit-and-run car at Sherman avenue and Morton street.

MAN SHOOTS WIFE AND KILLS HIMSELF, IMPERILING INFANT

Baby Niece Sole Witness to Tragedy in Sixteenth Street Apartment.

A spent bullet which had ripped through the face of his aunt dropped in a chair beside the crib of a 3-month-old infant, who was the only witness to a quarrel which flamed into gunfire yesterday afternoon at 1823 Sixteenth street northwest and ended in bloodshed and death.

William Sidney Edwards, 45, is dead. His wife, Mary Amanda Edwards, 39, is at Emergency Hospital seriously wounded by a bullet which he fired at her at the climax of their quarrel behind a locked bedroom door.

Samuel C. Oglesby, who is a cousin of Mrs. Edwards and lives in the rooming house which the couple conducted, said that the quarrel began when Mr. Edwards refused to answer the doorbell on his wife's request.

When the shots were heard, Oglesby and two others, John Hess and Irving Newcomb, ran to the second floor room. They broke in the door and found Mrs. Edwards prostrate on the hearth and Edwards pitched forward on the floor in front of a chair, the pistol by his knees.

The woman was removed to the hospital. After examining the room, Deputy Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said he would issue a suicide certificate for Edwards.

The infant who was in the room at the time of the shooting was the child of Mrs. Edwards' sister, neighbors said. The baby and the couple's two children, William Sidney, jr., 4, and Mary Jane, 3, were taken to relatives at 1315 Queen street northeast.

The Edwardses came here from Richmond, Va., a few months ago, police said.

The resolution also asked the committee to present the society's opposition to the recognition of Soviet Russia to Mr. Roosevelt.

Federal Bar Contends Living Costs Still High

While not opposing presidential power to cut Federal salaries provided in the economy bill which passed the Senate last night, the executive council of the Federal Bar Association plans to offer the President figures showing that living costs have not declined as much in the District as elsewhere.

Insurance rates and Federal taxes have increased in the District, while District rents have remained practically stationery, said William R. Valance, president of the association. He predicted a rise in local commodity prices.

West Virginian Pledges Aid to Boxing Measure for District.

Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, the guest speaker of the evening, pledged his support to a boxing bill for the District of Columbia and paid tribute to President Roosevelt for his recent actions to better economic conditions.

The club indorsed the bill introduced by Representative Lamar Jeffers, of Alabama, concerning changes in the civil service law dealing with veteran preferences in the civil service list.

Tough Hide

And Sense of Humor Are Needed, Reichelderfer Says, on His Job.

"A thick skin and a sense of humor."

That is the prime qualification for a Commissioner of the District of Columbia, according to Dr. Luther F. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

Leastwise that was the reply which he gave in a facetious vein to an inquiry yesterday at a meeting of the Optimists Club.

He spoke at the meeting on the District government.

SOUTHWEST SECTION CRIMES ARE FEWEST

Citizens Seeking Retention of Library Unit; Havenner Wins Indorsement.

The Southwest section of the city is productive of less crime than any other area of the District, penal and traffic violation statistics indicate.

Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, declared last night before the Southwest Citizens Association.

Maj. Brown promised to give sympathetic consideration to the requests of the association for restoration of the Fourth Precinct Station in the Southwest section and for establishments of traffic signal lights at certain intersections.

The association decided to ask retention of the branch library facilities at Neighborhood House which Dr. George T. Bowerman, head of the Public Library, has indicated must be abolished. It was pointed out that the neighborhood branch has been in existence 28 years and was the first of its type.

Appointment of Dr. George C. Havenner as a District Commissioner was favored by the association, as was the retention in office of Dr. Luther C. Reichelderfer. A committee reported playground officials have postponed leveling of the Jefferson Junior High School playground for economy reasons.

Presidential Reviewing Stand to Be Preserved

The center section of the reviewing stand from which President Roosevelt reviewed the inaugural parade will not be dismantled with the rest of the stands, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks announced yesterday.

The stand, a reproduction of the Federal Building in New York in which President George Washington was inaugurated, will be preserved as far as possible. It was not originally built for any permanent use and some of the construction materials are perishable. No decision has been reached as to where the stand will be located.

Brief Warm Spell Momentarily Over

Budding Trees, Harbingers of Spring, Expected Next Monday.

That the warmth of the first days of the week was only a respite was evident as yesterday's cold winds sent the thermometer down again.

A low temperature of 30 degrees is expected this morning. However, the Weather Bureau says that it will slowly rise from that point, but not past 45 degrees.

Budding trees are indicating their anticipation of the official advent of spring, which will arrive, in name if not in kind, next Monday—the vernal equinox.

ZONE BOARD DENIES CHEVY CHASE PLEA FOR BUSINESS AREA

Commercial Status Asked on Avenue North of Northampton Street.

The District zoning commission late yesterday denied a petition for rezoning of certain property on the west side of Connecticut avenue, between Northampton street and Chevy Chase Circle, following a special public hearing.

The decision was probably the last to come from the present commission, which is likely to lose three of its members before the next regular zoning hearing. It concerned a moot issue on which two previous hearings have been held.

Involved in the case was a plan to move the Chevy Chase Baptist Church from Western avenue to a point on Chevy Chase Circle between Connecticut and Western avenues. This was to be done by promoters of the proposal to change the zoning just north of Northampton street from residential to commercial.

Sponsors of the change also offered to dedicate 40 feet of land just north of Northampton street between Connecticut avenue and Thirty-ninth street, to permit the widening of Northampton street, in exchange for the closing of Thirty-ninth street north of Northampton.

Opponents of the petition for rezoning pointed out that covenants in the deeds on the property involved prohibited their use for commercial purposes. Among those who opposed the plan were Edwin S. Hege, of the Chevy Chase Citizens Associations; A. G. Doyle, of the Chevy Chase Land Co.; Walter Dunlop, Cyril J. Smith and other property owners in the immediate vicinity.

Kelly Again Backs U.S. University Bill

Introduces Measure for Utilizing $25,000 Bequest of Washington.

Representative Kelly (Republican), Pennsylvania, yesterday again introduced in the House his bill for establishment of a university of the United States in the District.

The measure, which failed in the last session, would take George Washington's bequest of $25,000 for a national university as a base, and appropriate compound interest at 5 per cent from 1799, the date of the will. It would appropriate $1,000,000 a year to maintain the university.

The institution, open to all persons qualified for a master of arts degree, would be governed by a board of regents composed of the President, the Chief Justice, the commissioner of education, the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, the president of the university, five private citizens and representatives of national research and education associations.

"THE HECHT CO.'S 37th Anniversary Suits Me"

Says EDDIE CANTOR, U. S. A.

I've been telling you folks to try a little tenderness for such a long time, I've decided to try a little on myself for a change. So, between shows at the Fox, yesterday afternoon I hopped down to The Hecht Co., bought myself a suit, said hello to the boys and girls, put a little money in circulation, saved a little bit for myself, helped turn the wheels of commerce, did my share to back up the Administration, and there you are . . . what more do you w-a-n-t? Incidentally action is what the President asked . . . and The Hecht Co. is giving Washington action in its 37th Anniversary Sale!
